Bond A Study Of His Play:

Bond, a Study of His Plays Malcolm Hay, Philip Roberts, 1980 Adapting King Lear for the Stage Lynne Bradley, 2016-03-16 Questioning whether the impulse to adapt Shakespeare has changed over time Lynne Bradley argues for restoring a sense of historicity to the study of adaptation Bradley compares Nahum Tate's History of King Lear 1681 adaptations by David Garrick in the mid eighteenth century and nineteenth century Shakespeare burlesques to twentieth century theatrical rewritings of King Lear and suggests latter day adaptations should be viewed as a unique genre that allows playwrights to express modern subject positions with regard to their literary heritage while also participating in broader debates about art and society In identifying and relocating different adaptive gestures within this historical framework Bradley explores the link between the critical and the creative in the history of Shakespearean adaptation Focusing on works such as Gordon Bottomley's King Lear's Wife 1913 Edward Bond's Lear 1971 Howard Barker's Seven Lears 1989 and the Women's Theatre Group's Lear's Daughters 1987 Bradley theorizes that modern rewritings of Shakespeare constitute a new type of textual interaction based on a simultaneous double gesture of collaboration and rejection She suggests that this new interaction provides constituent groups such as the feminist collective who wrote Lear's Daughters a strategy to acknowledge their debt to Shakespeare while writing against the traditional and negative representations of femininity they see reflected in his plays The Function of Song in Contemporary British Drama Elizabeth Hale Winkler, 1990 This comprehensive study formulates an original theory that dramatic song must be perceived as a separate genre situated between poetry music and theater It focuses on John Arden Margaretta D'Arcy Edward Bond Peter Barnes John Osborne Peter Nichols Harold Pinter Tom Stoppard Peter Shaffer and John McGrath Adapted from the Original Laurence Raw, 2018-08-28 Critics and audiences often judge films books and other media as great but what does that really mean This collection of new essays examines the various criteria by which degrees of greatness or not so are constructed whether by personal political or social standards through topics in cinema literature and adaptation The contributors recognize how issues of value vary across different cultures and explore what those differences say about attitudes and beliefs The Play Out of Context Hanna Scolnicov, Peter Holland, 1989-02-24 This is a volume of essays which examines the relationship between the play and its historical and cultural contexts Transferring plays from one period or one culture to another is so much more than translating the words from one language into another The contributors vary their approaches to this problem from the theoretical to the practical from the literary to the theatrical with plays examined both historically and synchronically The articles interact with each other presenting a diversity of views of the central theme and establishing a dialogue between scholars of different cultures With play texts quoted in English the range of themes stretches from a Japanese interpretation of Chekhov to Shakespeare in Nazi Germany and Racine borrowing from Sophocles Most of the essays are based on papers presented at the Jerusalem Theatre Conference in 1986 The book will be of interest to students and scholars of the theatre and of literature and literary theory as well as to theatregoers

Perceiving Evil: Evil Women and the Feminine David Farnell, Rute Noiva, Kristen Smith, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2015 How do we perceive evil And why are so many notions of evil connected with women The mermaid the witch the femme fatale the bitch these are all representations of evil women or women who have subverted the conventional ideas of femininity Kept alive in oral tradition and hidden in the unspoken rules of society the dangerous evil woman lives on to define what we believe a woman should be Through the various prisms of popular culture forensic psychology veterinary medicine and many more this collection aims to examine the ideas of evil women and the feminine The collection focuses on why we as a society perceive certain women or aspects of femininity to be evil and why we can have certain emotional reactions to this It examines the background to these perceptions whether they are rooted in literature myth history or fact and what this means for the development of both masculinity and femininity

Lear's Other Shadow Thomas G. Olsen, 2025 Lear's Other Shadow proposes a cultural history of King Leir Lear's queen beginning with pre-Shakespearean versions of the archetypal tale through Shakespeare's dramatic retelling and in dozens of lively post-Shakespearean adaptations on stage page and screen that in one way or another restore the wife and queen that Shakespeare all but excised from his version of the ancient story

Re-visiting Female Evil Melissa Dearey, Susana Nicolás, Roger Davis, 2017-08-28 Reflecting current trends in scholarly analysis of evil and the feminine the chapters contained in Re-visiting Female Evil focus upon various re-interpretations of evil femininities as a cultural signifier of agency transgression and crisis re-interpreting them through rewriting of other stories hermeneutic re-interpretations of ancient classical texts and revised film stage adaptations These papers illustrate how gendered cultural myths of women's intrinsic connection to evil still persist in today's patriarchal society though in variant and updated forms Mischievous beguiling seductive lascivious unruly carping vengeful and manipulative from the Disney princess to the murderous Medea these authors grapple with our understanding of what it is to be and do evil exploring the possible sources of the fear and hatred of women and the feminine as well as their continual fascination and appeal and how these manifest in a range of real life and fictional narratives that cross times cultures and media

The Politics and Poetics of Contemporary English Tragedy Sean Carney, 2013-01-01 The Politics and Poetics of Contemporary English Tragedy is a detailed study of the idea of the tragic in the political plays of David Hare Howard Barker Edward Bond Caryl Churchill Mark Ravenhill Sarah Kane and Jez Butterworth Through an in depth analysis of over sixty of their works Sean Carney argues that their dramatic exploration of tragic experience is an integral part of their ongoing politics This approach allows for a comprehensive rather than selective study of both the politics and poetics of their work Carney s attention to the tragic enables him to find a common discourse among the canonical English playwrights of an older generation and representatives of the nineties generation challenging the idea that there is a sharp generational break between these groups Finally Carney demonstrates that tragic experience is often denied by the social discourse of Englishness and that these playwrights make a crucial critical intervention by dramatizing the tragic New Theatre Quarterly 55: Volume 14, Part 3 Clive
