Bloodless Genealogies Of The French Middle Ages Translation Kinship And Metaphor:

Reinventing Babel in Medieval French Emma Campbell, 2023-09-09 How can untranslatability help us to think about the historical as well as the cultural and linguistic dimensions of translation For the past two centuries theoretical debates about translation have responded to the idea that translation overcomes linguistic and cultural incommensurability while never inscribing full equivalence More recently untranslatability has been foregrounded in projects at the intersections between translation studies and other disciplines notably philosophy and comparative literature The critical turn to untranslatability re emphasizes the importance of translation s negotiation with foreignness or difference and prompts further reflection on how that might be understood historically philosophically and ethically If translation never replicates a source exactly what does it mean to communicate some elements and not others What or who determines what is translatable or what can or cannot be recontextualized What linguistic political cultural or historical factors condition such determinations Central to these questions is the way translation negotiates with and inscribes asymmetries among languages and cultures operations that are inevitably ethical and political as well as linguistic This book explores how approaching questions of translatability and untranslatability through premodern texts and languages can inform broader interdisciplinary conversations about translation as a concept and a practice Working with case studies drawn from the francophone cultures of Flanders England and northern France it explores how medieval texts challenge modern definitions of language text and translation and in so doing how such texts can open sites of variance and non identity within what later became the hegemonic global languages we know today

Rhetoric in the Twenty-First Century Nicholas J. Crowe, David A. Frank, 2016-04-26 This book arises from a symposium held in Oxford to consider the most fruitful trajectories of rhetoric in the 21st century The gathering comprised an international delegation of leading scholars convened to assess from an array of perspectives the various possible futures of the ancient discipline of rhetoric as it responds vitally to the evolving contexts of the new millennium This collection commemorates that event by extending its scrutiny into a number of specific fields of inquiry It includes a foreword by Prof James J Murphy an introductory article by the editors and six further articles commissioned from among the participants The introduction provides a detailed account of the symposium and foregrounds the delegates articles with a r sum of their arguments and consequent relevance to the overarching theme Each contribution is a freshly minted and original piece of scholarship true to the generative and interactive spirit of the enterprise and speaking pertinently to the field of international rhetoric studies at the present time Rhetoric in the Twenty First Century addresses a spectrum of concerns Scholars and students of rhetoric and language use will naturally find much of interest here and the inclusive ambit of the work will also appeal to students of ethics religion comparative literature intercultural studies and the growing field of communication studies

Authoring the Past Jaume Aurell, 2024-05-31 Authoring the Past surveys medieval Catalan historiography shedding light on the emergence and evolution of historical writing and autobiography in the Middle Ages on questions of authority and authorship and on the links between history and politics during the period Jaume Aurell examines texts from the late twelfth to the late fourteenth century including the Latin Gesta comitum Barcinonensium and four texts in medieval Catalan James I's Llibre dels fets the Crònica of Bernat Desclot the Crònica of Ramon Muntaner and the Crònica of Peter the Ceremonious and outlines the different motivations for the writing of each For Aurell these chronicles are not mere archaeological artifacts but rather documents that speak to their writers specific contemporary social and political purposes He argues that these Catalan counts and Aragonese kings were attempting to use their role as authors to legitimize their monarchical status their growing political and economic power and their aggressive expansionist policies in the Mediterranean By analyzing these texts alongside one another Aurell demonstrates the shifting contexts in which chronicles were conceived written and read throughout the Middle Ages The first study of its kind to make medieval Catalan writings available to English speaking audiences Authoring the Past will be of interest to scholars of history and comparative literature students of Hispanic and Romance medieval studies and medievalists who study the chronicle tradition in other languages

Transnational Modern Languages Jennifer Burns, Derek Duncan, 2022-05-13 An Open Access edition of this book will be available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library In a world increasingly defined by the transnational and translingual and by the pressures of globalization it has become difficult to study culture as primarily a national phenomenon A Handbook offers students across Modern Languages an introduction to the kind of methodological questions they need to look at culture transnationally Each of the short essays takes a key concept in cultural study and suggests how it might be used to explore and illuminate some aspect of identity mobility translation and cultural exchange across borders The authors range over different language areas and their wide chronological reach provides broad coverage as well as a flexible and practical methodology for studying cultures in a transnational framework The essays show that an inclusive transnational vision and practice of Modern Languages is central to understanding human interaction in an inclusive globalized society A Handbook stands as an effective and necessary theoretical and thematically diverse glossary and companion to the national volumes in the series
