Countryside In Trust Land Management By Conservation Recreation And Amenity Organisations:

Countryside in Trust Janet Dwyer, Ian Hodge, 1994-03-01 The development of agriculture has caused rapid changes to the rural environment Today with growing awareness and concern for environmental issues there is a movement to stem further damage to the countryside and replace some of the values which have been lost Voluntary non profit organisations which own and manage land for countryside conservation are playing an increasingly important role in this movement These are called CARTs Conservation Amenity and Recreation Trusts Countryside in Trust explores the principles behind this movement and investigates the activities of the wide range of organisations involved both large and small including the National Trust The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds and the Scottish Tree Trust The origins and experiences of CARTs are traced in a series of chapters which examine the different types of organisation their land management activities and finances and their close relationship with government agencies at all levels Finally the authors describe the role of public policy towards CARTs and assess the implications for the future This is the first book to examine the large numbers of landholding environmental and amenity trusts in the UK and is essential reading for students voluntary organisations conservation groups land owners and local authorities Countryside in Trust Janet Dwyer, Ian Hodge, 1996

Environment and Business Alasdair Blair, David Hitchcock, 2004-08-02 This text examines how businesses and the environment interact It is ideal for students with no previous knowledge of business studies It examines in depth the ways in which business industry the physical environment environmentalism and social change have evolved alongside each other The authors use boxed case studies to highlight how business practice and the environment interact at levels from local to global with examples from multinational companies government bodies national charities and local enterprise The book also contains a large number of informative diagrams The case studies include Shell Oil s environmental policy railways and the industrial revolution the British National Trust s business enterprises Sainsbury s approach to organic foods Australia s landcare scheme changing trends in retailing Brent Spar big game hunting and conservation Conservation Covenants

Great Britain: Law Commission, 2013-03-28 Examines the case for introducing conservation covenants into the law of England and Wales and considers how a scheme of conservation covenants might be framed A conservation covenant is a private agreement made by a landowner for the purposes of conservation Page iii Land Use Systems in Grassland Dominated Regions A. Lüscher, 2004 Agriculture alpine global change nutrients farming Wilderness Science in a Time of Change Conference , 2000 Valuing Rural Amenities OECD, 2001-01-12 This volume reviews a range of different valuation methodologies stated preferences cost benefit revealed preferences and others and looks at how these different approaches influence choices in rural policy Floodplains Susan B. Rotherham,2015-07-16 For at least half a century since the emergence of Country Parks and Forest Parks countryside services have provided leisure tourism conservation restoration and regeneration across Britain Yet these services are currently being decimated as public services are sacrificed to the new era of austerity The role and importance of countryside management have been barely documented and the consequences and ramifications of cuts to these services are overlooked and misunderstood This volume rigorously examines the issues surrounding countryside management in Britain The author brings together the results of stakeholder workshops and interviews and in depth individual case studies as well as a major study for the Countryside Agency which assessed and evaluated every countryside service provision in England A full and extensive literature review traces the ideas of countryside management back to their origins and the author considers the wider relationships and ramifications with countryside and ranger provisions around the world including North America and Europe The book provides a critical overview of the history and importance of countryside management detailing the achievements of a largely forgotten sector and highlighting its pivotal yet often underappreciated role in the wellbeing of people and communities It serves as a challenge to students planners politicians conservationists environmentalists and land managers in a diversity of disciplines that work with or have interests in countryside leisure and tourism community issues education and nature conservation

Landscape and Sustainability John F. Benson,Maggie H. Roe,2005-11-29 This unique book is about landscape sustainability and the practices of the professions which plan design and manage landscapes at many scales and in many locations urban suburban and rural Despite the ubiquity of sustainability as a concept this is the first book to address the relationship between landscape architecture and sustainability in a comprehensive way Much in the book is underpinned by landscape ecology in contrast to the idea of landscape as only appealing to the eye or aspiring cerebrally to be fine art As this book argues landscape is and must be much more than this landscape architecture is about making places which are biologically wholesome socially just and spiritually rewarding

