

Albert Camus

Invincible Summer

“My dear, In the midst of hate, I found there was, within me, an invincible love. In the midst of tears, I found there was, within me, an invincible smile. In the midst of chaos, I found there was, within me, an invincible calm. I realized, through it all, that... In the midst of winter, I found there was, within me, an invincible summer. And that makes me happy. For it says that no matter how hard the world pushes against me, within me, there’s something stronger – something better, pushing right back.”

The Absurd Hero in American Fiction David D. Galloway, 1981-06-01 When The Absurd Hero in American Fiction was first released in 1966 Granville Hicks praised it in a lead article for the Saturday Review as a sensitive and definitive study of a new trend in postwar American literature In the years that followed David Galloway s analysis of the writings of John Updike William Styron Saul Bellow and J D Salinger became a standard critical work an indispensable tool for readers concerned with contemporary American literature The New York Times described the book as a seminal study of the modern literary imagination David Galloway himself an established novelist later extensively revised The Absurd Hero to include authoritative discussions of more than a dozen novels which had appeared since the first revised edition was released in 1970 Among them are John Updike s Couples Rabbit Redux and The Coup William Styron s The Confessions of Nat Turner and Sophie s Choice and Saul Bellow s Mr Sammler s Planet and Humboldt s Gift Through detailed analyses of these works Galloway demonstrates the continuing relevance of his own provocative concept of the absurd hero and provides important insights into the literary achievements of four of America's most influential postwar novelists

Reinventing Modern Architecture in Greece Marianna Charitonidou, 2025-05-30 This book examines the connection between the politics of the Marshall Plan and urban planning and identifies the key players such as the Greek architect and urban planner Constantinos A Doxiadis and the Italian industrialist Adriano Olivetti. It also explores the architects of the Mataroa mission who played a vital role in the cross fertilisation between France and Greece and the role of travel to Greece for architects during the 19th century. This book delves into the work of Constantinos A Doxiadis, Adriano Olivetti, Alison and Peter Smithson, Iannis Xenakis, Takis Zenetos, Henri Lefebvre, Cornelius Castoriadis, Aris Konstantinidis, Dimitris Pikionis and others. It sheds light on how Doxiadis introduced ekistics as a novel approach to understanding the science of human settlements. This book proposes that the manner in which these aforementioned architects and urban planners addressed the role of technology in everyday life and the relationship between society, history, culture, nature, architecture and urban planning could enrich our ongoing methods and debates on architecture, urban planning, ecology, social equity and democracy. This book is based on extensive archival research and will be of interest to architects, artists, researchers and students and scholars in architecture, architectural history and theory, art, urban sociology, cultural theory, science and technology studies, philosophy, ecology, cybernetics and aesthetics.

Across the Waters of Remembrance Herbert E. Hudson, 2020-06-11 This book is the capstone of the ministry of Herbert E. Hudson IV from 1959 to 2020, literally a span of six decades. The sermons are grouped into three periods. Sermons given in Utica tend to be more academic and are termed 'The Dawning of Awareness'. Sermons given at Central Square, a time of personal growth and change, are considered as 'A Soul in Transition'. Finally, sermons in Key Largo reflect more certainty and trust in life and are referred to as 'A Seasoned Spirit'. The balance of this handbook includes readings, prayers, invocations, benedictions and special services for weddings, christenings and memorials.

After Innocence Terry Otten, 2010-11-23 The fear of falling, the awareness of lost innocence, lost illusions, lost hopes and intentions of civilization in decline—these are the themes which link literature to theology, both concerned with the shape of human destiny. Otten discusses the continuing viability of the myth of the Fall in literature. He relates a wide variety of romantic and modern works to fundamental issues in modern Christianity.
