It was believed that September 11th would make certain kinds of films obsolete such as action thrillers crackling with explosions or high casualty blockbusters where the hero escapes unscathed While the production of these films did ebb the full impact of the attacks on Hollywood s creative output is still taking shape Did 9 11 force filmmakers and screenwriters to find new methods of storytelling What kinds of movies have been made in response to 9 11 and are they factual Is it even possible to practice poetic license with such a devastating broadly felt tragedy Stephen Prince is the first scholar to trace the effect of 9 11 on the making of American film From documentaries like Fahrenheit 9 11 2004 to zombie flicks and from fictional narratives such as The Kingdom 2007 to Mike Nichols s Charlie Wilson s War 2007 Prince evaluates the extent to which filmmakers have exploited explained understood or interpreted the attacks and the Iraq War that followed including incidents at Abu Ghraib He begins with pre 9 11 depictions of terrorism such as Alfred Hitchcock s Sabotage 1936 and follows with studio and independent films that directly respond to 9 11 He considers documentary portraits and conspiracy films as well as serial television shows most notably Fox s 24 and made for TV movies that re present the attacks in a broader more intimate way Ultimately Prince finds that in these triumphs and failures an exciting new era of American filmmaking has taken shape

Some of My Best Friends are Books Judith Wynn Halsted,2009 Recommends books for gifted readers that provide insights and coping skills for issues they may face from preschool through high school featuring more than three hundred titles with brief summaries organized by reading levels and includes an index arranged by theme The Rise of Nuclear Fear Spencer R. Weart,2012-04-02 After a tsunami destroyed the cooling system at Japan s Fukushima Nuclear Power Plant triggering a meltdown protesters around the world challenged the use of nuclear power Germany announced it would close its plants by 2022 Although the ills of fossil fuels are better understood than ever the threat of climate change has never aroused the same visceral dread or swift action Spencer Weart dissects this paradox demonstrating that a powerful web of images surrounding nuclear energy holds us captive allowing fear rather than facts to drive our thinking and public policy Building on his classic Nuclear Fear Weart follows nuclear imagery from its origins in the symbolism of medieval alchemy to its appearance in film and fiction Long before nuclear fission was discovered fantasies of the destroyed planet the transforming ray and the white city of the future took root in the popular imagination At the turn of the twentieth century when limited facts about radioactivity became known they produced a blurred picture upon which scientists and the public projected their hopes and fears These fears were magnified during the Cold War when mushroom clouds no longer needed to be imagined they appeared on the evening news Weart examines nuclear anxiety in sources as diverse as Alain Resnais's film Hiroshima Mon Amour Cormac McCarthy's novel The Road and the television show The Simpsons Recognizing how much we remain in thrall to these setpieces of the imagination Weart hopes will help us resist manipulation from both sides of the nuclear debate
