Of Art Volume 3:

Chinese Steles Dorothy C. Wong, 2004-09-30 Buddhist steles represent an important subset of early Chinese Buddhist art that flourished during the Northern and Southern Dynasties period 386-581. More than two hundred Chinese Buddhist steles are known to have survived. Their brilliant imagery has long captivated scholars, yet until now the Buddhist stele as a unique art form has received little scholarly attention. Dorothy Wong rectifies that insufficiency by providing in this well illustrated volume the first comprehensive investigation of this group of Buddhist monuments. She traces the ancient roots of the Chinese stele tradition and investigates the process by which Chinese steles were adapted for Buddhist use. She arranges the known corpus of Buddhist steles into broad chronological and regional groupings and analyzes not only their form and content but also the nexus of complex issues surrounding this art form from cultural symbolism to the interrelations between religious doctrine and artistic expression, economic production, patronage and the synthesis of native and foreign art styles. In her analysis of Buddhism's dialogue with native traditions, Wong demonstrates how the Chinese artistic idiom planted the seeds for major achievements in figural and landscape arts in the ensuing Sui and Tang periods. Black Belt, 1999-11 The oldest and most respected martial arts title in the industry, this popular monthly magazine addresses the needs of martial artists of all levels by providing them with information about every style of self-defense in the world, including techniques and strategies. In addition, Black Belt produces and markets over 75 martial arts oriented books and videos, including many about the works of Bruce Lee, the best known martial arts figure in the world. The Russian Revolution and Civil War 1917-1921 Jonathan Smele, 2006-04-15 The Russian Revolution and Civil War in the years 1917 to 1921 is one of the most widely studied periods in history. It is also somewhat inevitably one that has generated a huge flow of literature in the decades that have passed since the events themselves. However, until now, historians of the revolution have had no dedicated bibliography of the period and little claim to bibliographical control over the literature. The Russian Revolution and Civil War 1917-1921 offers for the first time a comprehensive bibliographical guide to this crucial and fascinating period of history. The Bibliography focuses on the key years of 1917 to 1921, starting with the February Revolution of 1917 and concluding with the 10th Party Congress of March 1921, and covers all the key events of the intervening years. As such, it identifies these crucial years as something more than simply the creation of a communist state. Art History as Social Praxis David Craven, 2017-08-21 Art History as Social Praxis: The Collected Writings of David Craven brings together more than thirty essays that chart the development of Craven's voice as an unorthodox Marxist who applied historical materialism to the study of modern art. This book demonstrates the range and versatility of David Craven's praxis as a democratic socialist art historian who assessed the essential role the visual arts play in imagining more just and equitable societies. The essays collected here reveal Craven's lifelong commitment to exposing interstices between western and non-western cultures by researching the reciprocating influences between First and Third World artists, critics and historians. Household Journal

Donald Rodney Richard Birkett,2023-06-06 An illustrated examination of

Donald Rodney s seminal digital media work Autoicon 1997 2000 Donald Rodney s Autoicon a work originally produced as both a website and CD ROM was conceived by the artist in the mid 1990s but not completed until two years after his death in 1998 Referencing Jeremy Bentham s infamous nineteenth century Auto Icon the work proposes an extension of the personhood and presence of Rodney while critically challenging dominant conceptions of the self the body and historicity Grounded in a partial collection of medical documents that constitute biomedicine s attempts to comprehensively know and maintain Rodney s body during his lifelong experience of sickle cell aneamia Autoicon pursues the artist s address from the mid 1980s onward of the British social and institutional body s cellular composition through racialized biopolitical power Autoicon consists of a Java based AI and neural network that engages the user in text based chat and provides responses by drawing from a dense body of data points related to Rodney and his work including documentation of artworks medical records interviews images notes and video Pulling both from this internal archive and the external archive of the Internet a montage machine composes constantly mutating images according to a rule based system established around Rodney s working process In this One Work edition curator Richard Birkett traces the distinct contemporary presence of Autoicon and the ideas and relations that emerged around its conception before and after Rodney s death particularly linking the work to the artist's seminal 1997 exhibition 9 Night in Eldorado Birkett addresses Autoicon as both an index of entangled social and material relations around Rodney a form of dispersed memory and a vector of critical creative production that continues to resonate with contemporary artistic practices and radical thought While attuned to late twentieth century discourse around the body's dissolution into the virtual and the technological potential for extending consciousness in its content and structure Autoicon locates these discourses of the human and posthuman in relation to the durable productive forces of post Enlightenment racialization and ableism The workings of the mind that Autoicon presents are intrinsically tied to Rodney's wider use in his work of bodily matter and genealogically bound to a Black history of displacement dispossession and resistance experienced physiologically socially and familiarly by the artist Autoicon offers up a counter manifestation of the subject as formed and multiplied through temporal disjuncture affectability and acts of preservation care and collectivity
