Of Festivals:

A World of Festivals Rebecca Rissman, 2012-11 Introduces young readers to special days celebrated around the world
International Perspectives of Festivals and Events Jane Ali-Knight, Alan Fyall, Martin Robertson, Adele Ladkin, 2009-02-04
International Perspectives of Festivals and Events addresses contemporary issues concerning the potential of festivals and events to produce economic social cultural and community benefits Incorporating a range of international perspectives the book provides the reader with a global look at current trends and topics which have until now been underrepresented by current literature International Perspectives of Festivals and Events includes a broad range of research case studies and examples from well known scholars in the field to form a unified volume that informs the reader of the current status of festivals and events around the world In a fast moving industry where new theory and practice is implemented rapidly this is essential reading for any advanced student or researcher in festivals and events

The First Book of Festivals Anita Ganeri, Mary Saunders, 2005 This title from Anita Ganeri brings together between one and two festivals from each of the six main world faiths Christianity Islam Jewism Sikhism Buddhism and Hinduism explaining their origins and how they are celebrated today Highly illustrated with color photographs the book includes photocopyable activities and further activity suggestions at the back which have been compiled by a qualified nursery teacher An ideal introduction to different faiths their beliefs and their origins for young children

Festivals and the City Andrew Smith, Guy Osborn, Bernadette Quinn, 2022-08-23 This book explores how festivals and events affect urban places and public spaces with a particular focus on their role in fostering inclusion The festivalisation of culture politics and space in cities is often regarded as problematic but this book examines the positive and negative ways that festivals affect cities by examining festive spaces as contested spaces The book focuses on Western European cities a particularly interesting context given the social and cultural pressures associated with high levels of in migration and concerns over the commercialisation and privatisation of public spaces The key themes of this book are the quest for more inclusive urban spaces and the contested geographies of festival spaces and places Festivals are often used by municipal authorities to break down symbolic barriers that restrict who uses public spaces and what those spaces are used for However the rise of commercial festivals and ticketed events means that they are also responsible for imposing physical and financial obstacles that reduce the accessibility of city parks streets and squares Alongside addressing the contested effects of urban festivals on the character and inclusivity of public spaces the book addresses more general themes including the role of festivals in culture led regeneration Several chapters analyse festivals and events as economic development tools and the book also covers contested representations of festival cities and the ways related images and stories are used in place marketing A range of cases from Western Europe are used to explore these issues including chapters on some of the world s most significant and contested festival cities Venice Edinburgh London and Barcelona The book covers a wide range of festivals including those dedicated to music and the arts but also events

celebrating particular histories identities and pastimes A series of fascinating cases are discussed from the Venice Biennale and Dublin Festival of History to Rotterdam s music festivals and craft beer festivals in Manchester The diverse and innovative qualities of the book are also evident in the range of urban spaces covered obvious examples of public spaces such as parks streets squares and piazzas are addressed but the book includes chapters on enclosed public spaces e g libraries and urban blue spaces waterways too This reflects the interpretation of public spaces as socio material entities they are produced informally through their use including for festivals and events as well as through their formal design and management

Music Festivals and Regional Development in Australia Chris Gibson, John Connell, 2012 This book has an original focus and is structured in two parts the first discusses broad issues affecting music festivals globally especially in the context of rural revitalisation The second part looks in more detail at a range of types of festivals commonly found throughout North America Europe and Australasia such as country music jazz opera and alternative music festivals The authors draw on in depth research undertaken over the past five years in a range of Australian places and make clear conclusions on their significance for rural and regional change

Managing Festivals for Destination Marketing and Branding Kulshreshtha, Sharad Kumar, 2023-04-11 Festivals across the world represent the joy recreation and traditions of their different societies and cultures There is a plethora of reasons to commemorate and organize such events Every festival has its own distinct personality charms appeal and experiences that are closely linked to culture customs issues core values and more All of these factors combine to create a one of a kind selling offer for specific destinations Festival attractions can serve to popularize and strengthen the tourist economy as well as to promote employment entrepreneurship and tourism destination branding for the location Managing Festivals for Destination Marketing and Branding addresses the most current and promising parts of tourism centric festivals which are held in numerous tourist areas throughout the world It links tourism festivals around the world as a catalyst for destination marketing and identity Covering topics such as destination brand equity social media networks and motivations and expectations of tourists this premier reference work is a dynamic resource for business executives and leaders brand managers event managers festival managers government officials students and educators of higher education librarians researchers and academicians

