Monthly Labor Review ,1919 Publishes in depth articles on labor subjects current labor statistics information about current labor contracts and book reviews Driven Wild Paul S. Sutter,2009-11-23 In its infancy the movement to protect wilderness areas in the United States was motivated less by perceived threats from industrial and agricultural activities than by concern over the impacts of automobile owners seeking recreational opportunities in wild areas Countless commercial and government purveyors vigorously promoted the mystique of travel to breathtakingly scenic places and roads and highways were built to facilitate such travel By the early 1930s New Deal public works programs brought these trends to a startling crescendo The dilemma faced by stewards of the nation s public lands was how to protect the wild qualities of those places while accommodating and often encouraging automobile based tourism By 1935 the founders of the Wilderness Society had become convinced of the impossibility of doing both In Driven Wild Paul Sutter traces the intellectual and cultural roots of the modern wilderness movement from about 1910 through the 1930s with tightly drawn portraits of four Wilderness Society founders Aldo Leopold Robert Sterling Yard Benton MacKaye and Bob Marshall Each man brought a different background and perspective to the advocacy for wilderness preservation yet each was spurred by a fear of what growing numbers of automobiles aggressive road building and the meteoric increase in Americans turning to nature for their leisure would do to the country s wild places As Sutter discovered the founders of the Wilderness Society were driven wild pushed by a rapidly changing country to construct a new preservationist ideal Sutter demonstrates that the birth of the movement to protect wilderness areas reflected a growing belief among an important group of conservationists that the modern forces of capitalism industrialism urbanism and mass consumer culture were gradually eroding not just the ecology of North America but crucial American values as well For them wilderness stood for something deeply sacred that was in danger of being lost so that the movement to protect it was about saving not just wild nature but ourselves as well Hearst's International

Economist and Financial Times Book of the Year It has become habitual to think of our relationship with energy as one of transition with wood superseded by coal coal by oil oil by nuclear and then at some future point all replaced by green sources Jean Baptiste Fressoz s devastating but unnervingly entertaining book shows what an extraordinary delusion this is Far from the industrial era passing through a series of transformations each new phase has in practice remained almost wholly entangled with the previous one Indeed the very idea of transition turns out to be untrue The author shares the same acute anxiety about the need for a green transition as the rest of us but shows how disastrously our industrial history has in fact been based on symbiosis with each major energy source feeding off the others Using a fascinating array of examples Fressoz describes how we have gorged on all forms of energy with whole forests needed to prop up coal mines coal remaining central to the creation of innumerable new products and oil still central to our lives The world now burns more wood and coal than ever before This book reveals an uncomfortable truth transition was originally itself promoted by energy companies not as a genuine plan but as a means to put off any meaningful change More and More and More forces its readers to understand the modern world in all its voracious reality and the true nature of the challenges heading our way The Atlantic Monthly ,1918 Annals of an Era Edwin Osgood Grover,1932 The MacKaye collection a supplemental bibliography 1761 1931 of material preserved at the Darmouth college library compiled chiefly from original sources in the archives of Steele MacKaye and Percy MacKaye by Marion Morse MacKaye The Publishers Weekly ,1919 Bulletin of the Osterhout Free Library Osterhout Free Library (Wilkes-Barre, Pa.),1918 Booklist ,1919 The Booklist ,1919 Among Our Books Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh,1920 Sans transition Jean-Baptiste Fressoz,2024-01-12T00:00:00+01:00 Voici une histoire radicalement nouvelle de l nergie qui montre l tranget fondamentale de la notion de transition Elle explique comment mati res et nergies sont reli es entre elles croissent ensemble s accumulent et s empilent les unes sur les autres Pourquoi la notion de transition nerg tique s est elle alors impos e Comment ce futur sans pass est il devenu partir des ann es 1970 celui des gouvernements des entreprises et des experts bref le futur des gens raisonnables L enjeu est fondamental car les liens entre nergies expliquent la fois leur permanence sur le tr s long terme ainsi que les obstacles titanesques qui se dressent sur le chemin de la d carbonation Jean Baptiste Fressoz est un historien des sciences des techniques et de l environnement Apr s avoir t ma tre de conf rence l Imperial College de Londres il est maintenant chercheur au CNRS enseignant l EHESS et l cole des ponts et chauss es Il a d j publi au Seuil L Apocalypse joyeuse Les R voltes du ciel avec Fabien Locher et L v nement anthropoc ne avec Christophe Bonneuil Public Libraries ,1919 The Survey ,1919
