Directorate of History and Heritage, 1997 Canadian military history and military matters have not been well represented in general in retrospective bibliographies of Canadian or in international military bibliographies What has been attempted in this document is a bibliography of published primary sources and secondary works on Canadian military topics excluding poetry and fiction covering the period from Confederation to the present Entries in the bibliography represent printed monographs books and pamphlets and serial titles

The prime criteria of inclusion were that the work be chiefly or uniquely both Canadian and military in its contents Many in house publications of the training pamphlet or regulations type have been included but only insofar as they tell us something of the armed forces themselves rather than details of tactical doctrine or of pieces of equipment Works by or about Canadians serving with the armed forces of other countries have been included as well as materials relating to the military history of Newfoundland since 1867 Polish Spitfire Aces Wojtek Matusiak,2015-07-20 Of all Allied airmen Polish pilots had had the most experience of fighting the Luftwaffe by the time the war came to Britain As the Battle of Britain raged they quickly proved themselves as highly aggressive and skilful interceptors especially when flying the famous Spitfire The Polish Air Force eventually became the largest non Commonwealth Spitfire operator using some 1 500 Mks I II V IX and XVI to devastating effect Top scoring USAAF ace of the ETO Francis Gabby Gabreski and a whole host of other Allied and Commonwealth aces flew with Polish squadrons adding even more to their fighting quality Conversely several Polish pilots were attached to other Allied squadrons throughout the war demonstrating their prowess alongside airmen from a whole host of nations From an expert on Polish fighter aviation this is a peerless account of the fiery talented Polish Spit pilots whose country had been overrun and whose aggression and determination to shoot down Axis aircraft was unmatched
