Brent Edwards Jr., Mauro C. Moschetti, Alejandro Caravaca, 2022-08-16 This text explores how the dynamics of globalization and privatization have influenced State policy and impacted education reform in Honduras It makes the argument that understanding education reform in post colonial contexts requires that scholars go beyond a surface level description of such trends as privatization to consider in addition the ways that the logics practices and relationships that characterized colonialism continue to be embedded in the apparatus of modern States The first part of the volume documents historical trends and the evolution of privatisation in Honduras while the second part explicitly engages in an extended discussion of State theory before shifting to present a framework for depicting how these logics are the foundational layer upon which states and global governance have been constructed The framework draws upon scholarship from political economy world systems and post colonialism to depict the ethos of privatization at the core of post colonial States wherein what drives the system is private benefit in the interest of individuals and their networks but not in the interest of those outside the State

Applying this unique framework to the case of Honduras and offering empirical analysis of the Honduran education sector the changing role and priorities of the State and the increasing involvement of international organizations NGOs and private actors in the provision of education the text increases understanding of how State theory interacts with broader global dynamics to impact education This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with a focus on international and comparative education policy analysis globalization and international development The Debates in the several State Conventions on the Adoption of the Federal Constitution, Vol. 2 Jonathan Elliot,2019 The five volumes furnish a collection of the Debates and Proceedings which took place in the different states on the adoption of the Federal Constitution as submitted by the General Convention on the 17th of September 1787 In the compilation care has been taken to search into contemporary publications in order to make the work as perfect as possible Still however the sentiments they contain may in some instances have been inaccurately taken down and in others probably too faintly sketched fully to gratify the inquisitive politician but they nevertheless disclose the opinions of many of the most distinguished revolutionary patriots and statesmen in relation to the powers intended to be granted to the Congress of the United States under the Constitution and certainly may form an excellent guide in expounding many doubtful points in that instrument In forming a History of the Constitution the materials they furnish must be also considered of the greatest importance The lights too which they throw on the character and the men of those extraordinary times will always give them a sufficient interest in the eyes of an intelligent community to confer a peculiar value on their publication rescued from the ephemeral prints of that day Legislative Documents of the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York New York (State).
