Art And Alienation:

Art and Alienation Herbert Read, 1967      Art and Alienation. The Role of the Artist in Society. [With Plates.]. Sir Herbert Edward Read, 1967      Art, Affluence, and Alienation Roy McMullen, 1968      Art, Alienation, and the Humanities Charles Reitz, 2000-02-10 Illustrates how Marcuse's theory sheds new light on current debates in both education and society involving issues of multiculturalism postmodernism civic education the culture wars critical thinking and critical literacy      Art and alienation, by herbert read sir Read, 1967      Art, Alienation, and the Humanities Charles Reitz, 2000-02-03 Winner of the 2002 American Educational Studies Association's Critics Choice Award By examining the aesthetic social and educational philosophy of Herbert Marcuse the author documents and demonstrates the structure and movement of Marcuse's thought on art alienation and the humanities Reitz's work stresses the centrality of Marcuse's argument that the arts and humanities may act as disalienating educational forces      Art and the Home Imogen Racz, 2015-01-26 Our homes contain us but they are also within us They can represent places to be ourselves to recollect childhood memories or to withdraw into adult spaces of intimacy they can be sites for developing rituals family relationships and acting out cultural expectations Like the personal social and cultural elements out of which they are constructed homes can be not only comforting but threatening too The home is a rich theme running through post war western art and it continues to engage contemporary artists today yet it has been the subject of relatively little critical writing Art and the Home Comfort Alienation and the Everyday is the first single authored up to date book on the subject Imogen Racz provides a theme led discussion about how the physical experience of the dwelling space and the psychological complexities of the domestic are manifested in art focusing mainly on sculpture installation and object based practice discussing the work and ideas of artists as diverse as Louise Bourgeois Gordon Matta Clark George Segal and Cornelia Parker within their artistic and cultural contexts      Alienation and Art Robert Fink, 1976      Bowie, Beckett, and Being Rodney Sharkey, 2024-01-11 Addressing their shared passion for literature art and music this book documents how Samuel Beckett and David Bowie produce extraordinarily empathetic creative outputs that reflect the experience and the effect of alienation Through an exploration of their artistic practices the study also illustrates how both artists articulate shared forms of human experience otherwise silenced by normative modes of representation To liberate these experiences Bowie and Beckett create alternative theatrical musical and philosophical spaces which help frame the power relations of the psychological verbal and material places we inhabit The result is that their work demonstrates how individuals are disciplined by the implicitly repressive social order of late capitalism while simultaneously offering an informed political alternative In making the injunctions of the social order apparent Beckett and Bowie also transgress its terms opening up new spaces beyond the conventional identities of family nation and gender until both artists finally coalesce in the quantum space of the posthuman      Modern Art and Alienation Marie O'Shea, 1990      Modern Art: A Critical Introduction Pam Meecham, Julie Sheldon, 2013-11-26 Revised and restructured this second edition of Modern Art traces the historical and contemporary contexts for understanding modern art movements and the theories that influenced and attempted to explain them. Its radical approach foregoes the chronological approach to art movements in favour of looking at the ways in which art has been understood. The editors investigate the main developments in art interpretation and draw examples from a wide range of genres including painting, sculpture, photography, installation and performance art. This second edition has been fully updated to include many more examples of recent art practice as well as an expanded glossary and comprehensive marginal notes providing definitions of key terms. Extensively illustrated with a wide range of visual examples, Modern Art is the essential textbook for students of art history.

Iconoclasm in Aesthetics Michael Kelly, 2003-09-04 Contemporary theorizing about art is dominated by a clash between two approaches: philosophers have characteristically taken the view that art is a vehicle of some universal meaning or truth, while art historians and others working in the humanities emphasize the concrete nature and historical particularity of the work of art. Is art capable of sustaining these two approaches? Or, as Kelly argues, is art rather determined by its historical particularity? If so, then if philosophers continue to pursue mainly the universality of art, they inadvertently end up exhibiting a disinterest and distrust in art. Kelly calls such disinterest and distrust iconoclasm, and in this book he discusses four philosophers: Heidegger, Adorno, Derrida and Danto, who are ultimately iconoclasts despite their deep philosophical engagement with the arts. He concludes by suggesting ways in which iconoclasm in aesthetics can be avoided in the future.

