"Bill" Archer,2000-08-28 The remarkable story of Bluefield represents a unique combination of geology geography and opportunity Once just the confluence of a handful of family farms in southern West Virginia Bluefield was put on the map literally in the 1880s when the Norfolk Western Railway came to town The companys influence on the rural landscape was overwhelming and soon Bluefield was transformed into the center of a coal fired universe and became a major thoroughfare for the then thriving mining industry Though the companynot the coalwas king in Bluefield enterprising men and women could and did share in its success The city evolved into a successful supply center for the enormous network of towns that sprung up almost overnight throughout the regions coalfields For the next 60 years Bluefield experienced dramatic growth enticing a diverse group of newcomers who helped to build the strong cultural heritage that continues to play a prominent role in the community to the present day Bluefield Housing as Alternative Infill for the Suburbs Damian Madigan,2023-12-22 Suburbanised cities share a common dilemma how to transition to more densely populated and socially connected urban systems while retaining low rise character avoiding gentrification and

opening neighbourhoods to more diverse housing choices Bluefield Housing offers a new land definition and co located infill model addressing these concerns through describing and deploying the types of ad hoc modifications that have been undertaken in the suburbs for decades Extending green brown and greyfield definitions it provides a necessary middle ground between the do nothing attitude of suburban preservation and the do everything approach of knock down rebuild regeneration An adjunct to missing middle and subdivision densification models with a focus on co locating homes on small lots Bluefield Housing presents a unified design approach to suburban infill retrofitting original houses retaining and enhancing landscape and urban tree canopies and delivering additional homes as low rise additions and backyard homes suited to the increasingly complex make up of our households Extensively illustrated by the author with engaging architectural design studies Damian Madigan describes how existing quirks of suburban housing can prompt new forms of infill explains why a new suburban densification model is not only necessary but can be made desirable for varied stakeholders and charts a path towards the types of statutory and market triggers required to make bluefield housing achievable Using Australian housing as an example but addressing universal concerns around neighbourhood character demographic needs housing diversity dwelling flexibility and landscape amenity Bluefield Housing offers innovative suburban infill ideas for policy makers planners architects researchers and students of housing and design studies and for those with a stake in the future of the suburbs The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

Bluefield in Vintage Postcards Mary Margaret Spracher Annett, 2004 Nestled at the foot of East River Mountain in the southern tip of West Virginia Bluefield calls itself Nature's Air Conditioned City and is a place of great cultural industrial and natural wealth The early to mid 1900s were a booming time for the city thanks to coal mining and the Norfolk and Western Railway For the many people who lived in or traveled through the region during that era postcards provided a simple and convenient way to send both personal correspondence and business communications Today Bluefield continues to change and evolve but maintains a strong sense of history with many of its buildings and homes listed on the National Register of Historic Places

Federal Register, 2012-09      Bluefield in the 1940s William R. "Bill" Archer, 2009-02-09 Almost every American city enjoys a magical time in history when all the tumblers of fate luck hard work and good fortune seem to fall into place and the city enjoys a golden era The 1940s were just such a time in the city of Bluefield At the dawn of the decade the United States was on the verge of entering the greatest war the world has ever known and the coal that flowed through Norfolk and Western Railways Bluefield yard was destined to fuel an Allied victory But there is so much more than war and coal at the heart of Bluefields story The 1940s were a time of inspiration for men like Nobel laureate John F Nash Jr a time of artistic discovery for men like Joseph Dodd of Bluefield State College a time of valor and heroism for Congressional Medal of Honor recipient S Sgt Junior Spurrier and a period of success in business arts and professional fields for hundreds of Bluefields sons
