Art As Testimony The Work Of Jules Roy:

Art as Testimony Catharine Savage Brosman, 1989 Louisiana Creole Literature Catharine Savage Brosman, 2013-10-17 Louisiana Creole Literature is a broad ranging critical reading of belles lettres in both French and English connected to and generally produced by the distinctive Louisiana Creole peoples chiefly in the southeastern part of the state The book covers primarily the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the flourishing period during which the term Creole had broad and contested cultural reference in Louisiana The study consists in part of literary history and biography When available and appropriate each discussion arranged chronologically provides pertinent personal information on authors as well as publishing facts Readers will find also summaries and evaluation of key texts some virtually unknown others of difficult access Brosman illuminates the biographies and works of Kate Chopin Lafcadio Hearn George Washington Cable Grace King and Adolphe Duhaime among others In addition she challenges views that appear to be skewed regarding canon formation The book places emphasis on poetry and fiction reaching from early nineteenth century writing through the twentieth century to selected works by poets still writing in the early twenty first century A few plays are treated also especially by Victor Séjour Louisiana Creole Literature examines at length the writings of important Francophone figures and certain Anglophone novelists likewise receive extended treatment Since much of nineteenth century Louisiana literature was transnational the book considers Creole based works which appeared in Paris as well as those published locally The Cambridge Companion to the Literature of the First World War Vincent Sherry, 2005-01-20 The Great War of 1914-1918 marks a turning point in modern history and culture This Companion offers critical overviews of the major literary genres and social contexts that define the study of the literatures produced by the First World War The volume comprises original essays by distinguished scholars of international reputation who examine the impact of the war on various national literatures principally Great Britain Germany France and the United States before addressing the way the war affected Modernism the European avant garde film women's writing memoirs and of course the war poets It concludes by addressing the legacy of the war for twentieth century literature The Companion offers readers a chronology of key events and publication dates covering the years leading up to and including the war and ends with a current bibliography of further reading organised by chapter topics The Development of Albert Camus's Concern for Social and Political Justice Mark Orme, 2007 Chronological in character the book seeks to evaluate the evolution of Camus's lifelong preoccupation with sociopolitical justice as expressed in a range of nonfictional genres essays journalism articles speeches notebooks and personal correspondence where the writer's own concerns come directly to the fore French Writers and the Politics of Complicity Richard J. Golsan, 2006-02 Focusing on the political commitments of three French writers who collaborated with the Vichy Regime and Nazi Germany during World War II and on those of three leading French intellectuals of the 1990s whose misplaced political idealism led them to support xenophobic authoritarian regimes and dangerous historical revisionisms Richard J Golsan reexamines the notion of political commitment or engagement in two difficult periods in modern French history Discussing the fiction essays and journalism of Henry de Montherlant Jean Giono and Alphonse de Chateaubriant Golsan explores the complexity of artistic and intellectual collaboration during the German Occupation He demonstrates that in this context complicity with political evil often derived from nonpolitical motives including sexual orientation antimodern aesthetics and dangerously skewed religious beliefs Turning to the post cold war era of the 1990s Golsan examines the philosopher Alain Finkielkraut s support for Croatian independence the mediologist Rgis Debray s pro Serb stance during the bombing of Kosovo and the historian St phane Courtois s revisionist comparison of Nazi and Communist crimes during the 1997 debate surrounding the publication of The Black Book of Communism In these three cases laudable motives and misguided historical comparisons with Vichy Nazism and the Occupation period that marked the political and intellectual discourses of France in the 1990s resulted paradoxically in antidemocratic engagements profoundly at odds with the original motivations behind these intellectuals commitments In each of these case studies political complicity derives from a combination of passions and ideals whether positive or negative emotional or intellectual as well as a desire to make the present conform to a particular and generally skewed vision of the past The full implications of these involvements are neither fully grasped nor understood by their authors either through lack of objectivity rationality or imagination or through willful ignorance The results are always unfortunate and often disastrous Considered together these six intellectuals serve as sobering reminders that political commitments are never as simple or straightforward as they seem and that admirable motives for political involvement can have dangerous and destructive consequences in historical practice

Roy and to Sartre France/China Alex Hughes, 2018-12-13 China has long been an object of fascination for the French who celebrated their année de la Chine in 2004 Symptomatic of that fascination are the movements into China made by groups as diverse as the Jesuits who arrived in L'Empire du Milieu in the late seventeenth century and the Tel Quel intellectuals whose will to political pilgrimage took them Jules Roy Jeannine Hayat, 2000 The Play of Terror in Nineteenth-century France John T. Booker, Allan H. Pasco, 1997 This volume brings together seventeen studies that were originally presented as papers at the nineteenth annual Colloquium in Nineteenth Century French Studies held at the University of Kansas in 1993 The contributors all consider one facet or another of the play of terror in nineteenth century France In the wake of the French Revolution and its most enduring image that of the historical Terror all aspects of life in France both public and private were to be fundamentally changed forever Long standing balances of power and authority had been upset and new tensions had been created that would continue to play themselves out over the course of the following century In a number of cases the focus of this volume is on the representation literary historical or artistic of the Terror itself whether in novels such as Hugo's Quatrevingt-treize or Balzac's Une ténébreuse affaire or in the art Salon of 1827-28 More often however contributors consider terror in its more general acceptance of fear or intense anxiety experienced in the face of violence coercion or intimidation BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved French Twentieth Bibliography Douglas W. Writing French Algeria Peter Dunwoodie, 1998-11-26 Writing French Algeria is a groundbreaking study of the European literary discourse on French Algeria between the conquest of 1830 and the outbreak of the Algerian War in 1954. For the first time in English, this intertextual reading reveals the debate conducted within Algeria and between colony and metropole that aimed to forge an independent cultural identity for the European settlers. Through astute discussions of various texts, Peter Dunwoodie maps the representation of Algeria both in the dominant nineteenth-century discourse of Orientalism via the literature of writers such as Gautier or Fromentin and in the colonial writing of Louis Bertrand, Robert Randau, and the Algerianists who played a critical role in the construction of the new Algeria. Dunwoodie shows how this ultimate construction relied on an extremely selective process which marginalized the indigenous people of the Maghreb in order to rediscover the country's Latin roots. The book also focuses on the dialogism operative in the works of colonial Algerian writers like Gabriel Audisio, Albert Camus, and Emmanuel Robl's, interrogating the way in which their voices countered the closure of those earlier strategies and yet still articulated the unresolvable dilemma of an inherently unstable and impermanent minority whose identity remained grounded in otherness.
