Americana in 1/12 Scale Mary Lou Santovec, JoAnn O'Greene, 2002 Lovers of all things American will be delighted by these 50 meticulously researched and exquisitely executed original projects created by Mary Lou Santovec and JoAnn O'Greene. Five key aspects of Americana are represented here: Native American, Rural, Western, Nostalgic, and Sporting. The projects contain everything you need to know to create authentic miniature American artefacts as well as their history and culture. The British National

Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 50 Great American Places Brent D. Glass, 2016-03-15 Profiles fifty sites across the United States that trace the cultural history of the country, discussing the people and events that led to each site's importance from the National Mall in D.C. to Pearl Harbor in Hawaii. Growing Child Intellect Judy Harris Helm, Karrie A. Snider, 2020 This book began as a deep discussion among administrators, teachers, researchers, teacher educators, and educational consultants concerned about the critical reduction of play, engaged learning opportunities, and intellectually stimulating experiences in classrooms for toddlers through the primary grades. This group made a pact to organize and stand up for engaged learning by creating a comprehensive research-based defense that they call The Manifesto In Growing Child Intellect. This panel of experts pulls together the research, stories, and lessons learned from using the Project Approach in a variety of settings. Readers are invited to dive deeply with them into the world of project work, beginning with the neuroscience foundation through the research in the field and on to the challenges and successes. Book Features: Provides a strong review of research on the benefits of the Project Approach. Explains research on the development of intellect from Mind, Brain, Education, Science. Includes extensive examples of intellectually stimulating classrooms and learning experiences across diverse settings. Shows how to bring engaging experiences into classrooms while still meeting goals for required content and standards. Explains what each person can do, no matter position or program, to nurture children's intellectual development. Provides practical advice for overcoming common challenges to implementing project work. Offers a short Declaration of Beliefs about engaged learning for easy sharing. Assessment in Higher Education John Heywood, 2000 This book examines not only the assessment of student learning but the assessment of institutions, the programmes they offer, and the teaching they provide. It describes in detail the significant developments that have taken place over the last decade in the field and clarifies the different meanings of the term assessment that are now in use. Department of Energy Fiscal Year 1982 Authorization United States. Carpenter,1997-04-03 Learning by Building challenges today s architects and students to experience the energy and creativity of construction Based on the example of famous architects such as Frank Lloyd Wright and Le Corbusier who considered construction an integral part of the design process design build is standard practice in growing numbers of today s architecture firms Architect and professor William J Carpenter explores ways to integrate construction into architectural education bridging the gap between theory and practice between designing and building Mr Carpenter traces the history of construction in architectural education from medieval times to Jefferson s Monticello to the German Bauhaus He cites twentieth century artists such as Richard Serra and Donald Judd whose work is generated by the process of making like the artist the architect should be immersed in the potential of construction Ten in depth case studies of schools that have incorporated design build into their curriculum illustrate how construction studios help future architects learn real life pragmatics and collaboration Through text and photographs Mr Carpenter recounts the diverse experiences of high profile schools such as Cranbrook and Yale University providing models for other schools that wish to include design build in their curriculums Mr Carpenter also gives a helpful outline of the practical details involved in design build such as team issues legal issues and built applications of the process Learning by Building is a wake up call to architects and students alike to immerse themselves in the process of architecture to rediscover or witness for the first time the excitement of building anthropology psychology and psychiatry and reveals how together they have constructed a gravely distorted portrait of the Aboriginal Waldram continues this acute examination under two general themes The first focuses on how culture as a concept has been theorized and operationalized in the study of Aboriginal mental health The second seeks to elucidate the contribution that Aboriginal peoples have inadvertently made to theoretical and methodological developments in the three fields under discussion primarily as subjects for research and sources of data It is Waldram s assertion that despite the enormous amount of research undertaken on Aboriginal peoples researchers have mostly failed to comprehend the meaning of contemporary Aboriginality for mental health and illness preferring instead the reflection of their own scientific lens as the only means to properly observe measure assess and treat Using interdisciplinary methods the author critically assesses the enormous amount of information that has been generated on Aboriginal mental health deconstructs it and through this exercise provides guidance for a new vein of research
