Bertoia Mirola And The Farnese Court:

Bertoia, Mirola and the Farnese Court Diane DeGrazia, 1991 Study of Jacopo Bertoia regarded as the finest painter of the late 16th century Farnese court and of Girolamo Mirola now thought to have painted much of the work previously attributed to Bertoia Sixteenth-century Italian Drawings in New York Collections William Griswold, Linda Wolk-Simon, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1994 Focusing exclusively on examples from the 16th century the great age of Italian drawing this stunning volume published to accompany an early 1994 exhibition at The Metropolitan Museum of Art includes 124 prized works from The Metropolitan the Pierpont Morgan Library the Cooper Hewitt Museum and some 20 private collections in New York The catalogue is organized by school and within each section chronologically by artist Each drawing is illustrated and presented with a discussion that places it in the context of the artist's career and explores the purpose for which it was made Paper edition unseen 35 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Court Cities of Northern Italy Charles M. Rosenberg, 2010-06-21 This volume examines the painting sculpture decorative arts and architecture produced in nine important court cities of Italy during the course of the fourteenth fifteenth and sixteenth centuries Although each chapter represents a separate study of a particular geographical locale many common themes emerge This volume gives a multifaceted consideration of the art created for princes prelates confraternities and civic authorities works displayed in public squares private palaces churches and town halls Including six essays specially commissioned that explore the interaction of artists and their civic and or courtly patrons within the context of prevailing cultural political and religious circumstances The Court Cities of Northern Italy provides a rich supplement to traditional accounts of the artistic heritage of the Italian Renaissance which has traditionally focused on the Florentine Venetian and Roman traditions The book includes 35 color plates and 221 black and white illustrations Women, Art, and Architecture in Northern Italy, 1520-1580 Katherine A. McIver, 2017-09-29 Expanding interdisciplinary investigations into gender and material culture Katherine A McIver here adds a new dimension to Renaissance patronage studies by considering domestic art the decoration of the domestic interior as opposed to patronage of the fine arts painting sculpture and architecture Taking a multidimensional approach McIver looks at women as collectors of precious material goods as organizers of the early modern home and as decorators of its interior By analyzing the inventories of women's possessions McIver considers the wide range of domestic objects that women owned such as painted and inlaid chests painted wall panels tapestries fine fabrics for wall and bed hangings and elaborate jewelry pendant earrings brooches garlands for the hair necklaces and rings as well as personal devotional objects Considering all forms of patronage opportunities open to women she evaluates their role in commissioning and utilizing works of art and architecture as a means of negotiating power in the court setting in the process offering fresh insights into their lives limitations and the possibilities open to them as patrons Using her subjects financial records to track their sources of income and the circumstances under which it was spent McIver thereby also provides insights into issues of Renaissance women's economic rights and responsibilities. The primary focus on the lives and patronage patterns of three relatively unknown women: Laura Pallavicina, Sanvitale Giacomina Pallavicina, and Camilla Pallavicina provides a new model for understanding what women bought, displayed, collected, and commissioned. By moving beyond the traditional artistic centers of Florence, Venice, and Rome, analyzing instead women's artistic patronage in the feudal courts around Parma and Piacenza during the sixteenth century, McIver nuances our understanding of women's position and power both in and out of the home. Carefully integrating extensive archival Architectural Invention in Renaissance Rome Yvonne Elet, 2018-01-11 Villa Madama, Raphael's late masterwork of architecture, landscape, and decoration for the Medici popes is a paradigm of the Renaissance villa. The creation of this important unfinished complex provides a remarkable case study for the nature of architectural invention. Drawing on little-known poetry describing the villa while it was on the drawing board, as well as ground plans, letters, and antiquities once installed there, Yvonne Elet reveals the design process to have been a dynamic collaborative effort involving humanists as well as architects. She explores design as a self-reflexive process and the dialectic of text and architectural form, illuminating the relation of word and image in Renaissance architectural practice. Her revisionist account of architectural design as a process engaging different systems of knowledge, visual and verbal, has important implications for the relation of architecture and language, meaning in architecture, and the translation of idea into form.
