Dodos are forever Dick King-Smith,1991 Humor in Contemporary Junior Literature Julie Cross,2010-12-14 In this new book Julie Cross examines the intricacies of textual humor in contemporary junior literature using the tools of literary criticism and humor theory Cross investigates the dialectical paradoxes of humor and debunks the common belief in oppositional binaries of simple versus complex humor The varied combinations of so called high and low forms of humor within junior texts for young readers who are at such a crucial stage of their reading and social development provide a valuable commentary upon the culture and values of contemporary western society making the book of considerable interest to scholars of both children s literature and childhood studies Cross explores the ways in which the changing content forms and functions of the many varied combinations of humor in junior texts including the Lemony Snickett series reveal societal attitudes towards young children and childhood The new compounds of seemingly paradoxical high and low forms of humor in texts for developing readers from the 1960s onwards reflect and contribute to contemporary society s hesitant and uneven acceptance of the emergent paradigm of children s rights abilities participation and empowerment Cross identifies four types of potentially subversive transgressive humor which have emerged since the 1960s which coupled with the three main theories of humor relief superiority and incongruity theories enables a long overdue charting of developments in humor within junior texts Cross also argues that the gradual increase in the compounding of the simple and the complex provide opportunities for young readers to play with ambiguous complicated ideas helping them embrace the complexities and contradictions of contemporary life Lost Land of the Dodo Anthony Cheke,Julian P. Hume,2010-06-30 The Mascarene islands in the southern Indian Ocean Mauritius Reunion and Rodrigues were once home to an extraordinary range of birds and reptiles Evolving on these isolated volcanic islands in the absence of mammalian predators or competitors the land was dominated by giant tortoises parrots skinks and geckos burrowing boas flightless rails the birds and tortoises were slaughtered indiscriminately while introduced rats cats pigs and monkeys destroyed their eggs the once extensive forests logged and invasive introduced plants from all over the tropics devastated the ecosystem The now familiar icon of extinction the Dodo was gone from Mauritius within 50 years of human settlement and over the next 150 years many of the Mascarenes other native vertebrates followed suit The product of over 30 years research by Anthony Cheke Lost Land of the Dodo provides a comprehensive yet hugely enjoyable account of the story of the islands changing ecology interspersed with human stories the islands biogeographical anomalies and much else Many French publications old and new especially for Reunion are discussed and referenced in English for the first time The book is richly illustrated with maps and contemporary illustrations of the animals and their environment many of which have rarely been reprinted before Illustrated box texts look in detail at each extinct vertebrate species while Julian Hume's superb colour plates bring many of the extinct birds to life

Lost Land of the Dodo provides the definitive account of this tragic yet remarkable fauna and is a must read for anyone interested in islands their ecology and the history of our relationship with the world around us Dodo Dodgeball Heidi E. forgotten and there were some doubts as to whether it actually lived at all. It seemed that these strange birds had only been part of the imagination and exaggeration of sailors. Today the once remote island of Mauritius is home to over a million people of European, African, Indian, and Chinese origin. It can boast of being one of the most stable democratic countries in the world and it is host to thousands of tourists who find shops full of Dodos in many forms, shapes, and sizes. Yet there is an unfortunate lack of information about this island's unique national icon. This book allows the reader to examine various eyewitness writings, drawings, paintings, and skeletal remains which depict the Dodo as it actually was and helps us to understand how it was driven to extinction. It also traces what happened after the final demise of the bird and how worldwide evidence was pieced together to provide a reasonable idea of how the Dodo lived and died. Back cover Aids to English Composition Richard Green Parker, 1854 Aids to English Composition, Prepared for Students of All Grades Richard Green Parker, 1846 Extinctions Michael J. Benton, 2023-09-28 In this vast sweep of our Earth's history, Michael Benton brings the deep past to life as never before. Deploying the cutting edge tools in biology, chemistry, physics, and geology that are transforming our understanding of previous environmental cataclysms, including the incredible new discovery of a hitherto unknown extinction event, he uncovers not only their lethal effects but also the processes that brought about such large scale destruction. Beginning with the oldest extinction, Benton investigates the Late Ordovician which set the evolution of the first animals on an entirely new course, the late Devonian brought on by global warming, the cataclysmic End Permian which wiped out over 90 per cent of all life on Earth, and book ending the age of the dinosaurs, the newly discovered Carnian Pluvial Event and the End Cretaceous asteroid. He examines how global warming, acid rain, ocean acidification, erupting volcanoes, and meteorite impact have affected conditions on Earth, the drastic consequences for global ecology, and how life in turn survived, adapted, and evolved. This expert retelling of scientific breakthroughs allows us to link long ago upheavals to our modern crises. As today's climate scientists and political leaders grapple to understand these processes and our planet enters the sixth great extinction, these insights from the past may hold the key to survival. The Junior Bookshelf, 1989 Words on Cassette, 2002 R R Bowker Publishing, 2002 The Dodo and the Solitaire Jolyon C. Parish, 2013 The most comprehensive book to date about these two famously extinct birds. The Rise of Birds Sankar Chatterjee, 2015-04 His compelling, occasionally controversial revelations, accompanied by spectacular illustrations, are a must read for anyone with a serious interest in the evolution of the feathered dinosaurs, from vertebrate paleontologists and ornithologists to naturalists and birders. Return of the Crazy Bird Clara Pinto-Correia, 2006-04-18 Using the history of the concept of extinction with the dodo as a case study, Pinto Correia carefully weaves together story fragments to give a cohesive, eye-opening view of 17th century exploration and the grave ramifications it had for the survival and extinction of many species. More importantly, she shows us the intellectual underpinnings of the old view that it was acceptable for some animals to die out. Within this narrative, we can see what the modern view of the dodo tells us about the history of our changing understanding and valuation of nature and our place in it Strong writing powered by lively historical anecdotes and sober insights into human behavior makes this beautifully illustrated book a page turner to the end Globalisation and the South-west Indian Ocean
