Powell,2011-12-22 A groundbreaking interpretation of evolution as the work of Nature s intelligence Refutes the orthodox view of evolution as a mindless process driven by chance Explains why context is more important than mutation in evolutionary innovation Shows how by recognizing Nature s innovative and creative powers we can overcome our social and environmental challenges with a new green science of evolution Darwin s theory of evolution is undoubtedly one of the most important scientific ideas of the modern age explaining the existence of both life and consciousness without recourse to divine intervention Yet how do we interpret evolution How do we evaluate the ability of Nature to engineer something as exquisite as the genetic code or the human brain Could it be that evolution is an intelligent process Is Nature smart According to most scientists the answer is no While humanity may be intelligent and purposeful the natural processes that crafted us are deemed to be devoid of such attributes In a radical move away from orthodoxy Simon G Powell extends Darwin s vision by showing that evolution is not just about the survival of the fittest but rather the survival of clever and sensible behavior Revealing the importance of the context in which things evolve he explores the intelligent learning process behind natural selection Rich with examples of the incredibly complex plants animals insects and marine life designed by Nature from the carnivorous Venus flytrap and the fungus farming leafcutter ant to the symbiotic microbes found inside the common cow he shows Nature as a whole to be a system of self organizing intelligence in which life and consciousness were always destined to emerge Examining the origins of life and the failure of artificial intelligence to compete with natural intelligence he explains how our scientifically narrow minded views on intelligence are now acting as a barrier to our own evolution As Darwin s unfinished business comes to light and Nature s intelligence is embraced we learn that Nature s agenda is not simply the replication of genetic matter but of expanding consciousness By working with Nature s creative and innovative powers instead of against them we can address today s social and environmental challenges with a new green science of evolution American Book Publishing Record ,2002 Australian Insects Bert Brunet,2000 Insects are survivors Since their evolution in the Devonian some 365 million years ago they have penetrated almost every habitat on Earth Today in Australia there are over 100 000 species crawling flying hopping and hurrying across the continent Their responses to the challenges of this vast and often inhospitable land have been an array of clever adaptations Every major insect group has found a way to live here successfully and some of the world s oldest lineages of insects continue to survive in Australia despite their extinction elsewhere Australian Insects a Natural History records the physical attributes and lifestyle developments that have made life on this continent possible for insects
