Blood West:

West of 98 Lynn Stegner, Russell Rowland, 2012-07-25 What does it mean to be a westerner With all the mythology that has grown up about the American West is it even possible to describe how it was how it is here in the West just that in the words of Lynn Stegner Starting with that challenge Stegner and Russell Rowland invited several dozen members of the western literary tribe to write about living in the West and being a western writer in particular West of 98 gathers sixty six literary testimonies in essays and poetry from a stellar collection of writers who represent every state west of the 98th parallel a kind of Greek chorus of the most prominent voices in western literature today who seek to characterize the West as each of us grew to know it and equally important the West that is still becoming In West of 98 western writers speak to the ways in which the West imprints itself on the people who live there as well as how the people of the West create the personality of the region The writers explore the western landscape how it has been revered and abused across centuries and the inescapable limitations its aridity puts on all dreams of conquest and development They dismantle the boosterism of manifest destiny and the cowboy and mountain man ethos of every man for himself and show instead how we must create new narratives of cooperation if we are to survive in this spare and beautiful country The writers seek to define the essence of both actual and metaphoric wilderness as they journey toward a West that might honestly be called home A collective declaration not of our independence but of our interdependence with the land and with each other West of 98 opens up a whole new panorama of the western experience

The Mediaeval Mind: A History of the Development of Thought and Emotion in the Middle Ages (Complete) Henry Osborn Taylor, 2020-09-28 The Middle Ages They seem so far away intellectually so preposterous spiritually so strange Bits of them may touch our sympathy please our taste their window glass their sculpture certain of their stories their romances as if those straitened ages really were the time of romance which they were not God knows in the sense commonly taken Yet perhaps they were such intellectually or at least spiritually Their terra not for them incognita though full of mystery and pall and vaguer glory was not the earth It was the land of metaphysical construction and the land of spiritual passion There lay their romance thither pointed their veriest thinking thither drew their utter yearning Is it possible that the Middle Ages should speak to us as through a common humanity Their mask is by no means dumb in full voice speaks the noble beauty of Chartres Cathedral Such mediaeval product we hope is of the universal human and therefore of us as well as of the bygone craftsmen Why it moves us we are not certain being ignorant perhaps of the building's formative and earnestly intended meaning Do we care to get at that There is no way save by entering the mediaeval depths penetrating to the rationale of the Middle Ages learning the doctrinale or emotionale of the modes in which they still present themselves so persuasively But if the pageant of those centuries charm our eyes with forms that seem so full of meaning why should we stand indifferent to the harnessed processes of mediaeval thinking and the passion surging through the thought Thought marshalled the great mediaeval procession which moved to measures of pulsating and glorifying emotion Shall we not press on through knowledge and search out its efficient causes so that we too may feel the reality of the mediaeval argumentation with the possible validity of mediaeval conclusions and tread those channels of mediaeval passion which were cleared and deepened by the thought This would be to reach human comradeship with mediaeval motives no longer found too remote for our sympathy or too fantastic or shallow for our understanding But where is the path through these footless mazes Obviously if we would attain perhaps no unified but at least an orderly presentation of mediaeval intellectual and emotional development we must avoid entanglements with manifold and not always relevant detail We must not drift too far with studies of daily life habits and dress wars and raiding crimes and brutalities or trade and craft and agriculture Nor will it be wise to keep too close to theology or within the lines of growth of secular and ecclesiastical institutions Let the student be mindful of his purpose which is my purpose in this book to follow through the Middle Ages the development of intellectual energy and the growth of emotion Holding this end in view we students all shall not stray from our quest after those human qualities which impelled the strivings of mediaeval men and women informed their imaginations and moved them to love and tears and pity The plan and method by which I have endeavoured to realize this purpose in my book may be gathered from the Table of Contents and the First Chapter which is introductory These will obviate the need of sketching here the order of presentation of the successive or co-ordinated topics forming the subject matter Yet one word as to the standpoint from which the book is written An historian explains by the standards and limitations of the times to which his people belong He judges for he must also judge by his own best wisdom His sympathy cannot but reach out to those who lived up to their best understanding of life for who can do more Yet woe unto that man whose mind is closed whose standards are material and base
