Russian Views of Japan, 1792-1913 David N. Wells, 2004-08-02 Before Japan was opened up in the 1850s contact with Russia as well as other western maritime nations was extremely limited Yet from the early eighteenth century onwards as a result of their expanding commercial interests in East Asia and the North Pacific Russians had begun to encounter Japanese and were increasingly eager to establish diplomatic and trading relations with Japan This book presents rare narratives written by Russians including official envoys scholars and later tourists who visited Japan between 1792 and 1913 The introduction and notes set

these narratives in the context of the history of Russo Japanese relations and the genre of European travel writing showing how the Russian writers combined ethnographic interests with the assertion of Russian and European values simultaneously inscribing power relations and negotiating cultural difference
