Berlin Cabaret Peter JELAVICH, 2009-06-30 Step into Ernst Wolzogen's Motley Theater Max Reinhardt's Sound and Smoke Rudolf Nelson's Chat noir and Friedrich Hollaender's Tingel Tangel Enjoy Claire Waldoff's rendering of a lower class Berliner Kurt Tucholsky's satirical songs and Walter Mehring's Dadaist experiments as Peter Jelavich spotlights Berlin's cabarets from the day the curtain first went up in 1901 until the Nazi regime brought it down Fads and fashions sexual mores and political ideologies all were subject to satire and parody on the cabaret stage This book follows the changing treatment of these themes and the fate of cabaret itself through the most turbulent decades of modern German history the prosperous and optimistic Imperial age the unstable yet culturally inventive Weimar era and the repressive years of National Socialism By situating cabaret within Berlin's rich landscape of popular culture and distinguishing it from vaudeville and variety theaters spectacular revues prurient nude dancing and Communist agitprop Jelavich revises the prevailing image of this form of entertainment Neither highly politicized like postwar German Kabarett nor sleazy in the way that some American and European films suggest Berlin cabaret occupied a middle ground that let it cast an ironic eye on the goings on of Berliners and other Germans However it was just this satirical attitude toward serious themes such as politics and racism that blinded cabaret to the strength of the radical right wing forces that ultimately destroyed it Jelavich concludes with the Berlin cabaret artists final performances as prisoners in the concentration camps at Westerbork and Theresienstadt This book gives us a sense of what the world looked like within the cabarets of Berlin and at the same time lets us see from a historical distance these lost performers enacting the political sexual and artistic issues that made their city one of the most dynamic in Europe

Cities and the Cultural Economy Thomas A. Hutton, 2015-08-27 The cultural economy forms a leading trajectory of urban development and has emerged as a key facet of globalizing cities Cultural industries include new media digital arts music and film and the design industries and professions as well as allied consumption and spectacle in the city The cultural economy now represents the third largest sector in many metropolitan cities of the West including London Berlin New York San Francisco and Melbourne and is increasingly influential in the development of East Asian cities Tokyo Shanghai Hong Kong and Singapore as well as the mega cities of the Global South e.g. Mumbai Capetown and S o Paulo Cities and the Cultural Economy provides a critical integration of the burgeoning research and policy literatures in one of the most prominent sub fields of contemporary urban studies Policies for cultural economy are increasingly evident within planning development and place marketing programs requiring large resource commitments

