The Alexander Romance in Persia and the East Richard Stoneman, Kyle Erickson, Ian Richard Netton, 2012. Alexander the Great of Macedon was no stranger to controversy in his own time. Conqueror of the Greek states of Egypt and of the Persian Empire, as well as many of the principalities of the Indus Valley, he nevertheless became revered as well as vilified. Was he simply a destroyer of the ancient civilizations and religions of these regions, or was he a hero of the Persian dynasties and of Islam? The conflicting views that were taken of him in the Middle East in his own time and the centuries that followed are still reflected in the tensions that exist between east and west today. The story of Alexander became the subject of legend in the medieval west, but was perhaps even more pervasive in the east. The Alexander Romance was translated into Syriac in the sixth century and may have become current in Persia as early as the third century AD. From these beginnings, it reached into the Persian national epic, the Shahnameh, into Jewish traditions, and into the Quran and subsequent Arab romance. The papers in this volume all have the aim of deepening our understanding of this complex development. If we can understand better why Alexander is such an important figure in both east and west, we shall be a little closer to understanding what unites two often antipathetic worlds. This volume collects the papers delivered at the conference of the same title held at the University of Exeter from July 26-29, 2010. More than half the papers were by invited speakers and were designed to provide a systematic view of the subject; the remainder were selected for their ability to carry research forward in an integrated way.

A Hebrew Alexander Romance According to MS London, Jews' College No. 145 Leo (Archipresbyter), 1992. The reader is presented here with a study of the text of a Hebrew manuscript which is a medieval version of the Alexander Romance or the legendary history of Alexander the Great. The Hebrew text in this unique manuscript, known as MS London, is a translation of the Historia de Preliis Alexandri Magni, a widespread Latin version of the Alexander Romance. The Latin text was very useful for establishing an almost complete text of the London version and for identifying names and terms. A comparison of our text with other Hebrew sources on Alexander was of similar help in establishing a correct reading. The introduction, which precedes the text, and the English translation offers a survey of research into the history and development of Alexander traditions in Greek, Latin, and Hebrew literature, as well as a detailed analysis of the present text concerning its language, style, and themes. This study is concluded by selective notes to the text.

and indices on personal and geographical names and foreign terms with their Latin equivalents
