Golden Haze of Memory Stephanie E. Yuhl, 2006-03-08 Charleston South Carolina today enjoys a reputation as a destination city for cultural and heritage tourism In A Golden Haze of Memory Stephanie E Yuhl looks back to the crucial period between 1920 and 1940 when local leaders developed Charleston's trademark image as America's Most Historic City. Eager to assert the national value of their regional cultural traditions and to situate Charleston as a bulwark against the chaos of modern America, these descendants of old line families downplayed Confederate associations and emphasized the city's colonial and early national prominence. They created a vibrant network of individual artists, literary figures, and organizations such as the all-white Society for the Preservation of Negro Spirituals that nurtured architectural preservation, art, literature, and tourism while appropriating African American folk culture. In the process, they translated their selective and idiosyncratic personal, familial, and class memories into a collective identity for the city. The Charleston this group built, Yuhl argues, presented a sanitized yet highly marketable version of the American past. Their efforts invited attention and praise from outsiders while protecting social hierarchies and preserving the political and economic power of whites. Through the example of this colorful southern city, Yuhl posits a larger critique about the use of heritage and demonstrates how something as intangible as the recalled past can be transformed into real political, economic, and social power.

The Hogg Family and Houston Kate Sayen Kirkland, 2009-02-15. Progressive former governor James Stephen Hogg moved his business headquarters to Houston in 1905. For seven decades, his children Will, Ima, and Mike Hogg used their political ties, social position, and family fortune to improve the lives of fellow Houstonians. As civic activists, they espoused contested causes like city planning and mental health care. As volunteers, they inspired others to support social service, educational, and cultural programs. As philanthropic entrepreneurs, they built institutions that have long outlived them: the Houston Symphony, the Museum of Fine Arts, Memorial Park, and the Hogg Foundation. The Hoggs had a vision of Houston as a great city, a place that supports access to parklands, music, and art, nurtures knowledge of the American heritage, which unites us, and provides social service and mental health care assistance. This vision links them to generations of American idealists who advanced a moral response to change. Based on extensive archival sources, The Hogg Family and Houston explains the impact of Hogg family philanthropy for the first time. This study explores how individual ideals and actions influence community development and nurture humanitarian values. It examines how philanthropists and volunteers mold Houston's traditions and mobilize allies to meet civic goals. It argues that Houston's generous citizens have long believed that innovative cultural achievement must balance aggressive economic expansion.

A Girl Can Do: Recognizing and Representing Girlhood Tiffany R. Isselhardt, 2022-07-12. How do scholars research and interpret marginalized populations, especially those that are seldom recognized as marginalized or whose sources are believed to be rare? Combining intersectional feminism and public history methodologies, A Girl Can Do: Recognizing and Representing Girlhood reflects on how girlhood is found, researched, and interpreted in museums, archives, and historic sites. Defining girl as self-identifying females under the age of 21, A Girl Can Do lays the groundwork for understanding girlhood, its constructs, and its marginalization while providing faculty, students, and working professionals with ten case studies on researching and working with girlhood. Contributors include archaeologists, archivists curators educators and historians who demonstrate how adding a girl studies lens fosters greater inclusivity and diversity in our work Whether studying spatial techniques of marginalization in colonial Peru the daybooks as records of girlhood in late nineteenth century Sweden or collaborating with self identifying fangirls to produce a pop up exhibition the contributors demonstrate the variety of sources and methods that can be used to interpret this oft overlooked population Throughout A Girl Can Do petitions for collaborative and creative thinking in how we can reframe and reinterpret our sources both traditional and overlooked to shed new light on how girls have contributed to and provide frames of reference for human history and culture

