The woman has long, flowing blonde hair and is wearing a light-colored, possibly white, dress. The man is shirtless and has short, wavy blonde hair. They are set against a dark, moody background with hints of a rocky landscape and a purple-tinged sky. The overall color palette is dominated by purples, blues, and warm skin tones.

Hang 'Em High Bob Herzberg, 2013-08-29 For more than a century the Western film has proven to be an enduring genre. At the dawn of the 20th century in the same years that The Great Train Robbery begat a film genre, Owen Wister wrote The Virginian which began a new literary genre. From the beginning both literature and film would usually perpetuate the myth of the Old West as a place where justice always triumphed and all concerned except the villains pursued the Law. The facts, however, reflect abuses of due process, lynch mobs and hired gunslingers rather than lawmen regularly pursued lawbreakers, vengeance rather than justice was often employed and even in courts of law justice didn't always prevail. Some films and novels bucked this trend, however. This book discusses the many Western films as well as the novels they are based on that illustrate distortions of the law in the Old West and the many ways most of them marked by vengeance in which its characters pursued justice.

Age of the Gunfighter Joseph G. Rosa, 1995 Joseph G. Rosa's vivid and expertly written tale of this violent time combines contemporary accounts with meticulous historical research and an unjaundiced appraisal of the facts. Telling the story of every major gunfighter, peace officer and outlaw of the West, Rosa places them within the context of a violent frontier and the coming of law and order. Complementing the text are twenty-seven outstanding color spreads featuring firearms from the Gene Autry Western Heritage Museum, Los Angeles and the Buffalo Bill Historical Center, Cody. Many of the spreads contain guns owned and used by such well-known individuals as Pat Garrett, Billy the Kid, Doc Holliday, Wyatt Earp, Wild Bill Hickok, John Wesley Hardin, Frank James and Harvey Logan.

Remembering Viet Nam Regula Fuchs, 2010 How does American culture deal with its memories of the Vietnam War and what role does literature play in this process? Remembering Viet Nam is a fascinating exploration of the ways in which authors of Vietnam War literature represent American cultural memory in their writings. The analysis is based on a wide array of sources including historical, political, cultural and literary studies as well as works on trauma. It begins with an examination of American foundation myths, their normative, formative and most of all their bonding nature and the role institutions such as the military and the media play in upholding these myths The study then considers the soldiers and war veterans minds and bodies and the stories they tell as key sites in the debates over the war s place in American cultural memory The multilayered approach of Remembering Vietnam allows the investigation of Vietnam War literature in its whole breadth including the debates instigated by the works examined and the influence these narratives themselves have on American cultural memory Most importantly the analysis uncovers why American foundation myths despite their being thoroughly questioned and even exposed as cultural inventions by authors and reviewers of Vietnam War literature can still retain their power within American society
