and designer drugs Recent Developments in Alcoholism Marc Galanter, 2006-01-02 From the President of the Research Society on Alcoholism On behalf of the Research Society on Alcoholism I am pleased to introduce this thirteenth volume of Recent Developments in Alcoholism about alcohol and violence Current concepts are presented in well organized sections that focus on epidemiology neurobiology psychology and family issues It is coming increasingly clear that age gender socioeconomic circumstances and genetics affect aggressive behavior and vulnerability to alcoholism This volume contains up to date discussions of these issues Indeed the information presented here will help all alcohol researchers to identify biological and social factors that contribute to the comorbidity of alcoholism and aggression The editors and associate editors should be congratulated for bringing together such important information This volume will be a valuable resource for investigators and therapists alike Ivan Diamond M D Ph D President Research Society on Alcoholism From the President of the American Society of Addiction Medicine The American Society of Addiction Medicine is honored to continue its sponsorship with the Research Society on Alcoholism of Recent Developments in Alcoholism The topic of alcohol and violence is a particularly timely one given the growing number of studies that are examining the relationship between the two These studies are consistent with the hypothesis that alcohol can increase aggression and contribute to both domestic and criminal violence Intoxicating blood levels of alcohol have been found to be especially prevalent in those injured in fights and assaults Alcoholism and Clinical Psychiatry Joel Solomon, 2012-12-06 It is well known that alcoholism continues to be one of this country's major public health problems This issue is carefully documented by Dr Gerald Klerman Chief of ADAMHA in the second chapter of this volume In spite of the major role that alcohol plays in the health care issues of internal medicine neurology and psychiatry the subject continues to fall between the cracks of the various disciplines For this reason it has become almost a discipline of its own yet there are no academic departments of alcoholism because academic departments are unidisciplinary and alcoholism is clearly a multidisciplinary field within medicine In spite of the many disciplines involved in the study and treatment of alcoholism psychiatry continues to have a special albeit often neglected relationship to alcoholism and it is the articulation of that relationship which prompted the Department of Psychiatry at the Downstate Medical Center to organize the conference upon which many chapters in this volume are based Particular emphasis in selecting the topics to be covered was placed on the interface between alcoholism and clinical psychiatry including affective disorders schizophrenia suicide adolescence the special problems of women and psychotherapy to mention only some of them about and is perpetrated These explanations fall into four broad theoretical categories First there are those theories that view the major sources of deviance as having to do with the extent to which individuals are bound into or dissociated from the group these are termed social integration theories Second there are the cultural support theories which specify that there are subcultures of deviance that is bodies of customs and values that advocate a given form of deviance and are socially transmitted from one person to another through the learning process Third there are social disorganization and conflict theories which focus on the ways in which a lack of group organization and the presence of broad social and cultural conflicts bring about deviance
