Departures How Australia Reinvents Itself:

Departures Xavier Pons, 2002 A collection of essays by various Australian and European authors on a wide range of Australian cultural topics this is a story of struggle and achievement and occasional failure Departures deals with innovation and transgression in Australian literature and history and brings out the vitality of Australian culture as it meets new challenges Slicing the Silence Tom Griffiths, 2007 The author reflects on his experiences exploring Antarctica the last true wilderness New Earth Histories Alison Bashford, Emily M. Kern, Adam Bobbette, 2023-11-06 This book brings the history of the geosciences and world cosmologies together exploring many traditions including Chinese South and Southeast Asian Pacific Islamic and Indigenous conceptions of earth's origin and makeup Together the chapters ask How have different ideas about the sacred animate and earthly changed modern environmental science How have different world traditions understood human and geological origins How does the inclusion of multiple cosmologies change the meaning of the Anthropocene and the ongoing global climate crisis By thinking carefully through and with other cosmologies New Earth Histories sets a new agenda for history The chapters consider debates about the age and structure of the earth how humans and earth systems interact and empire is conceived in multiple traditions The methods the authors deploy are diverse from cultural history visual and material studies and ethnography to name a few and the effect is to highlight how earth knowledge emerged from historically specific situations New Earth Histories provides both a framework for studying science at a global scale and fascinating examples to educate as well as inspire future work Essential reading for students and scholars of earth science history environmental humanities history of science and religion and science and empire

Directory of World Cinema: Australia and New Zealand Ben Goldsmith, Geoff Lealand, 2010-12-15 This addition to Intellect's Directory of World Cinema series turns the spotlight on Australia and New Zealand and offers an in depth and exciting look at the cinema produced in these two countries since the turn of the twentieth century Though the two nations share considerable cultural and economic connections their film industries remain distinct marked by differences of scale level of government involvement and funding and relations with other countries and national cinemas Through essays about prominent genres and themes profiles of directors and comprehensive reviews of significant titles this user friendly guide explores the diversity and distinctiveness of films from Australia and New Zealand from Whale Rider to The Piano to Wolf Creek Landscape Nicole Graham, 2010-07-07 Addressing law's relationship to land and natural resources through its property regime Landscape Property Environment Law considers the ways in which property law transforms both natural environments and social economies Violence in France and Australia Craig Browne, Justine McGill, 2022-05-18 Examines the racial and ethnic dimensions of forms of marginality and the relationships between the welfare state and the postcolonial background to contemporary violence Haunting in Chinese-Australian Writing Xiao Xiong, 2023-06-26 This book examines haunting in terms of trauma languaging and the supernatural in works by Chinese Australian writers born in Australia Mainland China Hong Kong Malaysia and Singapore It goes beyond the conventional focus on identity issues in the analysis of diasporic writing considering how the memory of past trauma is triggered by abusive systems of power in the present The author unpacks how trauma also brings past violence to haunt the present This book considers how different Chinese diasporic communities present a dynamic and multiple state through partial erasure between different Chinese subcultures and other cultures Showing the supernatural as a social and cultural product this book elucidates how haunting as the supernatural refers to the coexistence of and the competition between different cultures and powers It takes a wide ranging view of different diasporic communities under the banner Chinese a term that refers not only to Chinese nationals in terms of citizenship but also to the Chinese diaspora in terms of ancestry and Chinese culture more generally In analysing haunting in texts the author positions Chinese culture as in a constant state of flux It is relevant to literary scholars and students with interests in Australian literature Chinese and Southeast Asian migration writing and those with an interest in the Gothic and postcolonial traditions

Travel Writing from Black Australia Robert Clarke, 2015-11-19 Over the past thirty years the Australian travel experience has been Aboriginalized Aboriginality has been appropriated to furnish the Australian nation with a unique and identifiable tourist brand This is deeply ironic given the realities of life for many Aboriginal people in Australian society On the one hand Aboriginality in the form of artworks literature performances landscapes sport and famous individuals is celebrated for the way it blends exoticism mysticism multiculturalism nationalism and reconciliation On the other hand in the media cinema and travel writing Aboriginality in the form of the lived experiences of Aboriginal people has been exploited in the service of moral panic patronized in the name of white benevolence or simply ignored For many travel writers this irony the clash between different regimes of valuing Aboriginality is one of the great challenges to travelling in Australia Travel Writing from Black Australia examines the ambivalence of contemporary travelers engagements with Aboriginality Concentrating on a period marked by the rise of discourses on Aboriginality championing indigenous empowerment self determination and reconciliation the author analyses how travel to Black Australia has become for many travelers a means of discovering new and potentially transformative styles of interracial engagement

