Art And Worship:

The Art of Worship Greg Scheer, 2006-12-01 Contemporary worship continues to gain strength as the form of worship of choice for many churches across the country. The Art of Worship is a complete resource to which a musician or pastor can turn when asked to lead contemporary music. It provides in depth instruction to every aspect of contemporary worship leadership from assembling the team to choosing the music to conducting rehearsals. Author Greg Scheer takes a balanced holistic approach embracing the contemporary style without denying older traditions and encouraging excellence without ignoring the realities of the local church context. Worship team leaders, musicians, and pastors looking for a quality comprehensive resource need look no further. Art and Worship Anne Dawtry, Christopher Irvine, 2002 This is a very practical book about the understanding of the role of art works in churches and in worship, how they may be commissioned where they should be placed and how to hold art exhibitions. It is designed to deepen understanding about how art can enhance worship and to encourage partnerships between the Church and artists. Details of relevant organisations and artists networks are included. The Art of Worship Greg Scheer, Visual Arts in the Worshiping Church Lisa DeBoer, 2016-12-17 Although numerous studies have examined biblical and theological rationales for using the visual arts in worship, this book by Lisa J DeBoer fills in a piece of the picture missing so far: the social dimensions of both our churches and the various art worlds represented in our congregations. The first part of the book looks at Orthodoxy, Catholicism, and Protestantism in turn, including case studies of specific congregations showing how each tradition's use of the visual arts reveals an underlying ecclesiology. DeBoer then focuses on six themes that emerge when Orthodox, Catholic, and Protestant uses of the visual arts are examined together: the arts as expressions of the church's local and universal character, the meanings attributed to particular styles of art for the church, the role of the arts in enculturating the gospel, and more. DeBoer's Visual Arts in the Worshiping Church will focus and deepen the thinking of pastors, worship leaders, artists, students, and laypeople regarding what the arts might do in the midst of their congregations. The Art of Worship Nicholas Holtam, 2011 Paintings from the National Gallery, London, many illustrating Christian themes and familiar biblical stories, are presented alongside selected prayers, poems, and quotations to encourage private prayer, contemplation, and meditation. From back cover The Art of Curating Worship Mark Pierson, 2012 Mark Pierson is a strikingly original thinker and practitioner whose influence on alternative worship and emerging church forms has spread worldwide. Whatever our church tradition—liturgical, evangelical, charismatic, or alternative—Mark's challenge is clear: tired patterns of worship do not engage with people beyond the regular congregation, and sometimes not even with them. The last place that many genuine spiritual seekers would try is church. He shows a way of thinking about and practicing worship where real connection with God can happen. The idea of curating rather than leading worship invites a potentially huge mind shift about worship practice. Leading worship is not about staying in control of content or delivery but about exploring creatively the riches of our traditions. The arts our buildings music and language to offer worship that better reflects the glory of God This inspiring practical book raises the bar in terms of what we expect from worship and then gives us the courage vision and resources to bring it about

Sanctifying Art Deborah Sokolove, 2013-07-10 As an artist Deborah Sokolove has often been surprised and dismayed by the unexamined attitudes and assumptions that the church holds about how artists think and how art functions in human life By investigating these attitudes and tying them to concrete examples Sokolove hopes to demystify art to bring art down to earth where theologians pastors and ordinary Christians can wrestle with its meanings participate in its processes and understand its uses In showing the commonalities and distinctions among the various ways that artists themselves approach their work Sanctifying Art can help the church talk about the arts in ways that artists will recognize As a member of both the church and the art world Sokolove is well positioned to bridge the gap between the habits of thought that inform the discourse of the art world and those quite different ideas about art that are taken for granted by many Christians When art is understood as intellectual technical and physical as well as ethereal mysterious and sacred we will see it as an integral part of our life together in Christ fully human and fully divine

Glimpses of the New Creation W. David O. Taylor, Jeremy Begbie, 2019-09-03 How do the arts in worship form individuals and communities Every choice of art in worship opens up and closes down possibilities for the formation of our humanity Every practice of music every decision about language every use of our bodies every approach to visual media or church buildings forms our desires shapes our imaginations habituates our emotional instincts and reconfigures our identity as Christians in contextually meaningful ways generating thereby a sense of the triune God and of our place in the world Glimpses of the New Creation argues that the arts form us in worship by bringing us into intentional and intensive participation in the aesthetic aspect of our humanity that is our physical emotional imaginative and metaphorical capacities In so doing they invite the people of God to be conformed to Christ and to participate in the praise of Christ and in the praise of creation which by the Spirit's power raises its peculiar voice to the Father in heaven for the sake of the world that God so loves

Senses of the Soul William Dyrness, 2008-05-01 Senses of the Soul explores the way art and visual elements are incorporated into Christian worship It incorporates research conducted in Los Angeles congregations Through extensive interviews in a sample of Protestant Catholic and Orthodox congregations it looks into the way visual elements actually become part of the experience of worship By looking at attitudes and experiences of beauty art and memories it suggests that believers appropriate images and aesthetic encounters in terms of imaginative structures that have been formed through worship practices over time By comparing responses across denominations the book proposes that people receive visual elements in ways that have been shaped by long traditions and specific background beliefs In addition to discussions of the differences between the major Christian traditions the book also examines the relation of art and beauty to worship the role of memories and everyday life and the power of images in spirituality and worship By its focus on the worshiper the book seeks to make a contribution to the growing conversation between the arts and Christian worship and to the process of worship renewal

Performing the Gospel Deborah Sokolove,2019-03-12 What is the difference between good worship and good entertainment Too often people disparage some aspect of worship by calling it just entertainment or just a performance Others say that they do not need to go to church because they have profound spiritual or even religious experiences at concerts plays movies or dances How is worship different from these performing arts How is art different from entertainment This book looks at the history of the performing arts both in worship and as worship with particular attention to the attitudes that shape our ideas about both worship and entertainment Working definitions of words like art excellence liturgy and play help to illuminate what different people mean when they use them in conversations about Christian worship Putting theological scriptural and practical writings on worship and the performing arts in conversation with interviews with dancers musicians actors preachers and liturgical scholars this volume is intended to help pastors performers and everyone who plans leads or cares about worship talk with one another in mutually respectful and helpful ways
