Indigenous Legal Relations in Australia Larissa Behrendt,Chris Cunneen,Terri Libesman,2009 This book looks at Indigenous peoples contact with Anglo Australian law and deals primarily with the problems the imposed law has had in its relationship with Indigenous people in Australia This is supplemented by comparative sections on Indigenous peoples experience of imposed law in other settler jurisdictions such as NZ Canada and the US The book covers issues relating to sovereignty jurisdiction and territorial acquisition family law and child protection criminal law policing and sentencing land rights and native title cultural heritage heritage protection and intellectual property anti discrimination law international human rights law constitutional law social justice self determination and treaty issues From information provided by publisher Decolonising Mathematics Education Nicole Boyd,2023-09-04 First Peoples living in remote Australia are educated in two worlds The future of bush food enterprises in outstations in Utopia depends on the successful transfer of intergenerational knowledge High school girls respectfully inquire about how to harvest and process important cultural materials from country Students senior women and young men strengthen their connections to self kinship and culture and share responsibility to care for country Careful collaboration with First Nations people creates opportunities to provide mathematics education which complements and is informed by the work that already exists in the local school community Consultation with assistant teachers students and other community members creates opportunities to validate Indigenous pedagogies in mathematics education Decolonising Mathematics Education explores and responds to student interest in managing and harvesting akatyerr desert raisin Transforming pedagogy enables the students to respond more broadly to the needs of Utopia Eastern Anmatyerr and Alyawarr people to price and sell this important bush food Income generated from the enterprise is modest however the skills of a small start up business have been applied to many learning opportunities that exist in the local community

Repatriation of Indigenous Cultural Heritage Jason M. Gibson, 2023-06-14 Repatriation of Indigenous Cultural Heritage examines how returned materials objects photographs audio and manuscripts are being received and reintegrated into the ongoing social and cultural lives of Aboriginal Australians Combining a critical examination of the making of these collections with an assessment of their contemporary significance the book exposes the opportunities and challenges involved in returning cultural heritage for the purposes of maintaining preserving or reviving cultural practice Drawing on ethnographic work undertaken with Aboriginal communities and the institutions that hold significant collections the author reveals important new insights about the impact of return on communities Technological advances combined with the push towards decolonising methodologies in Indigenous research have resulted in considerable interest in ensuring that collections of cultural value are returned to Indigenous communities Gibson challenges the rhetoric of museum repatriation arguing that while it has been tremendously important to advancing Indigenous interest it is too often over simplified Repatriation of Indigenous Cultural Heritage offers a timely critical perspective on current museum practice and its place within processes of cultural production and transmission The book is sure to resonate in other international contexts where questions about Indigenous re engagement and decolonisation strategies are being debated and will be of interest to students and scholars of Museum Studies Indigenous Studies and Anthropology

Farmers or Hunter-gatherers? Peter Sutton, Keryn Walshe, 2021-06-16 Australians understanding of Aboriginal society prior to the British invasion from 1788 has been transformed since the publication of Bruce Pascoe s Dark Emu in 2014 It argued that classical Aboriginal society was more sophisticated than Australians had been led to believe because it resembled more closely the farming communities of Europe In Farmers or Hunter gatherers Peter Sutton and Keryn Walshe ask why Australians have been so receptive to the notion that farming represents an advance from hunting and gathering Drawing on the knowledge of Aboriginal elders previously not included within this discussion and decades of anthropological scholarship Sutton and Walshe provide extensive evidence to support their argument that classical Aboriginal society was a hunter gatherer society and as sophisticated as the traditional European farming methods Farmers or Hunter gatherers asks Australians to develop a deeper understanding and appreciation of Aboriginal society and culture

Tjukurr tjaju Judith Ryan, Philip Batty, 2011 This important exhibition features 200 of the first paintings produced at Papunya in 1971 to 72 by the founding artists of the Western Desert art movement These seminal works sparked the genesis of the Papunya Tula movement now internationally recognised as one of the most important events in Australian art history

Aboriginal Peoples and Birds in Australia Philip A. Clarke, 2023-04-03 Australia is home to many distinctive species of birds and Aboriginal peoples have developed close alliances with them over the millennia of their custodianship of this country Aboriginal Peoples and Birds in Australia Historical and Cultural Relationships provides a review of the broad physical historical and cultural relationships that Aboriginal people have had with the Australian avifauna This book aims to raise awareness of the alternative bodies of ornithological knowledge that reside outside of Western science It describes the role of birds as totemic ancestors and spirit beings and explores Aboriginal bird nomenclature foraging techniques and the use of avian materials to make food medicine and artefacts Through a historical perspective this book examines the gaps between knowledge systems of Indigenous peoples and Western science to encourage greater collaboration and acknowledgment in the future Cultural sensitivity Readers are warned that there may be words descriptions and terms used in this book that are culturally sensitive and which might not normally be used in certain public or community contexts While this information may not reflect current understanding it is provided by the author in a historical context This publication may also contain quotations terms and annotations that reflect the historical attitude of the original author or that of the period in which the item was written and may be considered inappropriate today Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are advised that this publication may contain the names and images of people who have passed away
