Mother, Creature, Kin Chelsea Steinauer-Scudder, 2025-04-08 Luminous nonfiction about the natural world from essayist Chelsea Steinauer Scudder who asks what can other than human creatures teach us about mothering belonging caregiving loss and resiliency What does it mean to be a mother in an era of climate catastrophe And what can we learn from the plants and creatures who mother at the edges of their world s unraveling Becoming a mother in this time means bringing life into a world that appears to be coming undone Drawing upon ecology mythology and her own experiences as a new mother Steinauer Scudder confronts what it means to mother to do the good work of being in service to the living world What if we could all mother the places we live and the beings with whom we share those places And what if they also mother us In prose that teems with longing lyricism and knowledge of ecology Steinauer Scudder writes of the silent flight and aural maps of barn owls of nursing whales of real and imagined forests of tidal marshes of ancient single celled organisms and of newly planted gardens The creatures inhabiting these stories teach us about centering belonging entanglement edgework homemaking and how to imagine the future Rooted in wonder while never shying away from loss Mother Creature Kin reaches toward a language of inclusive care learned from creatures living at the brink Writing in the tradition of Camille Dungy Elizabeth Rush and Margaret Renkl Steinauer Scudder invites us into the daily obligatory sacred work of care Despair and fear will not save the world any more than they will raise our children and while we don't know what the future holds we know it will need mothers As the very ground shifts beneath our feet what if we apprenticed ourselves to the creaturely mothers with whom we share this beloved home

Disinventions José Manuel Cortez, 2025-09-09 US immigration policy along the southwestern border is deadly Since 1994 the US Border Patrol has implemented a federal immigration strategy known as prevention through deterrence which closed off many urban entry points along the US Mexico border and militarized urban border crossings This policy forced undocumented migrants to cross through dangerous terrain like the Sonoran Desert often with tragic results

Immigrant advocates highlight migrant disappearances and deaths to expose the policy's human toll. In Disinventions, Jos Manuel Cortez argues this approach is unlikely to bring an end to such oppressive immigration practices. Disinventions examines the cultural, political, and rhetorical effects of US deterrence practices, exploring how discourse on immigration overlooks subjects who have always been a part of the borderlands but are rarely included in migration narratives. He highlights the failings of decolonial methods and discourse to fully capture and represent marginalized voices, including Black, Central American, and queer subjects. And he develops an ethics of unconditional hospitality embracing undocumented migrants. By drawing on the concept of atopias and what he calls sites of disinvention to unearth new forms of politics, Cortez suggests we can transcend the limits of decolonization discourse and humanize undocumented immigrants. This challenging and engaging work should appeal to scholars and students of rhetorical studies, Latinx studies, and American studies.
