of that period The Reminiscences of Mary Hallock Foote Mary Hallock made what seems like an audacious move for a nineteenth century young woman She became an artist She was not alone Forced to become self supporting by financial panics and civil war thousands of young women moved to New York City between 1850 and 1880 to pursue careers as professional artists Many of them trained with masters at the Cooper Union School of Design for Women where they were imbued with the Unity of Art ideal an aesthetic ideology that made no distinction between fine and applied arts or male and female abilities These women became painters designers illustrators engravers colorists and art teachers They were encouraged by some of the era s best known figures among them Tribune editor Horace Greeley and mechanic philanthropist Peter Cooper who blamed the poverty and dependence of both women and workers on the separation of mental and manual labor in industrial society The most acclaimed artists among them owed their success to New York s conspicuously egalitarian art institutions and the rise of the illustrated press Yet within a generation their names accomplishments and the aesthetic ideal that guided them virtually disappeared from the history of American art Art Work Women Artists and Democracy in Mid Nineteenth Century New York recaptures the unfamiliar cultural landscape in which spirited young women daring social reformers and radical artisans succeeded in reuniting art and industry In this interdisciplinary study April F Masten situates the aspirations and experience of these forgotten women artists and the value of art work itself at the heart of the capitalist transformation of American society More Than Petticoats: Remarkable Oklahoma Women Deborah Bouziden,2013-02-05 More Than Petticoats Remarkable Oklahoma Women celebrates the women who shaped the Sooner State Short illuminating biographies and archival photographs and paintings tell the stories of women from across the state who served as teachers writers entrepreneurs and artists African American Artists and the New Deal Art Programs Mary Ann Calo,2023-03-20 This book examines the involvement of African American artists in the New Deal art programs of the 1930s Emphasizing broader issues informed by the uniqueness of Black experience rather than individual artists works Mary Ann Calo makes the case that the revolutionary vision of these federal art projects is best understood in the context of access to opportunity mediated by the reality of racial segregation Focusing primarily on the Federal Art Project FAP of the Works Progress Administration WPA Calo documents African American artists participation in community art centers in Harlem in St Louis and throughout the South She examines the internal workings of the Harlem Artists Guild the Guild s activities during the 1930s and its alliances with other groups such as the Artists Union and the National Negro Congress Calo also explores African American artists representation in the exhibitions sponsored by WPA administrators and the critical reception of their work In doing so she elucidates the evolving meanings of the terms race culture and community in the interwar era The book concludes with an essay by Jacqueline Francis on Black artists in the early 1940s after the end of the FAP program Presenting essential new archival information and important insights into the experiences of Black New Deal artists this study expands the factual record and positions the cumulative evidence within the landscape of critical race

Creating Their Own Image Lisa E. Farrington, 2005 Creating Their Own Image marks the first comprehensive history of African American women artists from slavery to the present day Using an analysis of stereotypes of Africans and African Americans in western art and culture as a springboard Lisa E Farrington here richly details hundreds of important works many of which deliberately challenge these same identity myths of the carnal Jezebel the asexual Mammy the imperious Matriarch in crafting a portrait of artistic creativity unprecedented in its scope and ambition In these lavishly illustrated pages some of which feature images never before published we learn of the efforts of Elizabeth Keckley fashion designer to Mary Todd Lincoln the acclaimed sculptor Edmonia Lewis internationally renowned for her neoclassical works in marble and the artist Nancy Elizabeth Prophet and her innovative teaching techniques We meet Laura Wheeler Waring who portrayed women of color as members of a socially elite class in stark contrast to the prevalent images of compliant maids impoverished malcontents and exotics others that proliferated in the inter war period We read of the painter Barbara Jones Hugu s collaboration on the famed Wall of Respect even as we view a rare photograph of Hugu in the process of painting the mural Farrington expertly guides us through the fertile period of the Harlem Renaissance and the New Negro Movement which produced an entirely new crop of artists who consciously imbued their work with a social and political agenda and through the tumultuous explosive years of the civil rights movement Drawing on revealing interviews with numerous contemporary artists such as Betye Saar Faith Ringgold Nanette Carter Camille Billops Xenobia Bailey and many others the second half of Creating Their Own Image probes more recent stylistic developments such as abstraction conceptualism and post modernism never losing sight of the struggles and challenges that have consistently influenced this body of work Weaving together an expansive collection of artists styles and periods Farrington argues that for centuries African American women artists have created an alternative vision of how women of color can are and might be represented in American culture From utilitarian objects such as quilts and baskets to a wide array of fine arts Creating Their Own Image serves up compelling evidence of the fundamental human need to convey one s life one s emotions one s experiences on a canvas of one s own making