Colonial Psychosocial David Crouch, 2015-01-12 A small bespectacled man with impressive moustaches and a devastating way with words William Lane was at first delighted with the pliant disposition of the society he found emerging in the colonies of Australia The nascent nation was awash with radical ideas and inherited bigotries but also obsessed with itself and uneasy about its own place and composition To this combustible atmosphere Lane contributed all the excesses of his blistering rhetoric and seductive hyperbole he mesmerised his audience with all the things it feared Colonial Psychosocial traverses the darkness of colonial cities descriptions of opium dens and Fan Tan gambling rooms tales of race war and the morbid textual dissections of alien interlopers it delves into vicious narratives of invasion and expulsion inscrutable crowds and rioting mobs Through the focus provided by Lane s life and writing the book traces phantasmagorias of deformity disease and degenerative decline it considers the fate of the workingman's paradise a miscellanea of socialist nationalist and utopian delusion and the disorienting appearance of modernity in the colonial laboratory. It follows the dictatorship and demise of New Australia, a settlement in Paraguay based on purity of blood and closes with the violence and idealism of a transnational twilight in New Zealand. Lane helped shape a lexicon of exclusion and denial that suffused the colonies. His divisive social commentary fed a fantasy of Australia that became the persistent rationale for aggressive assertions of identity. Through Lane, this study develops a way of approaching the historically situated and discursively shaped anxieties that were invigorated by the uncertainties bred at the edges of empire, distilled in a pervasive lexicon of race thinking and made part of far wider technologies of social control.

Making Waves M Goss, 2013-07-10. This book is an abbreviated, partly re-written version of Under the Radar: The First Woman in Radio Astronomy by Ruby Payne Scott. It addresses a general readership interested in historical and sociological aspects of astronomy and presents the biography of Ruby Payne Scott (1912-1981). As the first female radio astronomer and one of the first people in the world to consider radio astronomy, she made classic contributions to solar radio physics. She also played a major role in the design of the Australian government's Council for Scientific and Industrial Research radars, which were in turn of vital importance in the Southwest Pacific Theatre in World War II. These radars were used by military personnel from Australia, the United States, and New Zealand. From a sociological perspective, her career offers many examples of the perils of being a female academic in the first half of the 20th century. Written in an engaging style and complemented by many historical photographs, this book offers fascinating insights into the beginnings of radio astronomy and the role of a pioneering woman in astronomy. To set the scene, the first colourfully illustrated chapter presents an overview of solar astrophysics and the tools of the radio astronomer. From the reviews of Under the Radar: This is a beautifully researched, copiously illustrated and well-written book that tells us much more than the life of one amazing female radio astronomer. It also provides a profile on radar developments during WWII and on Australia's pre-eminent place in solar radio astronomy in the years following WWII. Under the Radar is compelling reading and if you have taken the time to read right through this review, then it certainly belongs on your bookshelf. Wayne Orchiston, Journal of Astronomical History and Heritage, March 2010.

Men at Play Jonathan Bollen, Bruce Parr, Adrian Kiernander, 2008. How are masculinities enacted in Australian theatre? How do Australian playwrights depict masculinities in the present and the past in the bush and on the beach, in the city and in the suburbs? How do Australian plays dramatise gender issues like father-son relations, romance and intimacy, violence and bullying, mateship and homosexuality, race relations between men and men's experiences of war and migration? Men at Play explores theatre's role in presenting and contesting images of masculinity in Australia. It ranges from often-produced plays of the 1950s to successful contemporary plays from Dick Diamond's Reedy River, Ray Lawler's Summer of the Seventeenth Doll, Richard Beynon's The Shifting Heart and Alan Seymour's The One Day of the Year to David Williamson's Sons of Cain, Richard Barrett's The Heartbreak Kid, Gordon Graham's The Boys and Nick

Enright's Blackrock The book looks at plays as they are produced in the theatre and masculinity as it is enacted on the stage It is written in an accessible style for students and teachers in drama at university and senior high school The book's contribution to contemporary debates about masculinity will also interest scholars in gender race and sexuality studies literary studies and Australian history

Whitening Race Aileen Moreton-Robinson, 2004 Whitening Race comes to fruition at a time in world history and global politics when questions about race require critical investigation and engagement Since the 1990s international scholars have developed a powerful cultural critique by making whiteness an analytical object of research Whiteness has become the invisible norm against which other races are judged in the construction of identity representation subjectivity nationalism and the law With its focus on Australia the book engages with relations between migration Indigenous dispossession and whiteness It creates a new intellectual space that investigates the nature of racialised conditions and their role in reproducing colonising relations in Australia Aileen Moreton Robinson has brought together scholars from a range of disciplines philosophy cultural and gender studies education social work sociology and literary studies All engage critically with the location of the social and discursive construction of whiteness

