Archaeology On The Edge:

Archaeology on the Edge Jane Holden Kelley, Brian Patrick Kooyman, 2004 Dedicated to the memory of Richard G Forbis this collection of papers presented by his students and colleagues represents more than a tribute to a pioneer and legend in Alberta archaeology The papers chosen for this collection focus on new directions in northern plains archaeological research and are a unique and topical contribution to modern archaeology Collaborating at the Trowel's Edge

Stephen W. Silliman, 2022-08-23 A fundamental issue for twenty first century archaeologists is the need to better direct their efforts toward supporting rather than harming indigenous peoples Collaborative indigenous archaeology has already begun to stress the importance of cooperative community based research this book now offers an up to date assessment of how Native American and non native archaeologists have jointly undertaken research that is not only politically aware and historically minded but fundamentally better as well Eighteen contributors many with tribal ties cover the current state of collaborative indigenous archaeology in North America to show where the discipline is headed Continent wide cases from the Northeast to the Southwest demonstrate the situated nature of local practice alongside the global significance of further decolonizing archaeology And by probing issues of indigenous participation with an eye toward method theory and pedagogy many show how the archaeological field school can be retailored to address politics ethics and critical practice alongside traditional teaching and research methods These chapters reflect the strong link between politics and research showing what can be achieved when indigenous values perspectives and knowledge are placed at the center of the research process They not only draw on experiences at specific field schools but also examine advances in indigenous cultural resource management and in training Native American and non native students Theoretically informed and practically grounded Collaborating at the Trowel's Edge is a virtual guide for rethinking field schools and is an essential volume for anyone involved in North American archaeology professionals students tribal scholars or avocationalists as well as those working with indigenous peoples in other parts of the world It both reflects the rapidly changing landscape of archaeology and charts new directions to ensure the ongoing vitality of the discipline Resistance at the Edge of Empires Cameron A.

Petrie, 2020-12-28 From 1985 to 2001 the collaborative research initiative known as the Bannu Archaeological Project conducted archaeological explorations and excavations in the Bannu region in what was then the North West Frontier Province NWFP of Pakistan now Khyber Pakhtunkhwa This Project involves scholars from the Pakistan Heritage Society the British Museum the Institute of Archaeology UCL Bryn Mawr College and the University of Cambridge This is the third in a series of volumes that present the final reports of the exploration and excavations carried out by the Bannu Archaeological Project This volume presents the first synthesis of the archaeology of the historic periods in the Bannu region spanning the period when the first large scale empires expanded to the borders of South Asia up until the arrival of Islam in the subcontinent at the end of the first and beginning of the second millennium BC The Bannu region provides specific insight into early imperialism in South Asia as throughout this protracted period it was able to maintain a distinctive regional identity in the face of recurring phases of imperial expansion and integration Close to the Edge: Excavations of Five Cornish Coastal Barrows Andy M. Jones, 2024-12-12 A report of recent excavation of five Early Bronze Age barrows undertaken by Cornwall Archaeological Unit All are complex monuments revealing episodes of remodelling and reuse Despite being broadly comparable with similar radiocarbon determinations there are major differences in both the form and intensity of activity between the barrows Understanding Stone Tools and Archaeological Sites Brian P. Kooyman, 2000 Covers manufacturing techniques lithic types and materials reduction strategies and techniques worldwide lithic technology production variables meaning of form and usewear and residue analysis Living On The Edge Jonathan Burke, 2014-01-26 This book addresses common doubts and concerns Christians have concerning God and the Bible including claims from the New Atheism disputes over Bible archaeology questions about the historical accuracy of the Bible questions about the original texts of the Old and New Testament questions about what the Bible really teaches concerning topics such as baptism heaven and hell Satan and demons questions about the value and relevance of the Bible's moral and ethical teachings

