Creation Hans Schwarz, 2002-10-22 Schwarz first surveys scientific explanations for the origins of the universe and of life and discusses the scientific understanding of matter space time and determinism He then reviews the history of Christian responses to science s discoveries including a summary of reactions from Christian scientists He completes his analysis with a proposal for the development of a Christian understanding of creation

BOOK JACKET Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Arnold Koster Paul Spanring, 2014-09-25 Baptists and Lutherans often define the tension of being in the world but not in terms of two separate realms the kingdom of God and the kingdom of the world However their understanding of these realms and their delicate connection is quite nuanced Within the Lutheran tradition the two kingdoms are held in tension which in turn leads to a precarious interaction of state and church In the Ana Baptist tradition a much stricter duality is emphasised resulting in a more radical and separatist stance Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Arnold Koster analyses and compares the historical development of these two viewpoints and to discover how these traditions represented in the lives of two individual followers responded to the ideological onslaught of neopaganism and the enforced political conformity of the Third Reich Compared with Dietrich Bonhoeffer little is known of the Baptist preacher Arnold Koster His ministry as a pastor of the Baptist church in Vienna lasted from 1928 1960 During the Nazi regime he consistently preached critically and prophetically against its underlying ideology

The Liberating Image J. Richard Middleton, 2005-03 Offers a deeply informed take on a key Christian doctrine and its interpretation and relevance today

Be a Blessing Elizabeth Ellen Ostring, 2016-03-08 Utilizing the techniques of narratology and literary analysis this study examines the foundational biblical text of Genesis to develop the theology of ordinary human work that emerges from it The study offers a history of Christian theologies of human work as well as a unique approach to both the topic of work and the literary structure of Genesis The emerging concept of blessing rather than achievement provides a refreshing and yet practical approach to human work This is a valuable complement to the current interest in this topic and one that although challenging some current concepts is encouraging

Revelation and Theology Ronald F. Thiemann, 2005-11-01 Arguing that the Christian doctrine of revelation is necessary for understanding the prevenience of God's grace Ronald Thiemann defends the doctrine of revelation by focusing on the identity and reality of the promising God depicted in the biblical narrative According to Thiemann The crisis of revelation has occurred within a cultural context decisively marked by radical pluralism The modern defender of God's reality must seek to show how God is both in relation and prior to those human concepts by which we seek to grasp his reality He or she must do so by an argument which resists the reduction of theology to anthropology In analysis of such diverse thinkers as John Locke Friedrich Schleiermacher and Thomas Torrance Thiemann criticizes the epistemological foundationalism adopted by theologians to provide theoretical justification for the divine origins of Christian beliefs He argues that the doctrine of revelation must be seen as an account supporting the intelligibility and truth of a set of Christian convictions His notion of the narrated promise reveals God's prevenience as promiser and humanity as recipient of the promise In an examination of the Gospel of Matthew Thiemann shows how the biblical narrative identifies God as the God of promise and invites the reader to participate in God's prevenient reality CREATION AND COSMOLOGY Rudolf B. Brun, 2009 A collection of essays that except one were published either in Zygon or in Communio

The Barth Lectures Colin E. Gunton, 2007-07-10 Colin Gunton was world renowned as a scholar systematic theologian and Reformed minister however he never lived to fulfill his ambition to write a book devoted solely to Barth Gunton on Barth is an in depth analysis derived from the lecture course he gave most years at King's College London something of an annual institution it was aimed at undergraduates though the majority of those attending were MA PhD students and researchers from America and Germany Approximately half of the work consists of quotations representing an essential understanding Colin was a creative lecturer although he worked from notes he gave space to the free rein of his mind particularly when fielding questions or trying to analyze a particular strand of Barth's thought Colin's understanding and expertise was world renowned He did not take all Barth wrote uncritically he struggled and wrestled with this giant of twentieth century theology as he always said at the beginning of the course Not everyone buys into Barth I don't all the way along the line as I get older I get more and more dissatisfied with the details of his working out of the faith over the years I think I have developed a reasonable view of this great man who is thoroughly exciting and particularly I can guarantee if you do this course that you will be a better theologian by the third year whether or not you agree with him he is a great man to learn to think theologically with Vying for Truth - Theology and the Natural Sciences Hans Schwarz, 2014-06-18 The emancipation of the natural sciences from religion was a gradual affair during the last four centuries Initially many of the leading scientists were churchmen indicating a symbiosis between faith and reason Due to the increasing specialization in the sciences this close connection came to an end often leading to antagonism and mutual suspicion This book traces this historical development with its twists and turns in both Europe and North America It depicts the major players in this story and outlines their specific contributions The main focus is on the 19th and 20th centuries with figures such as Darwin and Hodge but also Beecher and Abbott in the 19th century In the 20th century the narrative starts with Karl Barth and moves all the way to Hawking and Tipler Special attention is given to representatives from North America Great Britain and Germany In conclusion important issues are presented in the present day dialogue between theology and the natural sciences The issue of design and fine tuning is picked up and advances in brain research Finally technological issues are assessed and the status of medicine as a helpmate for life is discussed An informative and thought provoking book Jesus Loves You and Evolution Is True Jason Lief,2019-05-07 Science is not a danger to the faith of Christian youth In fact Sara Sybesma Tolsma an award winning scientist and Jason Lief a leading practical theologian argue that youth ministry needs science to help young people explore their relationship to God and engage their world faithfully Jesus Loves You and Evolution Is True invites the church and its leaders to open their minds and hearts to what science can tell us about our human lives and our connections to and role in our natural world But it does not stop there evolutionary science is theological argues Lief and Tolsma and so it must have a central place in the day to day work of youth ministry If the church wants to help youth develop robust spiritual lives and prepare them for the challenges that life will bring them pastors faith leaders and youth workers must not only engage science but embrace its lessons for the life and practice of Christian faith today Cyclopaedia

Culture in a Post-Secular Context Alan Thomson,2014-05-16 Is culture a theologically neutral concept The contemporary experts on culture anthropologists and sociologists argue that it is Theologians and missiologists would seem to agree given the extent of their reliance on anthropological and sociological definitions of culture Yet this appears a strange reliance given that presumed neutrality in the sciences is a consistently challenged assumption It is stranger still given that so much theological energy has been expended on understanding and defining the human person in specifically theological as opposed to anthropological terms when culture is in some sense the expression of this personhood in corporate and material forms This book argues that culture is not and has never been a theologically neutral concept rather it always expresses some theological posture and is therefore a term that naturally invites theological investigation Going about this task is difficult however in the face of a longterm reliance on the social sciences that seems to have starved the contemporary theological community of resources for defining culture Against this it is argued that rich subterranean veins for such a task do exist within the recent tradition most notably in the writings of John Milbank Karl Barth and Kwame Bediako Vestiges of the Natural History of Creation Robert Chambers,1845 Karl Barth Karl Barth,Clifford J. Green,1989 This volume traces Barth s work from his rejection of theological liberalism and his rediscovery of the Bible to his magnum opus the Church Dogmatics Introducing Christian Doctrine Millard J.