but producing on the evidence highly uneven results Accordingly the volume includes a critical review of how the new cultural economy is reshaping urban labour housing and property markets contributing to gentrification and to precarious employment formation as well as to broadly favorable outcomes such as community regeneration and urban vitality The volume acknowledges the important growth dynamics and sustainability of key creative industries Written primarily as a text for upper level undergraduate and Masters students in urban economic and social geography sociology cultural studies and planning this provocative and compelling text will also be of interest to those studying urban land economics architecture landscape architecture and the built environment The Electronic City Ulrike Bucher,Maro Finka,2011-01-01 The topic The Electronic City refers to the introduction and the consequences of the new information and communication technologies for urban life In which way can E Europe for all be realised How can the digital divide be overcome What are the consequences for the socially disfavoured groups and how can they participate in the E City Is human behaviour different in virtual space These are the questions which are part of many discourses on this topic and which are addressed in this book a ReiheFuture Urban Research in Europe Band 1 Nachhaltige Lösungen für die Informationsgesellschaft Manfred Schrenk,2006 Higher Education in Regional and City Development: Berlin, Germany 2010 OECD,2010-10-22 This publication explores a range of helpful policy measures and institutional reforms to mobilise higher education for Berlin's development Gay Tourism Gordon Waitt,Kevin Markwell,2014-06-03 The pink tourism dollar is now recognized as a highly profitable niche of the tourism market Gay Tourism Culture and Context critically investigates the emergence of a commercial gay tourism industry for male clients the way it is organized and how the tourism industry promotes cities resorts and nations as gay destinations This careful examination critically questions the social political and cultural implications regarding relationships between gay tourism Western gay male culture the erotic sexual politics and sexual diversity The New Economy in Transatlantic Perspective Kurt Huebner,2005-02-03 What's left from the new economy This book takes an unfashionable perspective and shows that despite all the mistaken ideas and exaggerations the technological changes of the 1990s still have important effects today Economic history shows that technological revolutions tend to generate deep economic and social crises before a temporary state of equilibrium is reached The established modes of accumulations and regimes of regulation of national capitalism and international capitalism have been undermined by the collapse of the high tech asset bubble Financial markets are still in disarray What can be observed however is that national economies are better positioned to tackle the crisis than others Why is this This and other important questions are tackled by an international team of contributors including Daniele Archibugi Harald Hagemann Bruno Amable Martin Heidenreich and David Gibbs This volume should be of great interest to all those working at the intersection of international politics and economics Annual Report Connecticut. Public Utilities Commission,1971 The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Futures Robert C. Brears,2023-01-13 While urban settlements are the drivers of the global economy and centres of learning culture and innovation and nations rely on competitive dynamic regions for their economic social and environmental objectives urban centres and regions face a myriad of challenges that impact the ways in which people live and work create wealth and interact and connect with places Rapid urbanisation is resulting in urban sprawl rising emissions urban poverty and high unemployment rates housing affordability issues lack of urban investment low urban financial and governance capacities rising inequality and urban crimes environmental degradation increasing vulnerability to natural disasters and so forth At the regional level low employment low wage growth scarce financial resources climate change waste and pollution and rising urban peri urban competition etc are impacting the ability of regions to meet socio economic development goals while protecting biodiversity The response to these challenges has typically been the application of inadequate or piecemeal solutions often as a result of fragmented decision making and competing priorities with numerous economic environmental and social consequences In response there is a growing movement towards viewing cities and regions as complex and sociotechnical in nature with people and communities interacting with one another and with objects such as roads buildings transport links etc within a range of urban and regional settings or contexts This comprehensive MRW will provide readers with expert interdisciplinary knowledge on how urban centres and regions in locations of varying climates lifestyles income levels and stages development are creating synergies and reducing trade offs in the development of resilient resource efficient environmentally friendly liveable socially equitable integrated and technology enabled centres and regions

Urban Tourism in the Developing World Christian Myles Rogerson, Gustav Visser, Over the past decade the field of urban tourism has consolidated with the appearance of several books that concentrate upon the Western European and North American experience Recently the scope and range of urban research has widened considerably including the welcome appearance of studies that examine the tourism phenomenon in cities outside the Euro American heartland Despite this growing international body of debate and scholarship on tourism and cities particularly in the developed North literature that relates to the developing world as a whole and to Africa in particular remains sparse The task of Urban Tourism in the Developing World The South African Experience is to augment the current international scholarship concerning urban tourism in the developing world More especially the contributors draw attention to a range of case studies from South Africa that provide some starting points to address the uneven scholarly coverage of urban tourism the African context has received to date In addition the research material presented here seeks to contribute toward raising the South African and indeed the African profile within growing international scholarship concerning issues of urban tourism and development This collection aims to expand an emerging South African and African tourism research voice concerning the tourism and development nexus as well as to stem critiques that this body of research appears to have developed in a theoretical vacuum divorced from broader international tourism research discourses This collection of essays not only further develops an independent South African tourism perspective but also presents research that is closely tied to international urban tourism research debates In addition this analysis of urban tourism in the South African context enriches the rather Western oriented theories of urban tourism discourse through its emphasis on how urban tourism is evolving in urban Africa Christian M Rogerson is professor of human geography in the School of Geography Archaeology and Environmental Studies University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg South Africa Gustav Visser is senior lecturer in human geography in the Department of Geography University of the Free State Bloemfontein South Africa
