Singer, 2020-09-10 The development of a field or an area of inquiry is often marked by changes in measurement techniques shifts in analytic emphasis and disputes over the best ways of doing research In many areas of psychology a number of issues have characterized methodological evolution of the discipline including questions regarding context and reductionism or laboratory versus field research For some of the newer areas in psychology such as environment or health psychology this is not an issue of either or Although there has been some debate about these trade offs it is generally regarded by people in this field that some combination of the two approaches is essential Depending on the question being studied this balance may change However the questions asked are less likely to inquire which way is better and concentrate on how both may be used This observation serves to illustrate the fact that different research endeavours have different methodological issues Originally published in 1985 this volume explores some of the issues characterizing work on health environment and behavior Annual Report of the Government Hospital for the Insane ... Saint Elizabeths Hospital (Washington, D.C.),1950 Understanding Tuberculosis Pere-Joan Cardona,2012-02-15
Mycobacterium tuberculosis is a disease that is transmitted through aerosol This is the reason why it is estimated that a third of humankind is already infected by Mycobacterium tuberculosis The vast majority of the infected do not know about their status Mycobacterium tuberculosis is a silent pathogen causing no symptomatology at all during the infection In addition infected people cannot cause further infections Unfortunately an estimated 10 per cent of the infected population has the probability to develop the disease making it very difficult to eradicate Once in this stage the bacilli can be transmitted to other persons and the development of clinical symptoms is very progressive Therefore the diagnosis especially the discrimination between infection and disease is a real challenge In this book we present the experience of worldwide specialists on the diagnosis along with its lights and shadows Interagency Coordination in Drug Research and Regulation: Testimony and exhibits (including subsequent correspondence) on: 1) Commission on Drug safety; 2) Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association; 3) Medical education on drug therapy and other drug issues United States.
