'Balkanization' and the Euro-Atlantic Processes of the (Western) Balkans Liridona Veliu Ashiku, 2024-08-30 This book explores how balkanization as a discourse underpins the policies of the European Union EU and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO toward the Western Balkans It shows how EU and NATO policies have emerged from and led to the constant reinvention of the unity of the West through balkanizing the region and illustrates how this dynamic is maintained by and instrumentalized for the political elites Through a genealogical analysis that stretches from the Balkans Wars to more recent events such as North Macedonia's change of name in 2018 the author shows how Western policies have aimed at recreating the united West on the back of the broken Balkans The book will appeal to scholars and students of Southeast Europe International Relations Political Science Peace and Conflict Studies and History

Culture Wars Deborah James, Evelyn Plaice, Christina Toren, 2010-03-01 The relationship between anthropologists ethnographic investigations and the lived social worlds in which these originate is a fundamental issue for anthropology Where some claim that only native voices may offer authentic accounts of culture and hence that ethnographers are only ever interpreters of it others point out that anthropologists are themselves implanted within specific cultural contexts which generate particular kinds of theoretical discussions The contributors to this volume reject the premise that ethnographer and informant occupy different and incommensurable cultural worlds Instead they investigate the relationship between culture context and anthropologists models and accounts in new ways In doing so they offer fresh insights into this key area of anthropological research Mapping Out the Research-policy Matrix Germán Solinís, Nicolas Baya-Laffite, 2011-01-01 Social science research provides not only abstract conceptual knowledge about society but also concrete instrumental knowledge It enables us to take action to recompose the world we live in However this book rejects narrow and simplistic conceptions of research use and its impact on policy making to embrace a more complex approach to seeing and dealing with social science In the paradigm of evidence based policy evidence is understood in its broad sense as information that helps form policies Nonetheless within current practices and discourse it is not clear what information is what is really meant by evidence and how it can be obtained objectively The book draws on papers presented at the International Forum on the Social Science

Policy Nexus where experts examined current practices and problems in areas such as social policy migration urban policies and globalisation The Forum set a precedent in terms of dialogue between researchers and policy makers The authors contribute to enriching and elucidating the most common conceptualisations of the research policy nexus They represent a rich diversity of views although most agree that an effective strategy to enhance social science policy linkages should be underpinned by a theoretical and methodological framework that takes into account the interplay of different social actors
