The American Prison Francis T. Cullen, Mary K. Stohr, 2014 For the first time in four decades, prison populations are declining, and politicians have reached the consensus that mass imprisonment is no longer sustainable. At this unique moment in the history of corrections, the opportunity has emerged to discuss in meaningful ways how best to shape efforts to control crime and to intervene effectively with offenders. The American Prison: Imagining a Different Future by Francis T. Cullen, Cheryl Lero Johnson, and Mary K. Stohr pulls together established correctional scholars to imagine what this prison future might entail. Each scholar uses his or her expertise to craft in an accessible way for students to read a blueprint for how to create a new penology along a particular theme. For example, one contributor writes about how to use existing research expertise to create a prison that is therapeutic, and another provides insight on how to create a feminist prison. In the final chapter, the editors pull together the lessons learned in a cohesive, comprehensive essay.

Voices from American Prisons Kaia Stern,2014-06-20 Voices From American Prisons Faith Education and Healing is a comprehensive and unique contribution to understanding the dynamics and nature of penal confinement. In this book, author Kaia Stern describes the history of punishment and prison education in the United States and proposes that specific religious and racial ideologies, notions of sin, evil, and otherness continue to shape our relationship to crime and punishment through contemporary penal policy. Inspired by people who have lived, worked, and studied in U.S. prisons, Stern invites us to rethink the current punishment crisis in the United States. Based on in-depth interviews with people who were incarcerated as well as extensive conversations with students, teachers, corrections staff, and prison administrators, the book introduces the voices of those who have participated in the few remaining post-secondary education programs that exist behind bars. Drawing on individual narrative and various modern-day case examples, Stern focuses on dehumanization, resistance, and community transformation. She demonstrates how prison education is essential, can provide healing, and yet is still not enough to interrupt mass incarceration. In short, this book explores the possibility of transformation from a retributive punishment system to a system of justice. The book's engaging human accounts and multidisciplinary perspective will appeal to criminologists, sociologists, historians, theologians, and scholars of education alike. Voices from American Prisons will also capture general readers who are interested in learning about a timely and often silenced reality of contemporary modern society.