Festivals and Values Waldemar Kuligowski, Marcin Poprawski, 2023-11-27 This is an original book covering all the past areas of research anyone would need to know about festivals and event based culture It is based on academic research but written in a way relevant for cultural professionals uniquely explaining the cultural power of festivals and with original empirical research the realities of organisation and management and social and economic value Dr Jonathan Vickery Reader in Cultural Policy Studies and Director Centre for Cultural and Media Policy Studies Univeristy of Warwick This book discusses music festivals in the context of the specific values they convey Today music festivals are a permanent feature of national regional and local cultural policies a valuable asset in the tourism industry and a significant source of income for an industry that has been adversely affected by the steady decline in physical sales of music For the audience on the other hand it is an opportunity to escape from everyday life multi sensory contact with art an activity that stands for full body participation a cultural phenomenon that drags people out of their homes like no other There is one common denominator linking the above mentioned features of contemporary music festivals namely the world of values This is evident from the non accidental locations festivals spaces design planning and the line ups created consciously with great care The organisers missions logos and other symbolic organisational artefacts communicate specific values These values are explicitly mentioned by artists and audiences they can be easily identified in online forums and media reports participant behaviour festival rituals and additional festival programs are shaped on the basis of values and cooperation is built between the festival and the local community As the reader will quickly realize numbers and statistics sit alongside descriptions and quotations in this book and the organisers statements are accompanied by the opinions of academics but above all the festival audience is given a voice both through quotations and their drawings This voice is by no means uniform as it turned out that research into values was often transformed into a pretext for spinning tales about one s life situation one s political preferences and one s understanding of freedom and responsibility Memories were mixed with declarations joy with regret curses with dreams prose with poetry Thomas Pettitt was not wrong in noting that Social history has learnt to appreciate festival as a valuable window on society and its structures The authors have tried to open all the windows available Students and researchers in the fields of cultural anthropology social psychology folklore studies comparative religion sociology of culture cultural policy cultural history and cultural management will find this book highly interesting

Urban Tourism in the Developing World Christian Myles Rogerson, Gustav Visser, Over the past decade the field of urban tourism has consolidated with the appearance of several books that concentrate upon the Western European and North American experience Recently the scope and range of urban research has widened considerably including the welcome appearance of studies that examine the tourism phenomenon in cities outside the Euro American heartland Despite this growing international body of debate and scholarship on tourism and cities particularly in the developed North literature that relates to the developing world as a whole and to Africa in particular remains sparse The task of Urban Tourism in the Developing World The South African Experience is to augment the current international scholarship concerning urban tourism in the developing world More especially the contributors draw attention to a range of case studies from South Africa that provide some starting points to address the uneven scholarly coverage of urban tourism the African context has received to date In addition the research material presented here seeks to contribute toward raising the South African and indeed the African profile within growing international scholarship concerning issues of urban tourism and development This collection aims to expand an emerging South African and African tourism research voice concerning the tourism and development nexus as well as to stem critiques that this body of research appears to have developed in a theoretical vacuum divorced from broader international tourism research discourses This collection of essays not only further develops an independent South African tourism perspective but also presents research that is closely tied to international urban tourism research debates In addition this analysis of urban tourism in the South African context enriches the rather Western oriented theories of urban tourism discourse through its emphasis on how urban tourism is evolving in urban Africa Christian M Rogerson is professor of human geography in the School of Geography Archaeology and Environmental Studies University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg South Africa Gustav Visser is senior lecturer in human geography in the Department of Geography University of the Free State Bloemfontein South Africa

Event Management and Sustainability

Razaq Raj,James Musgrave,2009 Sustainable management is an important consideration for businesses and organisations and the enormous number of tourism events taking place requiring facilities power transport people and much more makes sustainable event planning a considerable priority By looking at mega events sports events conferences and festivals this book uses best practice case studies to illustrate sustainable management issues and practical considerations that managers need to apply providing an essential reference for researchers and students in leisure and tourism

LGBTQ Film Festivals

Antoine Damiens,2025-10-01 While scholars have theorized major film festivals they have ignored smaller ephemeral events In taking seriously minor European and North American LGBTQ festivals which often only exist as traces within archival collections this book revisits festival studies methodological and theoretical apparatuses As the first critique of festival studies from within LGBTQ Film Festivals argues that both festivals and queer film cultures are by definition ephemeral The book is organized around two concepts First critical festival studies examines the political project and disciplinary assumptions that structure festival research Second the festival as a method pays attention to festivals role as producers of knowledge it argues that festivals are not mere objects of research but also actors already shaping academic industrial and popular cinematic knowledge Drawing on the author s experience on the festival circuit this book pays homage to the labour of queer organizers critics and scholars and opens up new avenues for festival research
