Der Totenwald, Ein Bericht Ernst Wiechert, 1946 Der Totenwald Ernst Emil Wiechert, 1988 Der Buchenwald-Report David A. Hackett, 2010 Literature of the Holocaust Alan Rosen, 2013-11-14 During and in the aftermath of the dark period of the Holocaust writers across Europe and America sought to express their feelings and experiences through their writings This book provides a comprehensive account of these writings through essays from expert scholars covering a wide geographic linguistic thematic and generic range of materials Such an overview is particularly appropriate at a time when the corpus of Holocaust literature has grown to immense proportions and when guidance is needed in determining a canon of essential readings a context to interpret them and a paradigm for the evolution of writing on the Holocaust The expert contributors to this volume who negotiate the literature in the original languages provide insight into the influence of national traditions and the importance of language especially but not exclusively Yiddish and Hebrew to the literary response arising from the Holocaust The Buchenwald Child Bill Niven, Der Totenwald Ernst Wiechert, 1946 Der Totenwald Ernst Wiechert, 1977 The Buchenwald Child William John Niven, 2007 At the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp communist prisoners organized resistance against the SS and even planned an uprising They helped rescue a three year old Jewish boy Stefan Jerzy Zweig from certain death in the gas chambers After the war his story became a focus for the German Democratic Republic s celebration of its resistance to the Nazis Now Bill Niven tells the true story of Stefan Zweig what actually happened to him in Buchenwald how he was protected and at what price He explores the mis representation of Zweig s rescue in East Germany and what this reveals about that country s understanding of its Nazi past Finally he looks at the telling of the Zweig rescue story since German unification a story told in the GDR to praise communists has become a story used to condemn them Bill Niven is Professor of Contemporary German History at the Nottingham Trent University UK The Politics of Literature in Nazi Germany Jan-Pieter Barbian, 2013-08-29 This is the most comprehensive account to date of literary politics in Nazi Germany and of the institutions organizations and people who controlled German literature during the Third Reich Barbian details a media dictatorship involving the persecution and control of writers publishers and libraries but also voluntary assimilation and pre emptive self censorship that began almost immediately under the National Socialists leading to authors forced declarations of loyalty literary propaganda censorship and book burnings Special attention is given to Nazi regulation of the publishing industry and command over all forms of publication and dissemination from the most prestigious publishing houses to the smallest municipal and school libraries Barbian also shows that although the Nazis censored books not in line with Party aims many publishers and writers took advantage of loopholes in their system of control Supporting his work with exhaustive research of original sources Barbian describes a society in which everybody who was not openly opposed to it participated in the system whether as a writer an editor or even as an ordinary visitor to a library Literature and Film in the Third Reich Karl-Heinz Schoeps, 2004 This book is the first survey in English of literature and film in Nazi Germany. It treats not only works sympathetic to National Socialism but also works of the so called Inner Emigration of the resistance and those written in prisons and concentration camps. Much of this literature is not easily accessible in German and not available at all in English translation. Historical and ideological context is provided in chapters covering influential works of the time such as Alfred Rosenberg's The Myth of the Twentieth Century and Houston Stewart Chamberlain's The Foundations of the Nineteenth Century. Schoeps also analyzes Nazi cultural policies, fascist histories of literature, and the role of German studies and Germanists in the Nazi movement. A major section of the book is devoted to film, then a relatively new medium of communication whose propaganda value was clearly recognized by Goebbels, the minister for propaganda and president of the Reich's Chamber of Culture. One of the most interesting areas of research in recent years is the relationship between Hitler's cultural commissars, in particular Goebbels, and the literature and film production of the Nazi years. This book is based on the revised and expanded second German edition Literatur im Dritten Reich 1933-1945 but has again been revised and expanded, especially the chapter on film and Nazi policies toward the film industry. The chapter on cultural policies has also been expanded to include Himmler's efforts to meddle in this area. New also are sections dealing with Jewish entertainers in concentration camps, for example Kurt Gerron, and activities of the Jewish Cultural League. Karl Heinz Schoeps is professor of German at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.
