1. The first step in the process of the investigation is the identification of the problem. This is done by the investigator who is assigned to the case. The investigator will then gather information about the problem and the people involved. This information will be used to develop a plan of action.

2. The second step is the development of a plan of action. This plan will outline the steps that will be taken to solve the problem. It will also identify the people who will be responsible for each step.

3. The third step is the implementation of the plan of action. This is done by the people who are responsible for each step. They will follow the plan and take the necessary actions to solve the problem.

4. The fourth step is the evaluation of the results. This is done by the investigator who will assess the effectiveness of the plan and the actions taken.

5. The fifth step is the reporting of the results. This is done by the investigator who will write a report on the findings of the investigation.
