A Frenchwoman's Imperial Story Rebecca Rogers, 2013-01-16 Eugénie Luce was a French schoolteacher who fled her husband and abandoned her family migrating to Algeria in the early 1830s By the mid 1840s she had become a major figure in debates around educational policies insisting that women were a critical dimension of the French effort to effect a fusion of the races To aid this fusion she founded the first French school for Muslim girls in Algiers in 1845 which thrived until authorities cut off her funding in 1861 At this point she switched from teaching spelling grammar and sewing to embroidery an endeavor that attracted the attention of prominent British feminists and gave her school a celebrated reputation for generations The portrait of this remarkable woman reveals the role of women and girls in the imperial projects of the time and sheds light on why they have disappeared from the historical record since then Algiers Reaching Out, 2010-03-29

From Slavery to Civil Rights Hilary McLaughlin-Stonham, 2020 As a window into New Orleans society From Slavery to Civil Rights chronicles segregation on the streetcars of New Orleans over two centuries and discovers the impact of local and national events on a segregated system that was at times both surprisingly rigid and elastic over the period Iran, the

Untold Story Muḥammad Ḥasanayn Haykal, 1982 Criminalizing the Casbahs Danielle Beaujon, 2025-06-15

Criminalizing the Casbahs explores how French police officers in Marseille and Algiers associated the spaces they saw as North African the Casbahs with a particular form of criminality one they insisted was inherently North African Through local but connected histories of policing in these two cities Danielle Beaujon traces how police practices mapped the racialization of North African colonial subjects onto urban space By demarcating and racializing space the French police created repressive methods for controlling North African bodies while proclaiming to uphold republican ideals of colorblind justice The invasive often violent policing of North Africans in the French Mediterranean blurred the political and the personal broadening the spectrum of police power with lasting consequences for post colonial policing Criminalizing the Casbahs shows how patterns of discrimination created in the daily interactions between police officers and North Africans continue to resonate in debates about police accountability in France today Alternative Art and Anthropology Arnd

The Algerian New Novel Valérie K. Orlando, 2017-05-10 Disputing the claim that Algerian writing during the struggle against French colonial rule dealt almost exclusively with revolutionary themes The Algerian New Novel shows how Algerian authors writing in French actively contributed to the experimental forms of the period expressing a new age literarily as well as politically and culturally Looking at canonical Algerian literature as part of the larger literary production in French during decolonization Val rie K Orlando considers how novels by Rachid Boudjedra Mohammed Dib Assia Djebar Nabile Far s Yamina Mechakra and Kateb Yacine both influenced and were reflectors of the sociopolitical and cultural transformation that took place during this period in Algeria Although their themes were rooted in Algeria the avant garde writing styles of these authors were influenced by early twentieth century American modernists the New Novelists of 1940s 50s France and African American authors of the 1950s 60s This complex mix of influences led Algerian writers to develop a unique modern literary aesthetic to express their world a tradition of experimentation and fragmentation that still characterizes the work of contemporary Algerian francophone writers

Fifty Years of "The Battle of Algiers" Sohail Daulatzai, 2016-09-09 The Battle of Algiers a 1966 film that poetically captures Algerian resistance to French colonial occupation is widely considered one of the greatest political films of all time With an artistic defiance that matched the boldness of the anticolonial struggles of the time it was embraced across the political spectrum from leftist groups like the Black Panther Party and the Palestine Liberation Organization to right wing juntas in the 1970s and later the Pentagon in 2003 With a philosophical nod to Frantz Fanon Sohail Daulatzai demonstrates that tracing the film s afterlife reveals a larger story about how dreams of freedom were shared and crushed in the fifty years since its release As the War on Terror expands and the threat of the Muslim looms The Battle of Algiers is more than an artifact of the past it s a prophetic testament to the present and a cautionary tale of an imperial future as perpetual war has been declared on permanent unrest Forerunners Ideas First is a thought in process series of breakthrough digital publications Written between fresh ideas and finished books Forerunners draws on scholarly work initiated in notable blogs social media conference plenaries journal articles and the

1956 Carole Fink, Frank Hadler, Tomasz Schramm, 2006 A Desert Named Peace Benjamin Claude Brower, 2011 In the mid nineteenth century French colonial leaders in Algeria started southward into the Sahara beginning a fifty year period of violence Lying in the shadow of the colonization of northern Algeria which claimed the lives of over a million people French empire in the Sahara sought power through physical force as it had elsewhere yet violence in the Algerian Sahara followed a more complicated logic than the old argument that it was simply a way to get empire on the cheap A Desert Named Peace examines colonial violence through multiple stories and across several fields of research It presents four cases the military conquests of the French army in the oases and officers predisposition to use extreme violence in colonial conflicts a spontaneous nighttime attack made by Algerian pastoralists on a French village as notable for its brutality as for its obscure causes the violence of indigenous forms of slavery and the colonial accommodations that preserved it during the era of abolition and the struggles of French Romantics whose debates about art and politics arrived from Paris with disastrous consequences Benjamin Claude Brower uses these different perspectives to reveal the unexpected causes of colonial violence such as France's troubled revolutionary past and its influence on the military's institutional culture the aesthetics of the sublime and its impact on colonial thinking the ecological crises suffered by Saharan pastoralists under colonial rule and the conflicting paths to authority inherent in Algerian Sufism Directly engaging a controversial history A Desert Named Peace offers an important backdrop to understanding the Algerian war for independence 1954 1962 and Algeria's ongoing internal war begun in 1992 between the government and armed groups that claim to fight for an Islamist revolution

