Keepers of the Code Robert Lecker, 2013-01-01 Robert Lecker explores the ways in which these anthologies contributed to the formation of a Canadian literary canon the extent to which this canon was tied to an ideal of English Canadian nationalism and the material conditions accounting for the anthologies production

Sanctioned Ignorance Paul Martin, 2013-10-15 Bilingual literary scholar builds bridges spanning institutional silos to found an inclusive literatures of Canada

Reading Without Maps? Den Tandt Christophe (ed.), 2005 Among the intellectual debates of the last forty years the critique of cultural canons has attracted the highest share of public attention stirring academic educational and media controversies on both sides of the Atlantic Postmodernism feminism postcolonialism and multiculturalism have refashioned the attitudes of educators and audiences towards cultural memory opening up curricula to subjects and traditions previously excluded from the humanities Predictably these new critical practices have triggered heated responses from commentators fearing that culture and education might thereby be deprived of their capacity to provide audiences and learners with proper groundings and landmarks The present volume gathers contributions that throw light on multiple aspects of this reconfiguration of cultural memory It brings together essays focusing on the dynamics of canon formation in several fields literature drama film and music Contributors examine how writers and communities find their bearings in a cultural landscape more complex than that previously envisaged by advocates of the Great Tradition Specifically the present essays throw light on the status of modernist writing drama in English or popular genres within the new canonical topography elaborated at the turn of the twenty first century
