Makers of Modern Strategy from

Machiavelli to the Nuclear Age Peter Paret, Gordon A. Craig, Felix Gilbert, 2010-10-01
Authoritative and convincing New York Times Book Review The classic reference on the theory and practice of war The essays in this volume analyze war its strategic characteristics and its political and social functions over the past five centuries The diversity of its themes and the broad perspectives applied to them make the book a work of general history as much as a history of the theory and practice of war from the Renaissance to the present Makers of Modern Strategy from Machiavelli to the Nuclear Age takes the first part of its title from an earlier collection of essays that became a classic of historical scholarship Three essays are repinted from the earlier book while four others have been extensively revised The rest twenty two essays are new The subjects addressed range from major theorists and political and military leaders to impersonal forces Machiavelli Clausewitz and Marx and Engels are discussed as are Napoleon Churchill and Mao Other essays trace the interaction of theory and experience over generations the evolution of American strategy for instance or the emergence of revolutionary war in the modern world Still others analyze the strategy of particular conflicts the First and Second World Wars or the relationship between technology policy and war in the nuclear age Whatever its theme each essay places the specifics of military thought and action in their political social and economic environment Together the contributors have produced a book that reinterprets and illuminates war one of the most powerful forces in history and one that cannot be controlled in the future without an understanding of its past

The Wehrmacht Retreats Robert M. Citino, 2016-09-16
Throughout 1943 the German army heirs to a military tradition that demanded and perfected relentless offensive operations succumbed to the realities of its own overreach and the demands of twentieth century industrialized warfare In his new study prizewinning author Robert Citino chronicles this weakening Wehrmacht now fighting desperately on the defensive but still remarkably dangerous and lethal Drawing on his impeccable command of German language sources Citino offers fresh vivid and detailed treatments of key campaigns during this fateful year the Allied landings in North Africa General von Manstein's great counterstroke in front of Kharkov the German attack at Kasserine Pass the titanic engagement of tanks and men at Kursk the Soviet counteroffensives at Orel and Belgorod and the Allied landings in Sicily and Italy Through these events he reveals how a military establishment historically configured for violent aggression reacted when the tables were turned how German commanders viewed their newest enemy the U S Army after brutal fighting against the British and Soviets and why despite their superiority in materiel and manpower the Allies were unable to turn 1943 into a much more decisive year Applying the keen operational analysis for which he is so highly regarded Citino contends that virtually every flawed German decision to defend Tunis to attack at Kursk and then call off the offensive to abandon Sicily to defend Italy high up the boot and then down much closer to the toe had strong supporters among the army's officer corps. He looks at all of these engagements from the perspective of each combatant nation and also establishes beyond a shadow of a doubt the synergistic interplay between the fronts. Ultimately Citino produces a grim portrait of the German officer corps dispelling the longstanding tendency to blame every bad decision on Hitler. Filled with telling vignettes and sharp portraits and copiously documented, The Wehrmacht Retreats is a dramatic and fast-paced narrative that will engage military historians and general readers alike.

Death of the Wehrmacht Robert M. Citino, 2007-10-22 For Hitler and the German military 1942 was a key turning point of World War II as an overstretched but still lethal Wehrmacht replaced brilliant victories and huge territorial gains with stalemates and strategic retreats. In this major reevaluation of that crucial year Robert Citino shows that the German army's emerging woes were rooted as much in its addiction to the war of movement attempts to smash the enemy in short and lively campaigns as they were in Hitler's deeply flawed management of the war. From the overwhelming operational victories at Kerch and Kharkov in May to the catastrophic defeats at El Alamein and Stalingrad Death of the Wehrmacht offers an eye-opening new view of that decisive year. Building upon his widely respected critique in The German Way of War Citino shows how the campaigns of 1942 fit within the centuries-old patterns of Prussian German warmaking and ultimately doomed Hitler's expansionist ambitions. He examines every major campaign and battle in the Russian and North African theaters throughout the year to assess how a military geared to quick and decisive victories coped when the tide turned against it. Citino also reconstructs the German generals' view of the war and illuminates the multiple contingencies that might have produced more favorable results. In addition he cites the fatal extreme aggressiveness of German commanders like Erwin Rommel and assesses how the German system of command and its commitment to the independence of subordinate commanders suffered under the thumb of Hitler and chief of staff General Franz Halder. More than the turning point of a war 1942 marked the death of a very old and traditional pattern of warmaking with the classic German way of war unable to meet the challenges of the twentieth century. Blending masterly research with a gripping narrative Citino's remarkable work provides a fresh and revealing look at how one of history's most powerful armies began to founder in its quest for world domination.

