Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier,2014-04-23 The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue Today however the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value Some refer to this determination as evaluation others use the term assessment Either way the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes preferences or individual values on which criteria are established Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work. Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies, the translation of non standard language, translation into the second language, terminology, the application of theoretical criteria to practice, a social textual perspective and the reviewing of literary translations in the press. In addition, reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English.

The Palgrave Handbook of Literary Translation Jean Boase-Beier, Lina Fisher, Hiroko Furukawa, 2018-06-26 This Handbook offers a comprehensive and engaging overview of contemporary issues in Literary Translation research through in depth investigations of actual case studies of particular works, authors or translators. Leading researchers from across the globe discuss best practice, problems and possibilities in the translation of poetry, novels, memoir and theatre. Divided into three sections, these illuminating analyses also address broad themes including translation style, the author translator reader relationship and relationships between national identity and literary translation. The case studies are drawn from languages and language varieties such as Catalan, Chinese, Dutch, English, French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Nigerian English, Russian, Spanish, Scottish English and Turkish. The editors provide thorough introductory and concluding chapters which highlight the value of case study research and explore in detail the importance of the theory practice link. Covering a wide range of topics, perspectives, methods, languages and geographies, this handbook will provide a valuable resource for researchers not only in Translation Studies but also in the related fields of Linguistics, Languages and Cultural Studies, Stylistics, Comparative Literature or Literary Studies.

New Latina Narrative Ellen Marie McCracken, 1999-02 During the last two decades of the twentieth century, U.S. Latina writers have made a profound impact on American letters with fiction in both mainstream and regional venues. Following on the heels of this vibrant and growing body of work, New Latina Narrative offers the first in depth synthesis and literary analysis of this transethnic genre. Focusing on the dynamic writing published in the 1980s and 1990s by Mexican American, Puerto Rican, Cuban American and Dominican American women, New Latina Narrative illustrates how these writers have redefined the concepts of multiculturalism and diversity in American society. As participants in both mainstream and grassroots forms of multiculturalism, these new Latina narrativists have created a feminine space within postmodern ethnicity, disrupting the idealistic veneer of diversity with which publishers often market this fiction. In this groundbreaking study, author Ellen McCracken opens the conventional boundaries of Latino literary criticism, incorporating elements of cultural studies theory and contemporary feminism. Emphasizing the diversity within new Latina narrative, McCracken discusses the works of more than two dozen writers including Julia Alvarez, Denise Chavez, Sandra Cisneros, Cristina Garcia, Graciela Limón, Demetria Martinez, Patricia Mora Cherré, Moraga, Mary Helen Ponce and Helena María Viramontes. She stresses such themes as the resignification of master narrative, the autobiographical self and collective identity, popular religiosity, subculture and transgression, and narrative harmony and dissonance New Latina Narrative provides readers an enriched basis for reconceiving the overall Latino literary field and its relation to other contemporary literary and cultural trends McCracken's original approach extends the Latina literary canon both the works to be studied and the issues to be examined resulting in a valuable work for all readers of women's studies contemporary American literature ethnic studies communications and sociology

Narratives of Greater Mexico Héctor Calderón, 2004 Once relegated to the borders of literature neither Mexican nor truly American Chicana/o writers have always been in the vanguard of change articulating the multicultural ethnicities shifting identities border realities and even postmodern anxieties and hostilities that already characterize the twenty-first century Indeed it is Chicana/o writers very in-between-ness that makes them authentic spokespersons for an America that is becoming increasingly Mexican Latin American and for a Mexico that is ever more Americanized In this pioneering study Héctor Calderón looks at seven Chicana and Chicano writers whose narratives constitute what he terms an American Mexican literature Drawing on the concept of Greater Mexican culture first articulated by Américo Paredes Calderón explores how the works of Paredes Rudolfo Anaya Tomás Rivera Oscar Zeta Acosta Cherríe Moraga Rolando Hinojosa and Sandra Cisneros derive from Mexican literary traditions and genres that reach all the way back to the colonial era His readings cover a wide span of time 1892-2001 from the invention of the Spanish Southwest in the nineteenth century to the América Mexicana that is currently emerging on both sides of the border In addition to his own readings of the works Calderón also includes the writers' perspectives on their place in American Mexican literature through excerpts from their personal papers and interviews correspondence and e-mail exchanges he conducted with most of them

Grandma's Santo on Its Head / El santo patas arriba de mi abuelita Nasario García, 2013-06-01 Children and adults alike will enjoy Nasario's brilliant telling of the events that were part of his growing up As I read the stories I heard Nasario's voice and I could see clearly the people and places he describes I was reminded that the stories our grandparents told not only entertained us they taught us valuable lessons The magic of storytelling is still with us At home or in the classroom stories such as these will spark the imagination and encourage reading Rudolfo Anaya author of Bless Me Ultima The popular cuentos that parents and grandparents in rural New Mexico once upon a time told their children are a rich source of the folklore of the region and offer satisfying entertainment In this collection of bilingual stories about the Rio Puerco Valley where Nasario García grew up he shares the traditions myths and stories of his homeland He recounts stories of the evil eye and rooster racing the Wailing Woman and the punishing of the santos Preceding each tale is García's brief explanation of the history and culture behind the story
