Americas Fires Management On Wildlands And Forests:

America's Fires Stephen J. Pyne, 1997 Fire Management Today, 2006 Ecological Foundations for Fire Management in North American Forest and Shrubland Ecosystems J. E. Keeley, 2011-05 Provides an ecological foundation for mgmt of the diverse ecosystems and fire regimes of N America based on scientific principles of fire interactions with vegetation fuels and biophysical processes Detailed discussion of six ecosystems ponderosa pine forest western N America chaparral Calif boreal forest Alaska and Canada Great Basin sagebrush inter mountain West pine and pine hardwood forests Southern Appalachian Mountains and longleaf pine Southeastern U S illustrates the complexity of fire regimes and that fire mgmt requires a clear regional focus that recognizes where conflicts might exist between fire hazard reduction and resource needs Illustrations This is a print on demand report Fire Management Notes, 1999 Wildland Fire in Ecosystems, 2005 Forests Under Fire Christopher J. Huggard, Arthur R. Gomez, 2001-03 A collection of writings on the environmental crisis of the Southwestern forests by historians specializing in either the environment or the Southwest criticizing forest management practices devoted to exploiting the forest for timber grazing and recreation with insufficient regard for ecological balance Ecological Foundations for Fire Management in North American Forest and Shrubland Ecosystems, 2009 This synthesis provides an ecological foundation for management of the diverse ecosystems and fire regimes of North America based on scientific principles of fire interactions with vegetation fuels and biophysical processes Although a large amount of scientific data on fire exists most of those data have been collected at small spatial and temporal scales Thus it is challenging to develop consistent science based plans for large spatial and temporal scales where most fire management and planning occur Understanding the regional geographic context of fire regimes is critical for developing appropriate and sustainable management strategies and policy The degree to which human intervention has modified fire frequency intensity and severity varies greatly among different ecosystems and must be considered when planning to alter fuel loads or implement restorative treatments Detailed discussion of six ecosystems ponderosa pine forest western North America chaparral California boreal forest Alaska and Canada Great Basin sagebrush intermountain West pine and pine hardwood forests Southern Appalachian Mountains and longleaf pine Southeastern United States illustrates the complexity of fire regimes and that fire management requires a clear regional focus that recognizes where conflicts might exist between fire hazard reduction and resource needs In some systems such as ponderosa pine treatments are usually compatible with both fuel reduction and resource needs whereas in others such as chaparral the potential exists for conflicts that need to be closely evaluated Managing fire regimes in a changing climate and social environment requires a strong scientific basis for developing fire management and policy General Technical Report INT., 1997 Coniferous forest habitat types of northern Utah Ronald L. Mauk, 1984 Forest History Today, 2000 Helena National Forest (N.F.), Clancy-Unionville Vegetation Manipulation and Travel Management Project, 2000 Proceedings of Fire Working Group, Society of

American Foresters National Convention, Albuquerque, New Mexico, October 4, 1977 Society of American Foresters. Fire Working Group. Technical Session, 1979 A compilation of papers presented at the Society of American Foresters Fire Working Group Technical Session Albuquerque N Mex Oct 2 6 1977 Keynote address by Dr M Rupert Cutler Assistant Secretary of Agriculture dealt with the session's theme the relationship of fire to land management Subsequent papers discussed fire information required by land managers how fire related activities can be adapted to land management using simulation as a planning tool and legislation affecting use of fire in forestry practices Wildland Fire Management United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, 2013 General Technical Report RMRS, 1998 In Fire's Way Tom Wolf, 2003-01-24 A fire fighting tool for homeowners and firefighters alike this guide discusses both the properties of wildfires and ways to minimize damage Authored by an environmental journalist with advanced degrees in forestry it is a must have book designed to help westerners understand the Wildfire Danger Zone Making Our Forests and Rangelands More Productive, 1986 Summer Wildfires of 2000 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources. Subcommittee on Forests and Public Land Management, 2001 Chemical analysis procedures for forest fire retardant constituents Wayne P. Van Meter, 1985 Blazing Heritage Hal K. Rothman, 2007-04-12 National parks played a unique role in the development of wildfire management on American public lands With a different mission and powerful meaning to the public the national parks were a psychic battleground for the contests between fire suppression and its use as a management tool Blazing Heritage tells how the national parks shaped federal fire management Nez Perce National Forest (N.F.), Meadow Face Stewardship Pilot Project, Clearwater Ranger District, Idaho County, 2002