Million Dollar Nickels Paul Montgomery, Mark Borckardt, Ray Knight, 2005-08 Framed in the backdrop of a nationwide media frenzy and a public mad with the hope of finding the multi million dollar coin this is the story of America's most eccentric and famous collectors persistent reporters searching for the truth shameless profiteers and agents of the Smithsonian Institute desperate to stay above the fray Enterprising collectors spared no expense over the decades advertising to purchase a 1913 Liberty Head nickel prompting generations of collectors to search cans of coins and old collections they inherited all for the hope of finding the prized 1913 Liberty Head nickel In the end it was an anonymous heiress with an old envelope upon which was written the word fake that held the truth With that envelope and the coin inside six of the world's most respected coin experts sat in a small room under the vigilant watch of armed guards Few expected what they found And what they found rewrote numismatic history

The Incomparable Hildegard Monica Storme Gallamore, 2018-04-11 The Incomparable Hildegard 1906-2005 began her career as a pianist in Milwaukee's silent movie theaters which led to the Vaudeville stage By the 1930s she was singing in the cabarets of Paris and London rubbing elbows with royalty White Russians and Josephine Baker She then became a darling of the New York supper club scene and her name became synonymous with high class entertainment at venues like the Plaza Hotel's Persian Room She started fashion trends had her own signature Revlon nail and lip color and was the first to have song hits in the World War II era This first biography of Hildegard Sill covers her 70 year career including her intimate relationship with her manager Anna Sosenko and emphasizes her importance in 20th century American popular culture

Jews in the Gym Leonard Jay Greenspoon, 2012 For some the connection between Jews and athletics might seem far fetched But in fact as is highlighted by the fourteen chapters in this collection Jews have been participating in and thinking about sports for more than two thousand years The articles in this volume cover a wide chronological range from the Hellenistic period first century BCE to the most recent basketball season The range of athletes covered is equally broad The authors of these essays raise a number of intriguing questions such as What differing attitudes toward sports have Jews exhibited across periods and cultures In what sports have Jews excelled and why How have Jews overcome prejudices on the part of the general populace against a Jewish presence on the field or in the ring This volume features a number of illustrations many of them quite rare It is accessible to the general reader and contains much information of interest to the scholar in Jewish studies American studies and sports history

The

Scrapbook in American Life Susan Tucker, Katherine Ott, Patricia Buckler, 2006 This book explores the history of scrapbook making its origins uses changing forms and purposes as well as the human agents behind the books themselves Scrapbooks bring pleasure in both the making and consuming and are one of the most enduring yet simultaneously changing cultural forms of the last two centuries Despite the popularity of scrapbooks no one has placed them within historical traditions until now This volume considers the makers their artefacts And The viewers within the context of American culture The volume s contributors do not show the reader how to make scrapbooks or improve techniques but instead explore the curious history of what others have done in the past and why these splendid examples of material and visual culture have such a significant place in many households      FATHER of the FATHERLESS Richard Gribble, CSC,      Heritage Music & Entertainment Auction #7006 ,      Shopping in the 1940s Rebecca Hunter, Faye Gardner, 2006 Family Scrapbook features the memories and photographs of real life grannies Lively narrative is supported by a wide range of photographs which feature anything from contemporary adverts to pictures of the grandmas with their own parents and grandparents      All Aboard for Santa Fe Victoria E. Dye, 2016-04-25 By the late 1800s the major mode of transportation for travelers to the Southwest was by rail In 1878 the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company AT SF became the first railroad to enter New Mexico and by the late 1890s it controlled more than half of the track miles in the Territory The company wielded tremendous power in New Mexico and soon made tourism an important facet of its financial enterprise All Aboard for Santa Fe focuses on the AT SF s marketing efforts to highlight Santa Fe as an ideal tourism destination The company marketed the healthful benefits of the area s dry desert air a strong selling point for eastern city dwelling tuberculosis sufferers AT SF also joined forces with the Fred Harvey Company owner of numerous hotels and restaurants along the rail line to promote Santa Fe Together they developed materials emphasizing Santa Fe s Indian and Hispanic cultures promoting artists from the area s art colonies and created the Indian Detours sightseeing tours All Aboard for Santa Fe is a comprehensive study of AT SF s early involvement in the establishment of western tourism and the mystique of Santa Fe