Under the Radar M Goss, Richard McGee, 2009-09-24 It is rare for a complete biography of an Australian scientist particularly of an Australian woman scientist to be published It is rarer for such a book to be co-authored by an American Although scientists have written discourses on the history of their discipline it is most unusual for a scientist to write a full-length biography of a colleague in his field It is also uncommon for a man to write about an Australian woman scientist most of the work on Australian women scientists has been done by other women However these authors both distinguished researchers in the field of radio astronomy became so interested in the history of their discipline and in the career of the pioneer radio astronomer Ruby Payne Scott that they spent some years bringing this book to fruition Until relatively recently Ruby Payne Scott had been the only woman scientist mentioned briefly in histories of Australian science or of Australian radio astronomy This book will be an invaluable resource for anyone interested in these disciplines Being scientists themselves the authors explain Payne Scott's scientific work in detail therefore the value and importance of her contributions can for the first time be recognised not only by historians but also by scientists

Darkness Subverted Katrin Althans, 2010 English summary At the heart of the Gothic novel proper lies the discursive binary of self and other which in colonial literature was quickly filled with representations of the colonial master and his indigenous subject Contemporary black Australian artists have usurped this colonial Gothic discourse torn it to pieces and finally transformed it into an Aboriginal Gothic This study first develops the theoretical concept of an Aboriginal Gothic and then uses this term as a tool to analyse novels by Vivienne Cleven Mudrooroo Kim Scott Sam Watson and Alexis Wright as well as films directed by Beck Cole and Tracey Moffatt It centres on the question of how a genuinely European mode the Gothic can be permeated and thus digested by elements of indigenous Australian culture in order to portray the current situation of Aboriginal Australians and to celebrate a recovered cultural identity Just Words? Bernadette Brennan, 2010-09-14 Can words make Australia a better place Can writing help to inform a collective national consciousness Over the past decade Australians have witnessed a significant shift to more insular and conservative economic ethical and cultural norms The problems of valuing and achieving justice seem more acute than ever yet the solutions to those problems are not obvious nor are those in power taking the lead In this powerful collection Australian writers including Gail Jones Eva Sallis and Frank Brennan explore the relationship between writing and justice a relationship utterly dependent on informed ethical readers These essays from poets essayists academics playwrights critics and novelists demonstrate how it is possible for writing to articulate concerns of justice enlighten the broader community and move citizens to action Brian Castro's Fiction , That Was Then, This Is Now Anne Clarke, Ursula K. Frederick, 2016-02-08 That Was Then This Is Now is a compendium of innovative research into the ideas experiences and iconographies embodied in materialities of the recent past Drawing upon a variety of disciplines including archaeology history art and cultural geography authors examine themes of relevance to the contemporary world such as the impacts of automobility the invisible effects of radioactivity and the scale of future cities It serves as a reminder moreover that issues that confront us as global citizens mass consumption population growth technological development and the conditions of belonging find expression in the everyday objects images and vestiges encountered in our ordinary lives Through their examination of such artefacts as comic books road memorials bullet holes showbags and cable ties the authors explore the complex relations between people places and things and the emotions underpinning them nostalgia play grief and humour Issues and ideas of international scope are addressed through a focused approach as authors locate their site specific studies in both rural and urban geographies as well as in the spaces of the imagination the universe and even the personal home Given the enormous scale and diversity of material generated by the practices of living in the present it is difficult to imagine how the archaeologies and material cultures of the contemporary world may be defined The studies presented here offer a way forward and in doing so point reflexively to the past as well as the now and the future of things to come Global English, Transnational Flows Katherine E. Russo, 2012 Yes, Premier John Wanner, Paul D. Williams, 2005 Since 2002 and for the first time since Federation all state and territory governments in Australia have been held by the Australian Labor Party Yes Premier features a chapter on each state or territory and in each case focuses on the leader who has led their party to power and so created this unprecedented and historical situation It examines each Labor premier and in Tasmania's case two and territory chief minister's individual rise to power and their political and personal style The chapters are written by experts in the politics and political culture of their home state Part personal and part political biographies the chapters also assess the instruments of leadership any modern state or territory leader must master in order to remain in the top job BOOK JACKET The City's Outback Gillian Cowlishaw, 2010-10 This honest and compelling book follows the fraught exciting and painful process of getting to know others in this case Australian Aborigines in the suburbs who are already known through shocking images and worrying statistics Gillian Cowlshaw has written a book about the intimacy of the encounter the practical and ethical dilemmas of res
