Words, Not Swords Farzaneh Milani, 2011-05-16 A woman not only needs a room of her own as Virginia Woolf wrote but also the freedom to leave it and return to it at will for a room without that right becomes a prison cell The privilege of self directed movement the power to pick up and go as one pleases has not been a traditional right of Iranian women This prerogative has been denied them in the name of piety anatomy chastity class safety and even beauty It is only during the last 160 years that the spell has been broken and Iranian women have emerged as a moderating modernizing force Women writers have been at the forefront of this desegregating movement and renegotiation of boundaries Words Not Swords explores the legacy of sex segregation and its manifestations in Iranian literature and film and in notions of beauty and the erotics of passivity Milani expands her argument beyond Iranian culture arguing that freedom of movement is a theme that crosses frontiers and dissolves conventional distinctions of geography history and religion She makes bold connections between veiling and foot binding between Cinderella and Barbie between the figures of the female Gypsy and the witch In so doing she challenges cultural hierarchies that divert attention from key issues in the control of women across the globe