American Journal of Archaeology, 1893 Living on the edge - interdisciplinary perspectives on coastal and marine ecosystems in human prehistory Manuel Will, Andrew Green, Jon McVey Erlandson, Ximena S. Villagran, Antonieta Jerardino, 2023-06-07 Archaeological Concepts, Techniques, and Terminology for American Prehistoric Lithic Technology Wm Jack Hranicky, 2013-06-03 Archaeological Concepts Techniques and Terminology for American Prehistory Lithic Technology by Wm Jack Hranicky is a 600 page comprehensive publication that encompasses the study of American prehistoric stone tools and implements It is a look up volume for studying the material culture of prehistoric people and using its concepts and methods for researching this aspect of archaeology There are over 3000 entries which are defined and illustrated It also has an extensive set of references and an overview for the study of stone tools Exploring the Edge of Empire Florian Mühlfried, Sergey Sokolovskiy, 2011 This collection explores theoretical and empirical developments in the anthropology of the Caucasus and Central Asia originating in or shaped by the Soviet era Special attention is paid to the creation of local and national schools as well as to the role of institutional and biographical discontinuities Within the academic field of anthropology in the Soviet republics Russia based research institutes and regional branches of the former Soviet Academy of Sciences played a special role Explorations of this role and of the impact of ideology are pertinent to the controversial question as to whether the Soviet Union was essentially a colonial enterprise The book's contributors include leading anthropologists from the Caucasus and Central Asia as well as regional specialists from the Russian Federation and Western countries Series Halle Studies in the Anthropology of Eurasia Vol 25 The Archaeology of Alderley Edge Simon Timberlake, A. J. N. W. Prag, 2005 Survey excavation and experiment in an ancient mining landscape Cutting-edge Technologies in Ancient Greece Marina Panagiotaki, Ilias Tomazos, Fotios Papadimitrakopoulos, 2020-04-30 This volume examines materials produced with the use of fire and mostly by use of the kiln metals plasters glass and glaze aromatics The technologies based on fire have been considered high tech technologies and they have contributed to the evolution of man throughout history Papers highlight technical innovations of the technician artist pyrotechnologist that lived in the Aegean mainland Greece and the islands during the Bronze Age the Classical and the Byzantine periods

Dwelling on the edge of the Neolithic Gary Robert Nobles, 2017-02-14 This volume presents a detailed spatial analysis of the sites of Keinsmerbrug Mienakker and Zeewijk These Late Neolithic settlement sites define the westernmost edge of the Corded Ware Culture c 2900 2300 cal BC The people took part in a broad spectrum of activities hunting gathering fishing agriculture animal husbandry and artisan crafts They maintained their regional traditions while dwelling on the edge of this Neolithic cultural group The study depicts Neolithic households as highly mobile with sedentary and seasonal settlements The patterns that emerge from the in depth spatial analysis of material distributions indicate the presence of spatially bound locations for specific activities This structuring of space further supports the identification of various dwelling structures Neolithic monumentality is for the first time identified within the Dutch coastal wetlands The biographical perspective underlines the ephemeral nature of the divide between the place of the living and the place of the ancestors

Planning on the Edge Nick Gallent, Johan Andersson, Marco Bianconi, 2006-09-27 More than a tenth of the land mass of the UK comprises urban fringe the countryside around towns that has been called planning s last frontier One of the key challenges facing spatial planners is the land use management of this area regarded by many as fit only for locating sewage works essential service functions and other un neighbourly uses However to others it is a dynamic area where a range of urban and rural uses collide Planning on the Edge fills an important gap in the literature examining in detail the challenges that planning faces in this no man s land It presents both problems and solutions and builds a vision for the urban fringe that is concerned with maximising its potential and with bridging the physical and cultural rift between town and country Its findings are presented in three sections the urban fringe and the principles underpinning its management sectoral challenges faced at the urban fringe including commerce energy recreation farming and housing managing the urban fringe more effectively in the future Students professionals and researchers alike will benefit from the book s structured approach while the global and transferable nature of the principles and ideas underpinning the study will appeal to an international audience

Designing Experimental Research in Archaeology Jeffrey R. Ferguson, 2010-05-15 Each chapter addresses a particular classification of material culture ceramics stone tools perishable materials composite hunting technology butchering practices and bone tools and experimental zooarchaeology detailing issues that must be considered in the development of experimental archaeology projects and discussing potential pitfalls The experiments follow coherent and consistent research designs and procedures that are given theoretical context Contributors outline methods that will serve as a guide in future experiments This degree of standardization is uncommon in traditional archaeological research but is essential to experimental archaeology

Border Communities at the Edge of the Roman Empire Jasper Bruin, 2025-10-01 In Roman times the area between the Lower Rhine and the Meuse in the present day province of South Holland in the Netherlands was known as the administrative district of the community of the Cananefates the civitas Cananefatium The formation of this community as well as the changes that took place within this group were researched by means of a systematic analysis of the archaeological remains In order to understand the role of the Roman state in these processes the urban and military communities were also studied In this way an overview was created of an administrative region in which aspects such as the interaction between the different groups the character of the rural community and the differences with other rural groups along the borders of the Roman Empire could be studied On the Edge of the Cliff Roger Chartier, 1997 Throughout Chartier keeps his focus on historians who have stressed the relations between the products of discourse and social practices Archaeological Survey E.B. Banning, 2002-10-31 This practical volume the first book in the Manuals in Archaeological Method Theory and Technique series examines in detail the factors that affect archaeological detectability in surveys whose methods range from visual to remote sensing in land underwater and intertidal zones furnishing a comprehensive treatment of prospection parameter estimation model building and detection of spatial structure Norfolk Archaeology , 1895 Living on the Edge Lorrain Higbee, Lorraine Mephram, 2017 Excavations have revealed multi period archaeology the development of the landscape is examined Reports on the artefacts found and the environmental remains are also presented
