Banks were nationalized in India to have social control over them.

As such, they are required to invest a certain percentage of loans and advances in priority sectors, viz, agriculture, small scale, and tiny sector, and export-oriented industries, etc.

9. The Character of the Borrower last but not the least, the bank should carefully examine the character of the borrower.

Character implies honesty, integrity, creditworthiness, and capacity of the borrower to return the loan.
