Spude,2012-09-28 As the Klondike gold rush peaked in spring 1898 adventurers and gamblers rubbed shoulders with town builders and gold panners in Skagway Alaska The flow of riches lured confidence men too among them Jefferson Randolph Soapy Smith 1860 98 who with an entourage of bunco men conned and robbed the stampedeers Soapy though a common enough criminal would go down in legend as the Robin Hood of Alaska the uncrowned king of Skagway remembered for his charm and generosity even for calming a lynch mob When the Fourth of July was celebrated in 98 he supposedly led the parade Then a few days later he was dead killed in a shootout over a card game With Smith s death Skagway rid itself of crime forever Or at least so the story goes Journalists immediately cast him as a martyr whose death redeemed a violent town In fact he was just a petty criminal and card shark as Catherine Holder Spude proves definitively in That Fiend in Hell Soapy Smith in Legend a tour de force of historical debunking that documents Smith s elevation to western hero In sorting out the facts about this man and his death from fiction Spude concludes that the actual Soapy was not the legendary boss of Skagway nor was he killed by Frank Reid as early historians supposed She shows that even eyewitnesses who knew the truth

later changed their stories to fit the myth But why Tracking down some hundred retellings of the Soapy Smith story Spude traces the efforts of Skagway s boosters to reinforce a morality tale at the expense of a complex story of town building and government formation The idea that Smith s death had made a lawless town safe served Skagway s economic interests Spude s engaging deconstruction of Soapy s story models deep research and skepticism crucial to understanding the history of the American frontier
