Islamic Identity, Postcoloniality, and Educational Policy Jeffrey Ayala Milligan, 2020-02-26 This book theorizes a philosophical framework for educational policy and practice in the southern Philippines where decades of religious and political conflict between a minority Muslim community and the Philippine state has plagued the educational and economic development of the region It offers a critical historical and ethnographic analysis of a century of failed attempts under successive U S colonial and independent Philippine governments to deploy education as a tool to mitigate the conflict and assimilate the Muslim minority into the mainstream of Philippine society and examines recent efforts to integrate state and Islamic education before proposing a philosophy of prophetic pragmatism as a more promising framework for educational policy and practice that respects the religious identity and fosters the educational development of Muslim Filipinos It represents a timely contribution to the search for educational policies and practices more responsive to the needs and religious identities of Muslim communities emerging from conflict not only in the southern Philippines but in other international contexts as well

Islamic Identity, Postcoloniality, and Educational Policy J. Milligan, 2005-07-31 Tensions between Muslim communities and state institutions are endemic in many parts of the world For decades successive colonial and independent governments in the Philippines have deployed educational policy as a tool to mitigate one such conflict between Muslims and Christians a conflict which has claimed more than 100 000 lives since the 1970 s Postcolonial Education and Islamic Identity in the Southern Philippines offers a postcolonial critique of this century long educational project in an effort to understand how educational policy has failed Muslim Filipinos and to seek insight from their experience into the potential and pitfalls of educational responses to ethnic and religious tensions
