Kojo Laing, Robert Browning and Affiliative Literature
 Joseph Hankinson, 2022-12-13

This book compares the Victorian British poet Robert Browning and the twentieth century Ghanaian poet and novelist Kojo Laing, two writers whose texts frequently foreground multi-scalar transregional cartographies, points of connection and translation and imaginative kinships between different linguistic and cultural communities. Starting from the numerous and surprising points of connection and resemblance between both authors' texts, this book puts pressure on critical practices that would keep writers like Laing and Browning separate, positing instead the importance of paying attention to the transnational, cross-cultural and cross-temporal imaginative relationships texts themselves generate. By comparing two writers whose texts represent different points of view on a number of shared and congruent contexts, this book seeks an original way of understanding the relationship between texts and post-colonial contexts. Texts and other texts: Browning's and Laing's shared tendency to foreground trans- and post-national cartographies of relation and difference and their similarly translational aesthetics both demand a probing of the disciplinary separation between English Literature and Comparative Literature as well as literature and comparison and a fresh awareness of the ways in which literature itself makes comparisons and affiliations. It also involves a version of world literature intent on accentuating the relational world's linguistic, imaginative, ethical that texts themselves generate, a criticism sensitive to the ways in which writers from different times and places can still be seen to overlap.

The Shelleys and the Brownings
 Rieko Suzuki, 2022-01-13

This book is about the intertextual relationships between the works of the Shelleys and the Brownings. While a lot of research has been done on the relationship between Percy Bysshe Shelley and Robert Browning, virtually nothing has been said about the links between Mary Shelley and Robert Browning and very little on the connections between the Shelleys and Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Rieko Suzuki seeks to address this blind spot by focusing on three areas in particular: firstly, the way that Browning's later poems reflect back on and re-engage with Shelley's work; secondly, Mary Shelley's influence on Browning's early poems; and thirdly, Shelley's presence in and influence on Elizabeth Barrett Browning's writing. In mapping out the various ways in which texts relate to other texts, the book also identifies a number of important thematic threads that run throughout the work of all four writers. These include theories of history and historical consciousness, providing a further dimension to the question of influence. They also include ideas about exile, gender, liberal politics and cultural heritage, central to almost all the texts discussed here as the Shelleys and the Brownings in different
