The Celluloid South Edward D. C. Campbell, 2003-03-03 The southern as much a Hollywood genre as the western is the subject of The Celluloid South For decades the film industry to provide profit making entertainment offered the public movies that neither raised difficult issues nor offended a majority of the ticket buyers As a result Hollywood romanticized the south particularly the antebellum era in hundreds of films like Uncle Tom's Cabin Gone With the Wind Birth of a Nation and Jezebel During the 1920s and especially the Depression the moonlight and magnolia romances increased to such an extent that Hollywood has been struggling since the late forties to rid films of the traditional images of the southern In his exploration of the southern Edward D C Campbell Jr examines the film plots and images their social literary and historical origins and their impact on the creation of a popular mythology of the south The unrealistic but seemingly harmless characterizations of a planter society and agricultural economy and especially slavery have hindered the region's self assessment and warped the nation's perspective on race Campbell looks beyond the productions themselves however to advertising techniques and the reactions of the viewers and reviewers in his examination of the southern its popularity and its decline and its influence of the public's conception of history contemporary conditions and black white relations The Celluloid South is not a study of film per se but of film as a reflection of society and the ramifications inherent in popular entertainment Readers interested in southern history popular culture or cinema studies as well as movie fans will find The Celluloid South a fascinating look at Hollywood's development of the southern myth Thirty one film stills illustrate the text

My Struggle for Freedom Hans Küng, 2005-01-01 Hans Küng is undoubtedly one of the most important theologians of our time but he has always been a controversial figure and as the result of a much publicized clash over papal infallibility had his permission to teach revoked by the Vatican Yet at seventy five he is also something like a senior statesman one of the Group of Eminent Persons convened by the UN Secretary General Kofi Annan and a friend of heads of government like Tony Blair and President Mubarak of Egypt In this fascinating autobiography he gives a frank and outspoken account of the first four decades of his life He tells of his youth in Switzerland and his decision to become a priest his doubts and struggles as he studied in Rome and Paris and his experiences as a professor in Tübingen where he received a chair at the amazingly early age of thirty one Most importantly as one of the last surviving eye witnesses he gives an authentic account of the struggles behind the scenes at the Second Vatican Council in which he took part as a theological expert Here it becomes clear just how major an influence he was to the point of shaping the Council s agenda and drafting speeches for bishops to deliver in plenary sessions With its rich thought and vivid narrative K ng s book paints a moving picture of his personal convictions and his struggle for a Christianity characterized not by the domination of an official church but by Jesus
