Caitlin's Wish Victoria Taylor, 2010-01 Caitlin's Wish is based on a true story Life is good for Caitlin until her father becomes disabled Everything changes in Caitlin's life and she struggles to accept what has happened to her family She can't let go of the life she knew before It seems so unfair Why me she cries Why MY Dad She feels so sad and alone She doesn't want to upset her family by telling them how she feels Instead she tells all her troubles to the little robin who sits on her windowsill Rufus the robin has a plan though He arranges a magical trip to Fairyland that will change her life forever This is the story of how Caitlin comes to terms with her Dad's disability and learns to be happy again Caitlin's Wish was written by Victoria Taylor for her daughter Adele Caitlin She was only 2 yrs old when her Dad was diagnosed with a rare brain condition called IH Initially Adele Caitlin coped well because she knew no different However when she started school she realized that her life was different She became a very sad little girl She was too young to access the support networks for young carers so Victoria wrote this book to help Adele Caitlin see life from a different perspective After reading the book she learned to look for the things that her Dad could do rather than dwell on what he couldn't do anymore By focusing on the positive elements in her life it made it easier to cope with the negative Caitlin's Wish has been published in the hope that it might help others A percentage of the profits from every book sold will be going to Crossroads Care and the IH research Foundation
