political turn accepts claims about the moral status of animals and people's personal obligations towards them but advances the field in at least two ways First thinkers emphasize that mutually beneficial human animal relations cannot rely solely on personal transformation but also require institutional transformation Secondly scholars claim that to meaningfully improve the lives of animals we must not only change our political systems but better understand various animals own perspectives and political agency to feed into more than human politics But while much work in this political turn has been done on concepts like justice agency representation etc only very few animal scholars have talked about solidarity And those that have have done so only in very specific contexts and frameworks This lack of attention is also mirrored also within animal activism where those few campaigners who have employed the term have done so only in a very loose way This edited collection brings together the leading thinkers in the fields of animal ethics politics social philosophy world religions and the law to explore this lacuna and thus provide the first book length treatment of solidarity between the species Totally Amazing Facts about Dogs Nikki Potts, 2020-03-05 Ever wondered how many words dogs can learn Want to know how many bones a dog has Curious to find out what kind of dog yodels Check out all the mind bending amazing facts about dogs

Schizoanalysis and Animal Science Education Helena Pedersen, 2020-09-17 Within the education system acts of violence toward animals take place and are manifested on a routine basis in science classes in lecture halls in school canteens and during study visits to zoos farms and slaughterhouses Taken for granted as necessary for teaching and learning this violence profoundly affects animals as well as students It also provides new entry points for understanding education as a multispecies power regime driven by numerous other investments than knowledge dissemination alone What then is the nature of this educational violence and how exactly does education work through techniques of interference with student and animal bodies Based on ethnographic research within upper secondary schools and higher education this book challenges the use of animals in education by innovative engagement of Deleuze and Guattari's tool of schizoanalysis Sparking a fundamental rethinking of educational processes relations and aims the book explores how scientific knowledge about animals proliferates through complex interplay of power and desire in contested spaces of teaching and learning Configuring animal science education as a set of machines working in tandem with the animal industry Helena Pedersen offers radical new insights into how education forms subjectivities and social orders under conditions of capitalist expansion that capture students and animals alike Bringing together education studies science studies critical animal studies and continental philosophy Pedersen also provides examples of disruptive action that can put education to work for transformation and liberation

Animals Are Not Ours (No, Really, They're Not) Sarah Withrow King, 2016-01-04 Why should Christians care about animals Is there a biblical basis for abstaining from eating animals Is avoiding companies that use and misuse animals a viable way for Christians to better live out the message of God In Animals Are Not Ours Sarah Withrow King makes the argument that care for all of creation is no far fetched idea that only radical people would consider but rather a faithful witness of the peaceful kingdom God desires and Jesus modeled This includes all living and breathing creatures that share this earth with us King uses her decade plus experience as a vegan her seminary education her evangelical Christian faith and her years working with PETA to call Christians to examine how we treat and view the nonhuman animals with whom we share a finite planet

Run, Spot, Run Jessica Pierce, 2016-05-06 A thoughtful book about how to ensure that the animals we love benefit from the relationship as much as we do Kirkus Reviews We feel love for our companions and happiness that we're providing them with a safe healthy life But sometimes we also feel guilt When we see our cats gazing wistfully out the window or watch a goldfish swim lazy circles in a bowl we can't help but wonder Are we doing the right thing keeping these independent beings locked up subject to our control Is keeping pets actually good for the pets themselves That's the question that animates Jessica Pierce's powerful Run Spot Run A bioethicist and a lover of pets herself including over the years dogs cats fish rats hermit crabs and more Pierce explores the ambiguous ethics at the heart of this relationship and through a mix of personal stories philosophical reflections and scientifically informed analyses of animal behavior and natural history she puts pet keeping to the test Is it ethical to keep pets at all Are some species more suited to the relationship than others Are there species one should never attempt to own And are there ways that we can improve our pets lives so that we can be confident that we are giving them as much as they give us With gentle humor clear compelling language and always in search of the physically and emotionally healthiest lives possible for our animal companions Run Spot Run moved me all the more because it s written from the inside looking out Pierce herself lives with three pets and understands the deep urge so many of us feel to connect across species lines Barbara King author of How Animals Grieve