Environmental Networks and Social Movement Theory Clare Saunders,2013-04-11 Clare Saunders book is an important contribution to the literature on social movements and environmentalism Using the concept of environmental networks it explores the extent to which social movement theory helps us understand how a broad range of environmental organizations interact It considers the practicalities of social movement theories and it goes on to relate them to the practices of environmental networks Theoretically and empirically rich the book draws on extensive survey material with 144 UK environmental organizations as diverse as not in my backyard NIMBY groups reformists conservationists and radicals interviews with more than 40 key campaigners and extensive participant observation particularly in London Focussing particularly on the crucial question of networking dynamics the book reveals that there are broad ranging network links across the movements spatial and ideological dimensions Combined with inevitable ideological clashes and a degree of sectarian rivalry these links helps produce vibrant environmental networks that together work to protect and or preserve the environment This book is an invaluable resource for anyone concerned with environmental issues politics and movements

Land Wars John G. Francis, Leslie Francis, 2003 It's my land I can do whatever I want with it This is our neighborhood or city or park and we should be the ones deciding how it's used These are two strongly held and diametrically opposed views of appropriate land use As John G and Leslie Pickering Francis demonstrate the debate about what to do with land is messy complex and often based on dangerously misguided principles Raising the question of what rights owners community as well as individual in fact have the Francises argue that land stewardship transcends narrow spatial definitions Their analysis of the discourse about property ownership offers a sophisticated much needed approach to land use policy

Multifunctionality in Agriculture What Role for Private Initiatives? OECD, 2005-12-12 This report sheds light on the potential of non government solutions to regulate positive and negative effects of agriculture including pollution

Proceedings RMRS, 1998 Environmental Pressure Groups in Transition Peter Rawcliffe, 1998 Presents a detailed study of the changing nature of environmental pressure groups since the 1980s The book concentrates on the most important national campaigning groups through which environmental pressure has been channelled in Britain Transboundary Governance of Biodiversity Louis J. Kotzé, Thilo Marauhn, 2014-06-26 Transboundary Governance of Biodiversity compiles critical analysis of the regulatory frameworks applicable to the transboundary governance of biodiversity by specialists from Europe and Africa Drawing on their vast experience as lawyers political scientists and natural resource management experts they provide a critique and contemporary perspectives on what has become one of the most challenging aspects of global environmental governance in the Anthropocene effective biodiversity conservation in times of unprecedented environmental crises With a unique North South focus and a legal focus infused by multi disciplinary regulatory dimensions this peer reviewed publication offers a comprehensive analysis of international and regional environmental law frameworks applicable to the transboundary governance of biodiversity

Landscape Economics Colin Price, 2017-10-12 This revised and expanded edition of Colin Price's seminal publication provides a richly comprehensive and up to date coverage of landscape economics a subject which has until now been addressed only in limited aspects Although much of the book's discussion is based upon natural resources and environmental economics the author presents a wide and integrative view drawing from aesthetic psychological social and political perspectives and applying a critical use of economic concepts and challenges to different schools of thought on the landscape This new edition includes new ideas and critiques on environmental valuation more focused critiques of stated preference methods political alternatives to economic valuation and of the rationale of discounting future values and new evaluative techniques particularly price premia for products with a landscape provenance For those interested in the theoretical aspects of aesthetic valuation and for those who seek solutions to practical problems of aesthetic conservation amelioration and enhancement this new edition gives an overview of evaluative techniques of their potential problems and of possible solutions The updates are a major contribution to the growing literature in the field

Here For Our Children's Children? Adrian C. Armstrong, 2016-04-05 This study reviews the many different bases for wanting to preserve the environment By seeing how protagonists approach the same situation from different assumptions some of the origins of environmental conflict may be established and ways of resolving conflict can be identified There are two major issues in environmental ethics The first asks whether the problems can be solved within current approaches or require instead lifestyle changes for the whole of western civilisation The second issue concerns why the environment should be valued This review identifies a series in increasingly stronger valuations that can be identified as 1 Hedonistic we protect the environment because we like it 2 Utilitarian the environment is valuable to us 3 Consequentialist we want to preserve things for other people now or future 4 Intrinsic The environment has virtue in its own right 5 Extrinsic we value the environment because it is of consequence to some thing else theistic a God Thirdly these insights are used to explore potential ways of resolving environmental conflicts notably by the recovery of democratic decision making at the right scale local national or even global The Governance of the Countryside ,