The Nazi Era, 1919-1945 Helen Kehr, 1982 Germany and the Second World War Horst Boog, Werner Rahn, Reinhard Stumpf, Bernd Wegner, 2001-09-13 This is the sixth volume in the comprehensive and authoritative series Germany and the Second World War. It deals with the extension of a European into a global war in the period from 1941 to 1943. It focuses on the politics, strategy and operations of the belligerent powers as Germany lost the initiative to the Allies and it represents both in content and in composition the climax and turning points of the war. Series description This is the sixth in the magisterial ten-volume Germany and the Second World War series. The six volumes so far published in German take the story to 1943 and have achieved international acclaim as a major contribution to historical study. Under the auspices of the Militärgeschichtliches Forschungsamt Research Institute for Military History a team of renowned historians has combined a full synthesis of existing material with the latest research to produce what will be the definitive history of the Second World War from the German point of view The comprehensive analysis based on detailed scholarly research is underpinned by a full apparatus of maps diagrams and tables Intensively researched and documented Germany and the Second World War is an undertaking of unparalleled scope and authority It will prove indispensable to all historians of the twentieth century Inside Hitler's High Command Geoffrey P. Megargee, 2000-06-08 Challenging previous accounts Geoffrey Megargee shatters the myth that German generals would have prevailed in World War II if only Hitler had not meddled in their affairs Indeed Megargee argues the German high command was much more flawed than many have suspected or acknowledged Inside Hitler's High Command reveals that while Hitler was the central figure in many military decisions his generals were equal partners in Germany's catastrophic defeat Megargee exposes the structure processes and personalities that governed the Third Reich's military decision making and shows how Germany's presumed battlefield superiority was undermined by poor strategic and operational planning at the highest levels His study tracks the evolution of German military leadership under the Nazis from 1933 to 1945 and expands our understanding of the balance of power within the high command the role of personalities in its organizational development and the influence of German military intellectuals on its structure and function He also shows how the organization of the high command was plagued by ambition stubbornness political intrigue and overworked staff officers And his a week in the life chapter puts the high command under a magnifying glass to reveal its inner workings during the fierce fighting on the Russian Front in December 1941 Megargee also offers new insights into the high command crises of 1938 and shows how German general staff made fatal mistakes in their planning for Operation Barbarossa in 1941 Their arrogant dismissal of the Soviet military's ability to defend its homeland and virtual disregard for the extensive intelligence and sound logistics that undergirded successful large scale military campaigns ultimately came back to haunt them In the final assessment observes Megargee the generals' strategic ideas were no better than Hitler's and often worse Heinz Guderian Franz Halder and the rest were as guilty of self deception as their Fuhrer believing that innate German superiority and strength of will were enough to overcome nearly any obstacle Inside Hitler's High Command exposes these surprising flaws and illuminates the process of strategy and decision making in the Third Reich Special Bibliography, 1977

Messerschmitt Bf 110 Zerstörer Aces of World War 2 John Weal, 2012-10-20 This volume is the first of its type to be devoted exclusively to the Zerstörer day fighter aces spanning the war years from Poland to the defence of the Reich Although Messerschmitt's single engined Bf 109 has received most of the plaudits for achieving virtual air superiority over Europe in 1939-40 the exploits of the manufacturer's twin engined Bf 110 the Ju 88 and the Me 410 Zerstörer in the first year of the war also make for very impressive reading Indeed on the eve of World War 2 a posting to a Bf 110 unit was considered to be the best career move available in the Luftwaffe
