Recent Developments in Alcoholism Marc Galanter, 2013-11-22 From the President of the Research Society on Alcoholism In recent years increasingly convincing evidence in support of a biobehavioral conceptual model of the etiology of alcoholism has emerged In this model the disorder is perceived as arising from the interaction of geneticbiological vulnerability and psychosocial risk Drinking or alcohol seeking is a metric trait Alcoholism which is a state of abnormally intense alcohol seeking behavior that over time leads to the alcohol dependence syndrome lies at the extreme high end of this quantitative measure Metric traits are influenced by multiple genes the extent of genetic loading of biological risk for alcoholism would be different in different individuals Added to this kind of variability is the wide range of options for exposure to the psychosocial risk factors of heavy drinking provided by modern society Further environmental provocation also changes when life events change It is not surprising therefore from the combination of the kinds of genetic and environmental variability described above that there is a wide array of patterns of expression of the disorder alcoholism referred to by some as alcoholisms In the search for understanding of underlying mechanisms and rational bases for potential therapy it is important to focus our attention on the final common pathway of this disorder alcohol seeking behavior This series ever since its beginning in 1983 has been sensitive to the complexities of the interaction between biological and psychosocial risk factors in alcoholism

The Other Half Jacqueline P. Wiseman, 1991 This current study has emerged from two decades of the author's investigations in related areas alcoholism and domestic relations Its canvas is broadly comparative drawing on interviews and data gathered in the United States and

Finland The domestic drama of The Other Half is played out both in the private scene of the home and the more public scene of the workplace and against these two differing national backgrounds Despite the many expected and perceived cultural differences between the countries the effects of alcoholism on the family are shown to be the same Dr Wiseman's study offers theoretical insights gleaned from its perspective on alcoholism as an interactive phenomenon to which the concepts of G H Mead and Blumer can be applied to illuminate the carefully presented data and go beyond them New terrain in studies of alcoholism is thereby explored including such themes as the social construction by the subjects of their husbands drinking their marriage and their self images the strategy of coping mechanisms and the effects of the crisis of alcoholism on gender sex roles and power differentials The Other Half complements Dr Wiseman's prize winning work on the treatment of Skid Row alcoholics Stations of the Lost while involving issues of greater complexity on both the methodological and theoretical plane

Addiction Therapy and Treatment Larry Fritzlan,

LMFT, Avis Rumney, LMFT, 2023-01-17 Addiction is a national mental and medical health crisis responsible for untold costs to society and severe suffering to innumerable people. Yet addiction treatment as it is now practiced fails half the time. The current treatment approach has changed little in the last 80 years and is a hodgepodge of often shady treatment approaches. This book presents a radically different addiction treatment paradigm based on science evidence and best practices and has a success rate approaching 100% when followed closely. This model should profoundly upend the current addiction treatment industry. Nearly every addict lives in a social system, a family, workplace, or community that enables and supports, often unconsciously, the addict's addiction. Instead of the current addict-focused approach, this model extends treatment to the entire support system, starting treatment with the concerned family members. This model also proposes a single provider, the family recovery therapist, who manages treatment for the addict and the family from the first phone call through the first year of continuous sobriety. This book offers simple recommendations to both addiction treatment providers and family members impacted by this disease. It serves as a beacon of hope for families.

Transitions to Better Lives Andrew Day, Sharon Casey, Tony Ward, Kevin Howells, James Vess, 2013-05-13 Transitions to Better Lives aims to describe, collate, and summarize a body of recent research, both theoretical and empirical, that explores the issue of treatment readiness in offender programming. It is divided into three sections: part one unpacks a model of treatment readiness and explains how it has been operationalized; part two discusses how the construct has been applied to the treatment of different offender groups; part three discusses some of the practice approaches that have been identified as holding promise in addressing low levels of offender readiness. Included within each section are contributions from a number of authors whose work in recent years has stimulated discussion and helped to inform practice in offender rehabilitation. This book is an ideal resource for those who study within the field of criminology or who work in the criminal justice system and have an interest in the delivery of rehabilitation and reintegration programmes for offenders. This includes psychologists, social workers, probation and parole officers, and prison officers.

Transitional Age Youth and Mental Illness: Influences on Young Adult Outcomes, An Issue of Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Clinics of North America, E-Book Adele L. Martel, D. Catherine Fuchs, 2017-03-21 This issue of the Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Clinics of North America, guest edited by Drs. Adele Martel and Catherine Fuchs, aims to bridge the current state of knowledge about risk and resilience during the transition to adolescence for young people with mental illness with the need for developmentally attuned and culturally competent strategies to engage and maintain them in treatment. Topics covered in this volume include, but are not limited to: Developmental Psychopathology and Resilience; Conceptualization of Mental Illness in Transitional Age Youth; Suicidal Behaviors and Suicide; Substance Abuse; Working with Parents; Family; Social Media; Youth Transitioning from Foster Care; Heading to College with a Psychiatric Diagnosis; Issues of Diversity; Integrated Identities and Mental Health in Transitional Age Youth; and Autism Spectrum Disorders, among others.