The French Colonial Mind: Mental maps of empire and colonial encounters Martin Thomas, 2011-01-01 What made France into an imperialist nation ruler of a global empire with millions of dependent subjects overseas Historians have sought answers to this question in the nation's political situation at home and abroad its socioeconomic circumstances and its international ambitions But all these motivating factors depended on other less tangible forces namely the prevailing attitudes of the day and their influence among those charged with acquiring or administering a colonial empire The French Colonial Mind explores these mindsets to illuminate the nature of French imperialism The first of two linked volumes Mental Maps of Empire and Colonial Encounters brings together fifteen leading scholars of French colonial history to investigate the origins and outcomes of imperialist ideas among France's most influential empire makers Considering French colonial experiences in Africa and Southeast Asia the authors identify the processes that made Frenchmen and women into ardent imperialists By focusing on attitudes presumptions and prejudices these essays connect the derivation of ideas about empire colonized peoples and concepts of civilization with the forms and practices of French imperialism in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The contributors to The French Colonial Mind place the formation and the derivation of colonialist thinking at the heart of this history of imperialism

Pardongate Mark Hyman, 2020-06-30 Bill

Clinton's abrupt departure from long standing precedent was an astonishing abuse of the Justice Department processes and underscored the shady wheeling and dealing that was common in the Clinton orbit. Bill, Hillary and brothers Roger Clinton, Hugh Rodham and Tony Rodham all profited financially or politically from hustling dozens of pardons to some of history's most undeserving recipients. These ranged from worldwide pariah Marc Rich to a cocaine trafficking kingpin to murderous terrorists who hadn't even requested executive clemency. A third of the final day pardons bypassed Justice Department review and went straight to Bill for approval. Dozens of recipients hadn't even filed a petition. In the final hours of Bill Clinton's last day in office, the pardon attorney was frantically preparing paperwork for recipients whose names were misspelled or whose addresses were unknown. It was a free for all. The brothers were paid hundreds of thousands of dollars to privately lobby Bill for pardons, some of which never materialized. But the brothers were still paid. Hillary collected political and financial IOUs she later cashed in when she sought political office. For most of his presidency, Bill was one of the stingiest presidents of all time when it came to the awarding of official forgiveness to felons, but the pardon floodgates opened when Hillary began her run for the US Senate. It was the selling of pardons for money and influence that launched the Clintons' nearly two decade pay for play scheme, a scheme that not only amassed billions of dollars for the Clinton Foundation and hundreds of millions of dollars for the Clintons but also catapulted Hillary into a presidential front runner. Pardongate reveals details of the Clinton machine that will leave even the most informed citizens appalled.

A Companion to Feminist Art
Hilary Robinson, Maria Elena Buszek, 2019-10-22

Original essays offering fresh ideas and global perspectives on contemporary feminist art. The term feminist art is often misused when viewed as a codification within the discipline of Art History, a codification that includes restrictive definitions of geography, chronology, style, materials, influence, and other definitions inherent to Art Historical and museological classifications. Employing a different approach, A Companion to Feminist Art defines art as a dynamic set of material and theoretical practices in the realm of culture and feminism, as an equally dynamic set of activist and theoretical practices in the realm of politics. Feminist art therefore is not a simple classification of a type of art but rather the space where feminist politics and the domain of art making intersect. The Companion provides readers with an overview of the developments, concepts, trends, influences, and activities within the space of contemporary feminist art in different locations, ways of making, and ways of thinking. Newly commissioned essays focus on the recent history of and current discussions within feminist art. Diverse in scope and style, these contributions range from essays on the questions and challenges of large sectors of artists such as configurations of feminism and gender in post Cold War Europe to more focused conversations with women artists on Afropean decoloniality. Ranging from discussions of essentialism and feminist aesthetics to examinations of political activism and curatorial practice, the Companion informs and questions, readers introduce new concepts and fresh perspectives, and illustrates just how much more there is to discover within the realm of feminist art. Addresses the intersection between feminist thinking and major theories that have influenced art theory Incorporates diverse voices from around the world to offer viewpoints on global feminisms from scholars who live and work in the regions about which they write Examines how feminist art intersects with considerations of collectivity war maternal relationships desire men and relational aesthetics Explores the myriad ways in which the experience of inhabiting and perceiving aged raced and gendered bodies relates to feminist politics in the art world Discusses a range practices in feminism such as activism language education and different ways of making art The intersection of feminist art making and feminist politics are not merely components of a unified whole they sometimes diverge and divide A Companion to Feminist Art is an indispensable resource for artists critics scholars curators and anyone seeking greater strength on the subject through informed critique and debate

Saharan Jews and the Fate of French Algeria Sarah Abrevaya Stein, 2014-05-06 The history of Algerian Jews has thus far been viewed from the perspective of communities on the northern coast who became to some extent beneficiaries of colonialism But to the south in the Sahara Jews faced a harsher colonial treatment In Saharan Jews and the Fate of French Algeria Sarah Abrevaya Stein asks why the Jews of Algeria s south were marginalized by French authorities how they negotiated the sometimes brutal results and what the reverberations have been in the postcolonial era Drawing on materials from thirty archives across six countries Stein tells the story of colonial imposition on a desert community that had lived and traveled in the Sahara for centuries She paints an intriguing historical picture of an ancient community trans Saharan commerce desert labor camps during World War II anthropologist spies battles over oil and the struggle for Algerian sovereignty Writing colonialism and decolonization into Jewish history and Jews into the French Saharan one Saharan Jews and the Fate of French Algeria is a fascinating