Art and Alienation J.A. Halley, 1983      Alienation Effects Branislav Jakovljevic, 2016-06-13 Examines the interplay of artistic, political and economic performance in the former Yugoslavia and reveals their inseparability.      The Fate of Art J. M. Bernstein, 1993 This original and wide-ranging book, now available in paperback, is a major contribution to contemporary philosophy. Bernstein focuses on the work of four key thinkers: Kant, Heidegger, Derrida and Adorno, and provides a powerful new interpretation of their writings on art, aesthetics and politics. Bernstein argues that our experience of art today is conditioned by the loss of the truth function of art with the growth of modern science and technological reason: art is relegated to a separate and autonomous domain of the aesthetic. This condition of aesthetic alienation, the raging discord between art and truth, is one of the most perspicuous signs of the fragmentation of modernity. Aesthetic alienation is challenged in differing ways by modern Continental philosophers like Heidegger, Derrida and Adorno. Bernstein shows how each of these philosophers uses the experience of art and the discourse of aesthetics to criticize the fragmentation of modernity. He examines in detail their responses to aesthetic alienation and raises a range of fundamental questions concerning the relations between art, philosophy and politics in modern societies.      Bridging Southern Cultures John Lowe, 2005 A multicultural interdisciplinary panorama of past and contemporary southern society is captured in Bridging Southern Culture by some of the South's leading historians, anthropologists, literary critics, musicologists and folklorists. Using the best of recent scholarship, this collection demonstrates a revitalized energy in southern studies. A showcase of preeminent southern intellectuals this book is a heady mix of observations that draw new connections between eras groups races and subregions Lowe and his peers present a timely assessment of the state of southern studies in the twenty first century

Robert Morris Julia Bryan-Wilson, 2013-08-09 Essays an interview and a roundtable discussion on the work of one of the most influential American artists of the postwar period This October Files volume gathers essays an interview and a roundtable discussion on the work of Robert Morris one of the most influential American artists of the postwar period It includes a little known text on dance by Morris himself and a never before anthologized but influential catalog essay by Annette Michelson Often associated with minimalism Morris b 1931 also created important works that involved dance process art and conceptualism The texts in this volume focus on Morris s early work and include an examination of a 1971 Tate retrospective by Jon Bird an interview with the artist by Benjamin Buchloh a conversation from a 1994 issue of October about resistance to 1960s art and an essay by this volume s editor Julia Bryan Wilson on the labor involved in installing the massive works in Morris s 1970 solo exhibition at the Whitney Spanning 1965 to 2009 these writings map the evolution of critical thought on Morris over more than four decades

Art and the Challenge of Markets Volume 2 Victoria D. Alexander, Samuli Hägg, Simo Häyrynen, Erkki Sevänen, 2018-01-16 Art and the Challenge of Markets Volumes 1 2 examine the politics of art and culture in light of the profound changes that have taken place in the world order since the 1980s and 1990s The contributors explore how in these two decades the neoliberal or market based model of capitalism started to spread from the economic realm to other areas of society As a result many aspects of contemporary Western societies increasingly function in the same way as the private enterprise sector under traditional market capitalism This second volume analyses the relationships of art with contemporary capitalist economies and instrumentalist cultural policies and examines several varieties of capitalist critical and alternative art forms that exist in today s art worlds It also addresses the vexed issues of art controversies and censorship The chapters cover issues such as the culturalization of the economy aesthetics and anti aesthetics the societal benefits of works of art art s responsibility to society activism activist arts as protest and capitalism critical works and controversies over nudity in art as well as considering the marketisation of emerging visual arts worlds in East Asia The book ends with the a concluding chapter suggesting that even in today s marketized and commercialized environments art will find a way Both volumes provide students and scholars across a range of disciplines with an incisive comparative overview of the politics of art and culture and national international and transnational art worlds in contemporary capitalism

Herbert Marcuse Malcolm Miles, 2011-12-05 When capitalism is clearly catastrophically out of control and its excesses cannot be sustained socially or ecologically the ideas of Herbert Marcuse become as relevant as they were in the 1960s This is the first English introduction to Marcuse to be published for decades and deals specifically with his aesthetic theories and their relation to a critical theory of society Although Marcuse is best known as a critic of consumer society epitomised in the classic One Dimensional Man Malcolm Miles provides an insight into how Marcuse's aesthetic theories evolved within his broader attitudes from his anxiety at the rise of fascism in the 1930s through heady optimism of the 1960s to acceptance in the 1970s that radical art becomes an invaluable progressive force when political change has become deadlocked. Marcuse's aesthetics of liberation in which art assumes a primary role in interrupting the operation of capitalism made him a key figure for the student movement in the 1960s. As diverse forms of resistance rise once more, a new generation of students, scholars, and activists will find Marcuse's radical theory essential to their struggle.

The Philistine Controversy Dave Beech, John Roberts, 2002-06-17 Dave Beech and John Roberts develop what they call a counter-intuitive notion of the philistine with insights on cultural division and exclusion.
